CRASH KILLS EDDIE STINSON

DEPRESSION OR NO, HOOVER DAM GETS 8 MILLION

Gift to Los Angeles Not Stinted.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Although suspending work on some reclamation projects as unjustifiable in a time of business depression and treasury deficit, the house appropriations committee today decreed full steam ahead on the construction of the 165 million dollar Hoover dam at Boulder canyon, to furnish Los Angeles with water and electric power.

DR. ELWOOD MEAD.

In the interior department appropriation bill, providing for expenditures totaling $50,431,432 in the fiscal year of 1933, which the committee reported to the house today, it is proposed to allow eight millions for continued work on the Hoover dam. The total amount for the department carried by the bill is $18,911,174 less than the 1932 appropriations and $6,273,920 less than the President asked for in his budget.

Cut Hoover Estimate.

The eight million dollar allowance for the Hoover dam is two millions less than Mr. Hoover requested for this purpose and seven millions less than the 1932 expenditure, but the committee held it ample, inasmuch as with this amount there will have been made available 24 millions for construction up to July 1, 1933.

The hearings, also made public today, contain a wealth of information on the progress of the vast national undertaking to harness the waters of the Colorado river for the benefit of Los Angeles. The Six Companies, Inc., which obtained the construction contract with a bid of forty-nine millions, is employing 3,000 workmen on preliminary work, a railroad and highways are being constructed, and the desert, at the touch of Uncle Sam's golden wand, has blossomed into Boulder City with all modern conveniences for the housing of the workers.

Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation, told the committee that the department is building a sewer system, water plant, and sidewalks, is about to build a $57,000 schoolhouse, a $35,000 swimming pool, and to set out trees and lay out parks on the brink of the canyon, where not so much as a blade of grass has ever grown.

Workers Dine Well.

The workmen are carried to and from their work in automobiles. To show how well fed they are, Dr. Mead submitted the following menus:

BREAKFAST.

DINNER.

Cream of tomato soup, celery and apple salad, green onions, roast leg of pork with dressing, pot roast, navy beans, creamed turnips, mashed potatoes, pineapple cream pie, rice pudding, fruits, buttermilk, milk, iced tea, and coffee.

SUPPER.

Combination salad, olives, radishes, sirloin steak, stuffed peppers, baked pork and beans, asparagus, hot rolls, Lyonnaise potatoes, jam, layer cake, cream puffs, sliced peaches, ice lemonade, fresh milk, and coffee.

On Thanksgiving day the 2,500 employés consumed 2,400 pounds of turkey, 300 gallons of oysters, half a ton of candied sweet potatoes, one case of olives, 10 crates of celery, 5 crates of lettuce, 300 pounds of cranberries, 760 pies, half a ton of plum pudding with hard sauce, 500 pounds of candy, and 500 pounds of nuts.

Vice Is Flourishing.

Dr. Mead also submitted a detailed report of an observation of conditions at Boulder City, made by Worth M. Tippy, executive secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, who said that on the whole "the American people may take pride in the undertaking," though he pronounced the vice conditions at Las Vegas and Boulder City "probably the worst in the United States."

"Approximately 75 prostitutes are segregated in the red light district at Las Vegas," said the Tippy report. "They are not at present allowed to

FISHER ORDERS QUIZ; STRIKES BACK AT LOESCH

Attorney Frank J. Loesch, veteran president of the Chicago Crime commission, must either prove his recent charges against the Criminal court judiciary, and against the Municipal court judge who, he said, was nicknamed "cash register," or face the possibility of an indictment on a charge of conspiracy to libel the judges as a group or conspiracy to defeat the due administration of justice.

THOMAS MARSHALL
[Chambers Photo.]

Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court, with Judges James J. Kelly and John Prystalski, two of his associates sitting with him on the bench, yesterday called in the grand jury and instructed its members in substance either to make Loesch and his organization prove the charges or be indicted. The jury was instructed to start immediately on the investigation.

Special Prosecutor Named.

Because of the implications against State's Attorney Swanson in Mr. Loesch's statement, Judge Fisher announced the appointment of a special prosecutor to conduct the inquiry before the grand jury. This appointee is Attorney Thomas Marshall, known as an indictment expert, whose aid has been enlisted by the state's attorney's office on various occasions in the last 20 years.

Judge Fisher indicated that he expected Special Prosecutor Marshall to appear before the grand jury this morning to open the inquiry. The appointment does not mean that Mr. Swanson is in any way to be supplanted in his official duties, the judge pointed out. Mr. Marshall's official position will be that of an assistant state's attorney on Mr. Swanson's staff, but he will be answerable only to the grand jury and the chief justice.

The appointment of a special prosecutor was made with the consent of Mr. Swanson, given in open court.

Loesch in His 80th Year.

Mr. Loesch, who is now in his 80th year and who has been active in legal and civic work for the last half century, made his charges in his annual address before the crime commission on Jan. 21, at which time he was elected to succeed himself as president of the commission. It is his fifth successive term as president, a precedent for the organization.

Mr. Loesch's most recent work was as a member of President Hoover's commission on law observance and enforcement, popularly known as the Wickersham commission. Before that he gained attention by his vigorous war as a special prosecutor on what he termed the alliance between crime and politics. During that period he made an open attack on Judges Stanley Klarkowski and Otto Kerner and also on Emanuel Eller, who has since left the bench.

Crowd Hears Fisher's Orders.

Judge Fisher's charge to Foreman Henry S. Henschen, president of the Chicago Bank of Commerce, and his twenty-two associates on the grand jury, was heard by a crowded courtroom. Among those present were Timothy J. Crowe and the other defendants in the sanitary district graft conspiracy trial.

"Since this jury was convened," Judge Fisher began, "certain matters have transpired which seriously affect the administration of criminal justice. For that reason I have called you gentlemen before me for special instructions.

"There is in existence in Chicago an organization known as the Chicago Crime commission. Its president is a certain Mr. Loesch. Henry Barrett Chamberlin is its operating director. There are a number of men on the board of directors and this organization is, I am informed, an incorporated body.

HIS SUNSET

U. S. OPENS QUIZ INTO AL CAPONE'S CALLERS AT JAIL

A report that lieutenants of Al Capone were visiting the gang leader in his county jail cell regularly disguised as "Mr. Smith" or "Mr. Jones" reached the federal building yesterday and an immediate investigation was launched by both District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson and United States Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer.

When Capone was given into the keeping of Warden Moneypenny at the jail on Oct. 24 the warden was told not to allow him any visitors except those who obtained a pass from the marshal's office. This was done to prevent Capone from instructing his henchmen and carrying on his "business" while awaiting the outcome of his appeal from his income tax sentence of eleven years.

Warden Moneypenny has followed those instructions faithfully and only six passes have been issued to Capone visitors. But gangland, according to the report, has found an open door by a simple subterfuge. Because of crowded conditions at the jail Warden Moneypenny has had to place other prisoners in the "convalescent ward" with Capone. These men received "Mr. Smith" and "Mr. Jones" as their guests, it was reported.

Thus the gang leader is alleged to carry on his "business." Messages were carried to his cell, and messages went back to the underworld.

"I'll put a stop to that if I have to move him," Marshal Laubenheimer declared when he learned of the system used to circumvent the government's ruling. "I can understand now why we haven't had a lot of gangster looking fellows coming to my office for passes."

THEFT OF CITY SUPPLIES TRACED TO EMPLOYES

The theft of supplies valued at thousands of dollars from city storerooms was revealed last night. Investigators have traced the disappearance of quantities of copper wire to thievery by city employés. The names of the suspected employés have been submitted to Mayor Cermak for disciplinary action.

Charles Spiess, a city investigator, was credited in the reports with having uncovered the evidence against the employés. He, with Sergt. James Balanta of the Maxwell street police, were said to have trailed $6,000 worth of copper wire from the department of gas and electricity's yard at 647 Blue Island avenue to a junk yard in South Loomis street. Subsequently, several city employés were questioned by Spiess, but released.

The investigation was ordered by Mayor Cermak, according to the reports, on information that supplies have been stolen over a period of five or six years.

Bomb Blast in So. Side Hotel Jars Hundreds

Guests in the Crest hotel, 6726 Stony Island avenue, and hundreds of residents in the vicinity were jarred late last night by a powerful bomb explosion in the rear of the hotel.

Windows in the hotel and in nearby apartments were shattered. Windshields of half a dozen automobiles parked nearby also were broken. Principal damage was done, however, to the hotel office of Dr. Bertha Laymore Hapke. The interior was wrecked, and police said the bomb evidently was tossed almost directly at the office. Among the apartments damaged was that of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lipsky, 1542 East 67th place. Several vases, valued as mementoes of the Chicago Fair of 1893, were thrown to the floor and broken.

Miss Hilda Hapke, 26 years old, daughter of Dr. Hapke, was slightly cut by flying glass when the explosion occurred. The Hapkes occupy an apartment in the hotel adjoining the office.

Dispute with Engineers' Union.

Police were told that the motive for the bombing probably was a dispute with the engineers' union. Edward I. Bloom, manager of the hotel, informed Capt. Dan Gilbert of the Woodlawn station that he recently dismissed one of the two hotel engineers and hired a janitor to assist the remaining engineer. Two union officials, whose names he knew only as Wrenn and Evans, ordered him to reëmploy the dismissed engineer or there would be trouble, Bloom charged. Capt. Gilbert said he would question William Wrenn, president, and Thomas Evans, business agent of the Operating Engineers' union.

Another south side bombing occurred shortly after midnight at 5001 Ada street, a soft drink parlor. Joseph Gipa, owner, and his wife, Theresa, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kwiatkowski, who live upstairs, were shaken. Damage was estimated at $500. Gipa could not explain the attack.

Pombed Movie Reopens.

Benjamin Bartelstein, owner of the Annetta theater, 2337 South 52d avenue, Cicero, the front of which was destroyed yesterday morning by a bomb that rocked the suburb, opened his show again last night with himself at the motion picture projection machine and a guard of three policemen on hand.

"Sure, I know why my place was bombed and so do you," Bartelstein said to Assistant State's Attorney Edward Markham. "I told Tom Maloy [czar of the Moving Picture Operators' union] I couldn't afford to keep two union operators and intended to discharge one. He told me I was not permitted to fire either operator. I fired both and have been doing the operating myself for the last twelve days."

Recall Previous Trouble.

At the state's attorney's racket bureau, Assistant State's Attorney Charles Lounsbury, when informed of the bombing, sent for Aaron Saperstein, president of the Allied Theater Owners' association. A few months ago the association negotiated a peaceful settlement with Maloy in the controversy over Maloy's insistence that two union operators be employed where the owners said but one was needed. During that controversy several theaters were bombed.

Lounsbury learned that, as had happened on the former occasions, Maloy was out of the city at the time of the bombing. He is in New York.

Plane Strikes Flagpole in So. Side Park

Edward A. [Eddie] Stinson, 33 years old, dean of American aviators, who had flown 1,750,000 miles without a serious accident, was fatally injured early last evening when a new plane he was demonstrating struck a tall flag pole in Jackson park near 63d street and crashed to the ground.

Three others riding in the plane were injured. They are:

Fred M. Gillies, 36 years old, of the South Shore View hotel, 7100 South Shore drive, assistant general superintendent of the Inland Steel company, one time star football player at Cornell university.

Chest Is Crushed.

Stinson's chest was crushed and oxygen was supplied to him constantly for several hours at the Illinois Central hospital, where all the men were taken. He died at 1 o'clock this morning. Gillies suffered a vertebral fracture and Field a double fracture of the left leg. The injuries of Tompkins were slight.

The plane, a new model known as the Stinson Junior De Luxe, had taken off from the Chicago airport at 5:45 p. m. Stinson was showing his personal friend, Gillies, who was an army aviator during the war, what the machine would do. They had started out over the lake when the veteran pilot discovered his gasoline supply had run out.

He turned back and with his engine out, circled down to make a landing on the park golf course. Motorists who saw the plane said he appeared to be making a good landing when the right wing struck the flag pole. The wing smashed and the machine swerved and descended diagonally to dive nose first into the ground.

Stinson Found Unconscious.

Tompkins was able to crawl out. The others were carried out of the cabin by Policemen Simon McNerney and John Maloney, who put Field's leg into an improvised splint before hauling him to the hospital. Stinson was unconscious.

The plane had been flown to Chicago from the Stinson factory at Wayne, Mich., in the morning, arriving about noon. The plane had a Lycoming motor. Stinson took several flights during the afternoon.

An investigation made by inspectors of the United States department of commerce tended to show that the gasoline supply in the craft was exhausted. The feed pipe was broken, but this may have occurred in the crash. The required navigation lights were on the craft.

Air Minded at 10.

Stinson was born in Fort Payne, Ala., in 1894. When a child he heard of the Wrights' first flight. This inspired him and when only 10 years old Stinson with his brother Jack and two sisters, Katherine and Marjorie, all flyers, built a glider. Five years later he built a glider which actually took off and carried over 300 feet.

It was then that Stinson, still a boy, reached into bigger fields. He went to Memphis to learn to fly, but soon moved to St. Louis when he heard two men were building a plane there. Up to this time young Stinson had never seen an airplane; his only flights were in home made gliders. In St. Louis the plane was completed and Stinson enjoyed his first ride. After this he went to Dayton, O., and entered the Wright brothers' school.

Trains War Pilots.

Not long afterward the name of Stinson began to become identified with aviation. During the world war Stinson was placed in charge of all student flying at Kelly field, Texas, where he trained hundreds of war pilots. No pilots were allowed to go overseas from that field without Stinson's approval. Stinson developed many air maneuvers which are said to be the basis of army maneuvers now in use.

On the conclusion of the war Stinson returned to the design and manufacture of airplanes, and established his first factory at Dayton. He next moved to Detroit, forming the Detroit-Stinson company, now a subsidiary of the Cord corporation.

Stinson was recognized as a leader in the engineering field of the aviation industry. His flying hours totaled more than 16,000. This is more than the total flying hours of any other pilot. His yearly flights exceeded more than 70,000 miles. He was the only man to hold two endurance air records and the first man to emerge alive from a tail spin. He never had to leap from a plane with a parachute, and until last night's crash he never broke a bone in a fall. He tried stunt flying at one period of his career.

TAX SPENDERS WARNED TO CUT COSTS TO LIMIT

Citizens' Committee Gives Ultimatum.

Cook County's Crisis

With the ultimatum that budgets must be trimmed to the bone to save the Cook county local governments, various other activities are under way to meet the problems arising from the financial stringency:

1—The legislature is summoned from its recess today to finance a $20,000,000 fund for the needy of the city and state. Details on page 4.

That ultimatum to all Cook county tax spending bodies was delivered yesterday at a conference at the Chicago club. D. F. Kelly, chairman of the citizens' committee which is trying to sell tax warrants to relieve the present distress of the governments, Mayor Cermak, newspaper publishers, leading attorneys, and representatives of all the loop banks participated in the conference.

Mr. Kelly was named chairman of a committee which within the next three days will hold individual conferences with heads of the taxing bodies. The officials will be informed that stringent budgetary economy is a prerequisite to any aid which they may expect through sale of their tax warrants.

Economy First Essential.

"You can emphasize that," Mr. Kelly said after the conference. "It's the first essential.

"The conference realizes that less money will be raised this year by taxation than had been expected. The tax burden upon real estate must be lightened. Taxing bodies will have a smaller income. They must arrange to live within it."

The board of education, which in the preliminary draft of its 1932 budget has failed to eliminate the "fads and frills" that have crept into the Chicago educational system, was reported to be scheduled for a special warning that it must reduce expenses.

Act to Get Taxes Paid.

The conference took other steps designed to speed both tax collections and tax warrant sales. A committee of attorneys was appointed to coördinate the various measures proposed for enactment by the legislature to put 1930 taxes in collection in Cook county at the earliest possible date.

Members of the committee are Francis X. Busch, chairman; Corporation Counsel Sexton, County Attorney Bell, and Harris S. Keeler of the Chicago Bureau of Public Efficiency. They will present a bill or bills to the legislature within a few days providing that taxpayers who pay their 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes now shall be entitled to credit on future tax bills if by court action, reassessment, or other means their bills for the three years are determined to be too high.

Assistant Attorney General Montgomery S. Winning and Dewitt Billman, secretary of the legislative reference bureau, will coöperate with the committee.

Radio to Be Used in Drive.

The radio is to be used to appeal to Chicago citizens and taxpayers, urging them to come to the aid of their governments. Mayor Cermak, who offered Mr. Kelly's committee full cooperation in its economy drive, said that as soon as the new assessor and reviewers provided for Cook county by the Kelly bill have been appointed he would arrange a series of talks over the air urging property owners to pay up their taxes.

A similar series of appeals for the purchase of tax warrants will be arranged, Mr. Kelly said.

"We will try to impress upon citizens of Chicago the wisdom of taking the money which they have put away in safe deposit vaults and investing it in the securities of their local governments," Mr. Kelly said. "The public are really the stockholders of the city and other local governments. They should be just as concerned over the financial troubles of their governments as they would be over those of a company in which they hold stock."

Probe $20,000,000 Offer.

An ultimatum from the Associated Bond and Share company that it would withdraw its offer to purchase $20,000,000 worth of tax warrants from the city unless definite action is taken on the proposal today, was ignored yesterday by aldermen. Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, appointed a subcommittee headed by himself which questioned Andrew T. Greeley, president of the company.

The subcommittee took the matter under advisement until tomorrow, when it will report to the full finance committee. If any action is taken it will not be until the council meets on Thursday.

Corporation Counsel Sexton, Mayor Cermak and other city officials attended the subcommittee's meeting with Mr. Greeley. At its conclusion Ald. Clark said that before any action is taken his group will confer with Mr. Kelly to learn whether the Associated Bond and Share proposal would interfere with the efforts of his citizens' committee to sell 1930 tax warrants to large taxpayers.

Banks' Advice to Be Sought.

Bankers will also be asked if the company's proposal will interfere with future sales of tax warrants. The company proposes to purchase $20,000,000 worth of 1930 corporate fund tax warrants from the city, paying for them half in cash and half in 1931 tax warrants of the school board.

Mr. Sexton asked if the company had its school warrants ready for delivery to the city. Mr. Greeley replied that it had contracts for the purchase of scrip. The board of education has considered a proposal that it exchange the scrip which it issued last summer for tax warrants, but has taken no action on the proposal as yet.

Mr. Greeley refused to show the contracts for scrip purchases, but said that he believed the company could deliver $500,000 worth of school tax warrants today, if necessary.

Denies Plan to Buy Scrip.

He denied that the company intends to purchase scrip or small denomination tax warrants from school teachers. Much of the original scrip issued, more than $9,000,000, has passed into the hands of utility companies, department stores, and neighborhood merchants who accepted it on bills owed by school employés.

"We have $4,000,000 available for the work now, and we are committed for the interest on the full $20,000,000," Mr. Greeley said, in explaining why the company demanded immediate action on its proposal.

He did not explain what the company will do with the city tax warrants when it gets them. He denied to Mr. Sexton that they would be distributed to the public, told Ald. Clark that he doubted that they would pass to large taxpayers, and then stated that the company would not keep them itself.

TAXES SLASHED IN WILL COUNTY; EXPENSES NEXT

Will county is one spot where tax bills are lower this year than last. Due to a movement to cut down extravagance in government, $982,000 has been shaved off the annual tax burden, and the total bill for 1932 is $3,664,000 as compared with $4,646,000 in 1931.

The reduction came through the efforts of a taxpayers' committee headed by Homer B. Grommon of Wheatland, which agitated for a cut in public pay rolls, a decrease in county folderols and a trimming of budgets. The agitation, in which political leaders are said to have displayed little activity, led to a cut in assessed valuations with the coöperation of the Will county board of review.

After this Mr. Grommon's committee battled to keep the tax rates from being raised, and the result is a drop of 21 per cent in taxes.

Now the citizens' committee insists it is a matter of the local governments' trimming their expenditures to income.

As one specimen of saving which can be made, the committee points out that Will county has three courts at Joliet and employs five bailiffs at $176 each a month, or $10,500 a year. Kane county, with three courts, the committee says, gets along with one bailiff at $1,500 a year, although it has 15,000 more population than Will.

"It shows what can be done when the people wake up to the tax situation," said Mr. Grommon. "Public business has been so long wasteful that private business is no longer able to support it. THE TRIBUNE has led in this movement to wake up the public, and the people now are educated."

In addition to the purchases listed above there were sixty harmonicas supplied to the Moseley and Montefiore schools at a cost of $20.67, 12 music racks to the Winchell Continuation school at $6.90, a carrying case to the Nettlehorst school at $3.50, and two music stands to the Prussing school at $4.80.

These musical instrument purchases total $11,417. For educational supplies, in which the musical instruments were included, it was at first proposed to spend $1,172,000 this year. Supt. Bogan, however, has suggested that this amount be trimmed to $803,200.

Attorneys for the major groups of organized school teachers will ask the board to postpone action on the budget tomorrow, it was announced last night after representatives of the teachers and others met the lawyers in the offices of Attorney Allan J. Carter, 120 South La Salle street. The teachers want more time for their attorneys to examine the proposed budget.

LINKED TO STILL BY LEASE; GETS FIVE YEAR TERM

Sam Rinella, alleged owner of a still raided by prohibition agents at 814 South Michigan avenue on Feb. 24, 1930, was sentenced to five years in the federal penitentiary and fined $1,000 by Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday. A lease on the building given to the Chicago General Merchandise company, which had been reputedly signed by Rinella, was the evidence that linked him to the operation of the still.

When the agents broke into the plant they found a still capable of turning out 2,000 gallons of alcohol a day. No one was in the building.

SCHOOLS WARNED TO TRIM BUDGET OR GET NO LOANS

Bankers Find Estimates Exceed Revenues.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The school board will be warned today that banks and investment houses will not attempt to sell any school tax warrants if the proposed $94,640,296 budget is adopted tomorrow. The votes required for the adoption of this budget are reported to have been pledged.

It was learned yesterday that the bankers believe the budget in its present form requires several million dollars more than can possibly be raised in taxes. They view as "visionary and misleading" the statement of Superintendent Bogan that it might be justifiable to increase the board's estimate of revenues.

The trustees will be told that their 6.68 per cent budget reduction is unsatisfactory and if they expect to get any money in 1932 the budget must be trimmed much more severely.

Normal to Be Closed.

"The Chicago Normal college will be closed." This statement was made yesterday by President Myers of the school board in a speech before the conference of Jewish woman's organizations in the Medical and Dental Arts building. He said that his plan is to close it for only one year and gave as his reason that there are 2,200 qualified teachers now waiting for assignement. By the closing he hopes to save $300,000.

"I am going to make that recommendation to the board Wednesday, if I am the only one who is for it," said Mr. Myers.

Trustee Joseph Savage, who was chairman of the budget subcommittee which prepared the educational budget with Superintendent Bogan as adviser, was told of Mr. Myers' statement. He replied: "I am strongly opposed to the closing of the Normal and will not vote for it even if it is recommended by President Myers."

Circumstances Are Changed.

Mr. Savage apparently had not heard that the bankers deemed it impossible to borrow money on the budget. He is one of the trustees who thught he saw some hope in the trustees' recent meeting with the bankers. But that was before the $94,640,296 budget, which provides for continued instruction in tap dancing, how to play golf to music and beauty culture, was made public.

It was also before the bankers knew that the board plans to levy $29,000,000 in taxes for new buildings.

No effort will be made by the bankers to influence the board, it is said, other than the delivery of the warning that tax warrants cannot be sold on a budget which authorizes the spending of millions in taxes which the board cannot reasonably hope to collect.

County Budget Staggers Board; Must Slash 25% This Year

Members of the county board looked solemn yesterday when Deputy Comptroller Michael J. O'Connor opened the first 1932 budget session with this warning:

"There must be a 25 to 30 per cent reduction in this budget. Nothing will save Cook county except a drastic cut."

The commissioners began suggesting the abolition of various departments and other economical measures. The two women commissioners talked about "taking a pound of flesh from the poor employés" and the tragedy of slashing salaries and jobs when "fat bears sit in the Riverside zoo."

Revenue Only $19,000,000.

O'Connor explained the county's financial situation at length. Expected revenue will not total more than $19,000,000 this year, he estimated, and the budget must be well below that figure. The preliminary 1932 budget, presented as required by law last Nov. 2, listed expected revenue of $21,986,000.

O'Connor also revealed that on Dec. 1, the beginning of the 1932 fiscal year, there was an accumulation of $9,000,000 in unpaid obligations as a result of the delay and deficiency in tax collections and from the dropping off of fees. In addition, he said, there are still outstanding $1,600,000 in 1929 tax anticipation warrants. Also, the county has not paid salaries for three months.

Some excerpts from the discussion of the budget follow:

O'CONNOR—In the face of these figures, it is apparent that a 30 per cent reduction in the budget must be made.

COMMISSIONER BUSSE—I agree. Let's first cut out every department not absolutely necessary to run the county.

MRS. E. J. FLEMMING—Such a drastic cut would indicate that there was inefficiency or corruption on the part of the county board. It should be made clear that we're in this fix because taxes have not been collected.

Always Running Behind.

O'CONNOR—If last year, we had collected every dollar coming to us and borrowed all we could, we still would have owed $2,000,000. We've always been spending more than we had.

BUSSE—What about abolishing the public defender at $27,000 a year; the public behavior clinic and the judicial advisory commission at $25,000 a year?

O'CONNOR—Those can be abolished. It must be remembered that there are some things that cannot be done away with or reduced. The mother's pension at $1,200,000 a year, the $1,700,000 appropriation for the elections, the payment of interest and retirement of tax warrants——

COMMISSIONER WEBER — My committee gets at the nurse's training school tomorrow morning. Maybe we can cut $30,000 or $40,000 a month off their $100,000 monthly by the time we get through investigating extravagances over there.

Proposes Five Day Week.

PRESIDENT WHEALAN — We've got to realize also that positions must be eliminated. I have a plan in mind for a five day week for the employées.

MRS. GLENN E. PLUMB—I think it's dishonest to take the savings out of the hide of the poor employés who get only $100 a month.

WHEALAN—You'll find very few employées getting $100 a month on the county pay rolls.

WEBER—Let's start with ourselves. Let's cut our own salaries $1,000 a year at least and have the judges, the sheriff, all the big officials take at least a $1,000 cut.

WHEALAN—Try and get the judges to take a $1,000 cut.

MRS. PLUMB [suddenly]—I think the whole essence of the thing is that we haven't got enough revenue!

No Money for Mothers.

Dependent mothers with 6,000 children who are on the county pension rolls will not receive pensions totaling $50,000 due them by mail today for the first half of January. Money was not available, and the checks, which ordinarily should have been placed in the mails yesterday by the county comptroller, did not go out.

Members of the Cook County Employés' Benefit association, meeting in the county board rooms last evening, voted unanimously to reject any offers of tax anticipation warrants instead of cash for salaries.

WINNETKA GETS QUICK RESPONSE PLEA FOR TAXES

Winnetka taxpayers showed their willingness yesterday to keep their community schools open. In response to a short notice request for payment of 1930 school taxes they replied promptly through the mails and over the week-end added $34,000 to the school treasury.

Only last Friday Clarence B. Randall, president of the Winnetka school board, and civic leaders sent letters to 4,200 taxpayers. They requested that the estimated amounts of school taxes on the 1930 assessments be remitted. Most of the letters reached the taxpayers Saturday. Yesterday hundreds of checks were received.

Glencoe's two weeks' campaign for funds to operate village and school business ended last night with a total sale of $211,500 in 1931 tax anticipation warrants. The goal was $396,000, the amount necessary to meet expenses from Jan. 1, 1932, to March 1, 1933. According to George Young, village manager, the fund will keep the Glencoe schools open for several months at least.

Four Killed, Ten Injured in British Coal Mine Blast

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan., 25.—(AP)—Four men were killed and about ten were injured in an explosion tonight in a coal mine in the Rhondda valley.

SCHOOLS SHOW 2,326% BOOST IN FIRE LOSSES

Vandalism, fires and burglaries in the public schools cost taxpayers $334,344 during 1931, according to a report made public yesterday by John Howatt, chief engineer for the school board. Fires, nearly 50 per cent of which were of incendiary origin, caused damage to the extent of $159,665. The school board's bill for broken window panes was $145,157 for the year. Property valued at $29,522 was taken from school buildings in burglaries.

The fire loss was an increase of 2,326 per cent over the year before, or $45,368 more than the total for the seven years from 1924 to 1930. The average loss during that period was $16,256 annually.

Many of Incendiary Origin.

Of the 33 fires on school property during 1931, no less than 15 were of incendiary origin, according to the report. Causes of seven, among them the Curtis school fire, worst of the year, were listed as unknown.

Most of the fires were at night and the increase was attributed to a reduction, for the sake of economy, in the number of department inspectors. There are now nine inspectors. In 1930 the largest number employed in any one month was 18. In previous years the force ranged upward to as many as 26.

$3.41 for Each Window.

The school board paid $3.41 for the replacement of each of the 42,508 window panes broken in school buildings during the year. In the engineer's report the total of $145,157.25 was divided into three parts: glass, $40,975.41; labor, $57,921.84; overhead and material, $46,260. The report bore no explanation of "overhead and material." Approximately 75 per cent of the windows were broken by vandals, according to the report.

Loss through burglary of school buildings increased from $13,928 in 1930 to $29,522 in 1931. On the basis of 898 burglaries and acts of vandalism, department inspectors arrested 477 persons and secured convictions in 282 cases.

RAILWAY UNION CHIEFS DIVIDED OVER WAGE CUT

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

The railway unions failed yesterday to reach an agreement on whether they will accept the 10 per cent wage cut asked by the railroads.

The unions were divided in their own ranks, with many leaders expressing strong sentiment against the cut, and almost all of them declaring that the committee of railroad presidents with whom they have been negotiating at the Palmer house had failed to treat the employés fairly on the labor program to relieve unemployment.

But it seemed to be the feeling of the more conservative union leaders that they must agree to the wage reduction, whether they like it or not. While no definite forecast could be made, it appeared probable that the railroads' demand for a cut will be granted, possibly today.

Executives Poll Results.

After an afternoon during which the general chairmen of the various brotherhoods met in separate sessions, the executives of the 21 unions conferred last night to poll the results of the brotherhood meetings. The executives' session was marked by long and violent argument, and even they could not or would not determine a course upon which they would advise their general chairmen when the separate meetings are resumed this morning.

Several of the executives, reporting that their men could not decide what should be done, asked for definite guidance from the executives' committee, so they could relay this advice to the organizations today. But after some discussion it was concluded that the brotherhoods would have to settle the question for themselves.

The executives will meet again at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and their chairman, David B. Robertson, expressed the hope that by then all of the brotherhoods would have determined their stand.

10 of 21 Chiefs Ready to Act.

Mr. Robertson, looking tired and worried, gave a meager account of the committee session to newspaper men. He said that 10 of the 21 executives were ready to announce their action, but that none of these 10 had indicated what his decision would be. Eight of the 10 executives ready to act had been given full authority to act without consulting their men, and the other two said their organizations had come to an agreement. The remaining 11 executives all must obtain from their general chairmen a vote on what their decision will be.

Mr. Robertson declined to discuss the nature of last night's conference, except to say that none of the organizations represented is satisfied or pleased with the position taken by the railroad presidents on the labor relief program.

From some of the other executives at the meeting more details of the heated discussion were obtained.

President's Group Berated.

Most of the time was spent, it was learned, in berating the president's committee for failure to grant the concessions asked by labor.

"They have given us nothing whatever with which to appease our men at home, and yet they expect to force the 10 per cent cut down our throats," one labor executive declared, and he voiced a general worry of the general chairmen, most of whom are standing for reëlection to their union posts.

"The entire stand of the presidents on our relief proposals is negative," the executive went on. "They have given us a proposition on stabilization of wages which is wide open, capable of interpretation in many different ways. We have no assurance whatever that the railroads would interpret it as we would want them to, especially after we have signed for a voluntary wage cut."

Some for Accepting Cut.

In reply to this, several of the executives are reported to have said that "we'd better take what we can get." Their opinion was that nothing could be gained by arguing further, that the presidents had indicated their decisions on the relief program were final and that they had gone as far as they ever would.

One union executive was reported to have said that he favored an immediate decision; that it might be possible for the labor organizations to discuss the controversy indefinitely, but that the presidents would soon tire of it all and go home.

Several executives suggested that compromise proposals might be made to the presidents. Alvanley Johnston, president of the locomotive engineers, was reported to have suggested that the savings resulting to the railroads from the wage cut be placed in a pool from which the financially distressed railroads might borrow. This plan follows one now in force, suggested by the interstate commerce commission, by which the increased revenues from a 15 per cent rate increase are being pooled for loans to the weak railroads.

Argue for Direct Aid.

On this point it was argued that since the roads had sought the cut because of their financial distress, the aid given by granting the reduction would be more directly applied.

Mr. Johnston also stated, it was reported, that he wondered if it was good policy for the union officers to go back home having accepted a 10 per cent cut without having fought for a 6 or 7 per cent compromise cut.

These suggestions seemed to have little support, according to reports, it being the general opinion that the unions would have to take the full 10 per cent reduction, on the railroad's proposition, or turn it down.

Some suggestions that further delays might be sought were cut short, it was said, and it was finally concluded that the unions must decide the question before this conference is ended.

Suggests Delayed Acceptance.

One chairman suggested that the employés might offer to take the cut, but delay its taking effect until after all the roads had entered into a definite agreement with the local union organizations on the stabilization issue.

G. M. Harrison, president of the Railway Clerks brotherhood, reported, it was learned, that his general chairmen had been unable to agree on their decision, and he suggested that the executives should determine among themselves what course to propose to their men at today's meetings. But the committee was unwilling to adopt the suggestion.

Mr. Robertson, who is president of the Brotherhood of Firemen, reported that his men had not reached the wage cut in their discussion. A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen, said his men had not yet agreed, and it was stated that both the firemen and trainmen would resume their discussions this morning.

The shop crafts, under the leadership of Bert M. Jewell, were in the same situation, it was reported. Some of the shop men were strongly opposed to the cut, it was said, but it was believed the more conservative leaders would be able to gain their approval of the reduction.

Railroads' Stand on Jobs.

The railroad presidents' final stand on stabilization, which is conceded to be the paramount issue in the minds of the labor men, was as follows:

"We agree that what ever may be practicable should be done to remove the feeling of uncertainty as to employment which may exist at the present time in the minds of many who are now employed, either upon a whole time or part time basis. Varying conditions make it necessary to deal with this question by local negotiation between management and men on each railroad.

"Accordingly the railroads will carry on such negotiations for the purpose of stabilizing employment for such periods and to such an extent as conditions may justify. This does not contemplate assurance of pay for service not performed unless covered by present agreements."

The unions contend that the language of the presidents is such as to permit of interpretations by which individual railroads will be able to refuse to carry out its intent and purpose.

While the labor men were struggling to reach a decision, the presidents' committee, headed by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, waited impatiently for word. Several of the rail executives have pressing engagements, and one of them has announced he will leave for home this noon regardless of whether an agreement is reached.

Frisco Workers Take Cut.

Kurn announced today. The men are employed in the mechanical department or as train porters, steam shovel engineers and mechanical supervisors, and are 15 per cent of the total number of Frisco employés.

Charges Denied

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Betty Healy, of Stamford, Conn., wife of Ted Healy, Broadway comedian, today filed a suit for $250,000 against Mary Brown Warburton, charging alienation of her husband's affections.

She charged Healy's love for her vanished with the prospect of wealth and social prominence as the husband of Miss Warburton, who she alleges lured her husband with lavish gifts and love trysts in Atlantic City and Chicago.

Mrs. Healy asserts she and Healy were happy until he met Miss Warburton. They were married in Indianapolis on June 5, 1922.

Miss Warburton entered a general denial to the charges. A motion for examination before trial will be argued on Friday.

FREE TRANSATLANTIC TRIP TO IRISH PILOT, DUE TO ROUGH SEAS

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—James Lynch, Irish pilot who guides trans-atlantic liners between Cobh and Daunt Rock Lightship, arrived here today on the motorship St. Louis of the Hamburg American line an unwilling passenger.

Mr. Lynch went aboard at Cobh, Ireland, and planned to leave the St. Louis at Daunt Rock Lightship as usual, but when the liner reached the lightship a high wind had blown up and the sea was so rough it was impossible to bring the pilot's skiff alongside.

Officers of the ship assigned him to a cabin for the round trip. It was the second enforced trip to New York in two years for Pilot Lynch. During the winter two years ago he brought out the Milwaukee, a sister ship to the St. Louis, and a gale blowing around Daunt Rock lightship made his transfer to the pilot boat impossible.

TRIED FOR SHOTS AT EXCURSION BOAT; ONE VICTIM

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Two customs border patrolmen who are accused of shooting a passenger on a Detroit river excursion steamer last summer are scheduled for trial this week in federal court here. They are Walter Weslowski and Clarence Fish.

The federal officers declared they were shooting at an escaping rum runner from Canada. The pleasure steamer was raked with thirty or forty shots, and at the hospital a .45 bullet was found in the arm of Gajewski.

Customs officers declared they engaged the rum runners in a running battle, but eyewitnesses testified that the "runners" had no guns and were only interested in dodging bullets, using the excursion boat as a shield. The rum runners were within six feet of the excursion vessel when the federal officers opened fire.

PLAN TO CONVERT BRITISH NATIONAL DEBT REPORTED

LONDON, Jan. 26.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—The financial editor of the London Express said today he understood a gigantic scheme was being considered for the conversion of all Great Britain's national debt.

The proposed conversion of the debt into new securities would result in savings in interest payments equivalent to about 18 pence (nominally 36 cents) of income tax, he said, and the greater part of this would be passed on to the taxpayers.

While the average yield of government securities, which now is just under 5 per cent, probably would be reduced to 3 per cent, the new proposal might mean an actual increase in the net yield, owing to the tax reductions. The editor said the improvement in the national credit would be so great the market value of government securities would be maintained.

LONG SHATTERS TRADITIONS OF AUGUST SENATE

He Brings Lighted Cigar Into Chamber.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Louisiana's Long, whose first name is Huey, today took his seat in the senate, trampled on a couple of sacred traditions, and announced that he was against Roosevelt as a President and prohibition as a platform, but was for reduction of nearly everything except senatorial salaries.

Preceded by a reputation for wise cracking, this new and 47th Democratic senator did not disappoint the reporters who followed him from 6 this morning, when he received them in lavendar pajamas, until this afternoon, when he walked into the senate chamber in correct morning attire, but with a lighted cigar.

Unlighted One Misdemeanor.

Now an unlighted cigar is a misdemeanor in the senate; a lighted cigar is a scandal, frowned upon by tradition.

Senator Long took it out of his mouth and stuck it on the desk of Senator Robinson [Dem., Ark.] when Robinson escorted him up to take the oath of office. The fact that he walked with Robinson, instead of with Senator Broussard, his Democratic colleague from Louisiana, broke another tradition. Senator Broussard, who was in the chamber at the time, declined to comment.

"What's the matter with Broussard?" the newspaper boys asked him.

"Nothin'."

"What's the matter with Long?"

"Nothin'. Both acted natural."

Not For Roosevelt.

Then they wanted to know his choice for presidential nominee.

"Not Roosevelt; not by a long shot," he shouted back instantly. "He ran too bad with Cox; he'd never do. Sure I've got my own ideas; four of 'em. Put these three all in a bracket: Pat Harrison of Mississippi; Robinson of Arkansas and Jack Garner. Any of them're O. K. After that, my choice's Smith."

As for prohibition, "It's regusting;" but Louisiana isn't worrying about it. "It's the same in every locality; it isn't hard to get what you want; at least I haven't found it hard."

Prohibition, he claims, is not a party issue, has no place in a platform.

"What are the issues?" he was asked.

"I don't know, do you?" he replied.

"What's wrong with the country?" the questioning proceeded. "Prohibition or economics?"

"Neither; the trouble's concentration of wealth in the hands of too few people. Remember what the Bible says."

"What does it say?" a reporter shot in. "We fellows never get a chance to read."

"Why—why, now, you fellows ought to know; don't the Bible mention the Scribes?"

Would Retain Sugar Tariff.

As for the tariff, well, he believes sugar ought to be kept the way it is; "everything else ought to be reduced except articles that bring money to my people—O, yes, and salaries for congressmen and senators."

With a sweep of his hand, "Boys, come see me any time, day or night," then to the woman in the party, "but don't, for heaven's sake, mention my pajamas; I gave 'em away to a fellow that carried a parish for me."

With the air of an old timer he went, shaking hands, giving orders, introducing himself.

Somebody wanted to know what he wanted to be called, governor or senator.

NEW JERSEY DEMANDS NATIONAL CONVENTION TO REPEAL DRY LAW

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—New Jersey went on record tonight calling upon congress to call a constitutional convention to repeal the 18th amendment and return to the states control of liquor.

The congressional memorial to that end, which already had been passed by the Republican controlled senate, was adopted by the assembly at tonight's session by a vote of 55 to 4.

A Democratic memorial requesting the President to ask congress to modify the Volstead act to permit sale of 4 per cent beer immediately also was adopted by the assembly.

ONE KILLED, MANY JAILED AS SPAIN BATTLES STRIKES

MADRID, Jan. 25.—(AP)—While the Spanish government appeared to have repressed the threatened nation-wide extremist movement serious labor strikes continued today at Malaga, Seville and Valencia. One man was killed and another critically wounded in a gun battle between syndicalists and civil guards at Malaga. Hundreds of arrests were made throughout Spain. Madrid and Barcelona were quiet.

A general strike was declared at Lerida, and at Cordoba 4,000 industrial workers walked out. In numerous small towns near Cordoba there was a general strike.

In Valencia extraordinarily heavy military precautions failed to prevent rioting. One civil guard was wounded. In Monserrat rioters destroyed the sacristy and the library of the parish church. Two men in Cadiz attempted to burn the San Antonio church but failed.

The communist movement in Castell and Alcarisa assumed serious proportions. Military reinforcements were dispatched to subdue rioters.

CRISIS ON POOR RELIEF IS UP TO ASSEMBLY TODAY

Prepare to Speed Action on $20,000,000 Bill.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Recalled from what had been scheduled as a week's recess to permit time for important committee deliberations, the Illinois general assembly will reconvene at 4 o'clock this afternoon for the hardest week since it met in special sesion on Nov. 5.

Primarily the two houses have been called together again by the leaders to take as rapid action as possible upon the program of appropriating and financing a $20,000,000 fund for the immediate relief of those in need because of the depression. It is hoped that the program can be enacted this week even if the task holds the two houses in session until Saturday.

Seek to Advance Other Bills.

In addition to this program it is believed the assembly will try to advance as far as possible some of the remaining major bills of the program for the financial relief of the local governments of Cook county sponsored by the governor's tax conference.

Only one of the important measures proposed from this source has received final action. That is the Kelly bill providing for the replacement of the present tax boards of Cook county with a single assessor and a board of appeals of two members.

That bill has passed both houses, but it is expected its presentation to Gov. Emmerson for his signature will be delayed until there is an agreement between him and President Emmett Whealan of the county board upon the new officials.

Hurley Declines Assessorship.

Prospects for that agreement were decreased yesterday when Edward N. Hurley, whose public life has been chiefly in the national field, wired to Gov. Emmerson that he could not accept appointment to the assessorship. This office was offered to him by Emmerson and Whealan with the approval of Mayor Cermak last Saturday.

"I have been highly honored by your and President Whealan's offer to me of the important post of assessor of Cook county and also the generous indorsement of Mayor Cermak," said Mr. Hurley's telegram to the governor. "As promised, I have given the matter very careful consideration, recognizing a citizen's duty to his city and state under the present acute conditions.

His Reasons for Refusal.

"I am sorry I cannot fully cover in a telegram the reasons why I cannot accept this post; but, as chairman of the Chicago citizens' committee, I have assumed responsibility for raising $300,000 for the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

"This, together with coöperating with the Republican and Democratic national committees in connection with their plans for the conventions as well as in Chicago's plans for entertaining our guests, will take most of my time.

"I am sure you will find there are many citizens more capable of filling this important place than I am; but I am greatly indebted to you, the president of the county board and the mayor for your consideration of me for the place."

Mayor Hopes for Agreement.

Mayor Cermak said he felt deep regret that Mr. Hurley had declined the appointment but added that he felt certain that, with politics disregarded as it was in the offer to him, Gov. Emmerson and President Whealan will be able to agree on some one else.

Others whose names were suggested in last Saturday's conference were Col. A. A. Sprague, Robert Isham Randolph and Newton C. Farr. None of them has been consulted on the subject.

In order that the legislative machinery may be ready to start off at full speed at 4 o'clock today an important conference will be held in Springfield this morning in the office of Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet, president pro tem of the senate, who with other leaders of both houses has agreed to do everything possible to rush the $20,000,000 unemployment relief appropriation and its companion measures.

The chief of these companion bills are a new bill for a 2 cent tax on gasoline in addition to the 3 cent tax already imposed and a bill for a bond issue of $20,000,000 to be submitted to referendum next November.

Relief Fund Leaders Appeal to Illinois Public to Support $20,000,000 Appropriation Plan

An urgent appeal to all citizens of Illinois to support the $20,000,000 appropriation program for relief of the state's needy and unemployed that is to be presented to the general assembly at Springfield this afternoon was issued yesterday by President Edward L. Ryerson Jr. and other officials of the Joint Emergency Relief fund of Cook county. Their statement said:

"On the verge of the emergency reassembly of the legislature to consider bills to provide $20,000,000 for the relief of the destitute and unemployed of Illinois the officials of the Joint Emergency Relief fund of Chicago and Cook county, a volunteer body constituted to provide the means and direct the work of caring for the needy during the present unparalleled depression, wish to call the attention of the citizens of the state to the situation, in the belief that they will back up the hoped for action of their senators and representatives in supporting the needed legislation.

Contrast with Normal Times.

"In normal times the established charities of Chicago and the Cook county board care for approximately 20,000 families, most of them the victims of sickness, disaster, desertion, or death or imprisonment of the wage earner. They are able to meet the costs of this care through contributions. Cook county usually carries about 70 per cent of the load, appropriations being made regularly out of county funds for that purpose by the county board.

"With increasing unemployment appearing two years ago in Chicago and Cook county, as well as the rest of the state, after the financial collapse, extraordinary efforts were made to finance the private charitable organizations to meet the need. A year ago last fall a campaign for $5,000,000 was launched and successfully carried out, which met the most urgent needs of last winter and spring.

Extent of Crisis Unforeseen.

"Then it was thought that the peak of joblessness had been reached and that returning prosperity would automatically wipe out the demand for more assistance.

"No one could foresee the extent to which the present crisis would bring us. It was known that it would be severe, so as early as last spring work to set up an adequate relief organization for this winter was started.

"Before the national relief body to consider a program of aid on a scale involving the entire country was assembled, the Chicago and Cook county program was agreed upon. A financial drive for $8,800,000 was launched, but before it was completed it was seen that it would not be enough. The goal was advanced to $10,000,000, but giving was so extensive and so generous that $10,500,000 was pledged.

Sacrifice of Chicago Citizens.

"This represents a real sacrifice on the part of the citizens of Chicago, many of whom have heavy burdens in caring for relatives who otherwise would be in the army of needy calling for public assistance.

"Whereas the county usually bears about 70 per cent of the charity load and the private agencies 30 per cent that has now been reversed in this emergency and the agencies have so far borne two-thirds of the expense. Their resources are now exhausted.

"If it were possible to stage another campaign for popular subscriptions to care for the 500,000 people now penniless and facing starvation here unless the legislature comes to the aid with the requested emergency appropriation, it would be done. But Chicago has given to the limit.

"No one knows how many millions are being poured out in the care of the unemployed by their immediate relatives, information concerning whom never reaches the public, and who thereby are not public charges.

Every Dollar for Relief.

"No city or county in America has a finer record in the raising and dispensing of relief funds than Chicago and Cook county in this emergency. Not one cent from the $10,500,000 has been deducted for overhead in campaigning or administrative costs. Every dollar has gone to the agencies for relief work as soon as paid in, and it has been necessary to meet the demands for help by borrowing in advance of collections of installment payments.

"The situation is worse than a disaster, no matter how extensive. It is having the effect of a military occupation or blockade, where slow starvation wears down the resistance of a besieged population and does injury to health and morale for years to come.

"Health impairment and malnutrition are now being endured by hundreds of thousands of Chicagoans, especially little children, which will be a blight to them all through their lives. Lack of food and proper medical care, improper housing and overcrowding are destroying the labors of years.

Crowds of Applicants for Aid.

"Public hospitals never have had such crowds of applicants. Most of those seeking help do not come until they have exhausted every resource, and have cut down their living rations until hunger drives them to the charity offices.

Even in this situation, it is possible to allow only sufficient to maintain life. Nearly all casework standards have been abandoned for the time by the relief agencies and now it is a matter of providing enough food to keep people from starving and enough coal to keep them from freezing. Not even rent is being paid.

"With 125,000 families in Chicago to care for, and hundreds more needing help every day, donations to families averaging four or five persons each, with two or three children involved in nearly every case, have been cut to $20 or less a month. It is apparent that all they can do on that is to keep barely away from the hunger line.

Up to the Legislature.

"Yet this small ration, which is now costing about $3,000,000 a month to provide, will have to be cut off, as rent allowances already have been, unless the legislature grants this emergency appeal.

"The Chicago and Cook county allotment of the $20,000,000 appropriation will not more than carry the needy on a bare subsistance through the winter and summer, even if business improves and employment starts. It will take weeks for many of the half starved unemployed to get into shape to do a hard day's work even when the opportunity comes.

"Citizens of Illinois, it is more than an emergency. It is a condition unparalleled, appalling, desperate. If it were not no such appeal for public aid as this would be made. But when absolute starvation for hundreds of thousands looms it is like war, requiring heroic measures and warranting them.

Appeal in Name of Humanity.

"Because Chicago and Cook county have put forth every energy, every resource to meet the need, which now has swept beyond the power of local agencies, public and private, to meet, there is every justification for this request. It is made in the name of humanity and for the sake of men, women and children who will otherwise starve.

"Help must come and come quickly. The only remedy is the proposed action by the legislature. If bread isn't provided no one can predict the dreadful consequences. It is up to the legislature. The legislature will gladly and quickly act if its members feel they represent the will of the citizens of the state.

Call for Public Approval.

"This statement is made that the information may be broadcast among the people of Illinois. We are confident in the knowledge that if they know, they will heartily approve senators and representatives in their action in granting necessary funds for relief at once to the needy multitudes of not only Chicago and Cook county, but of the entire state."

Besides Mr. Ryerson, the statement was signed by Clifford W. Barnes, Victor A. Olander, Frank D. Loomis, Howard W. Fenton, James B. Forgan Jr., D. F. Kelly, Sol Kline, and Lewis E. Myers, the other members of the committee.

TAXING BODIES ASK BONDS AT HEARING HERE

Legislators Hear Funding Plan Praised.

Representatives of the taxing bodies who have bond issue measures pending at Springfield appeared before a joint senate and house committee in the Stevens hotel yesterday to tell their needs. Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Evanston] presided, and the committee adjourned without taking action, to meet later in the week at the capitol.

What sentiment was disclosed seemed to favor the latest "funding" plan proposed for Chicago's salvation. This involves a reassessment of 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes; payment of the 1930 levy in three installments, and the partial lifting of the 1931 levy by a large bond issue.

Some Opposition Appears.

S. E. Thomason, a member of the executive committee of the governor's tax conference, opposed this.

"What possible good can come by postponing tax payments?" he asked. "You can't convince people they should pay by postponing the delinquency dates."

"The taxpayers," replied Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, a Republican house leader, "won't pay unless they think personality is on the books. That's going to take several months, and remember also that there must be test cases in the Supreme court."

Senator Barbour made some mention of "patriotism" in paying taxes.

"There's no such thing as patriotism in paying taxes," asserted Senator Roy C. Wood, Chicago Republican. "The small taxpayers pay because they have to and the large taxpayers pay because it's good advertising.

West Parks Ask Bonds.

Appearing for the taxing bodies were W. R. James, president of the west parks board; Col. William H. Beckman, for the Lincoln park commissioners; Jaseph Butler, superintendent of streets, and Thomas J. Bowler, president of the sanitary district.

Mr. James' board is asking for a $4,000,000 bond issue for the "maintenance, extension, and operation" of the park system. He told the committee that the employés of the system have not been paid, save a small sum at Christmas, for six months.

President Bowler's body has no bills pending in Springfield, but he emphasized that it has been unable to find a market for bonds or tax anticipation warrants; had already defaulted on bond payments and would default again Feb. 1.

"If the schools closed for three months, the children would enjoy the vacation," he said, "but if the sanitary district would be forced to suspend operations for one week, conditions would be unbearable."

Col. Beckman said that the Lincoln Park board has $3,000,000 in bonds for sale, but there are no bidders for them. The board might be forced to default in six weeks, he said.

Sanitary Board Cuts Budget $7,742,000, Sees New Saving

A slash of $7,742,000 from the tentative 1932 sanitary district budget of $47,455,000 was made yesterday under the retrenchment ordered by the district finance committee. The cut sets the 1932 budget at $39,713,000 or $5,407,000 below the 1931 budget of $45,120,000.

The budget must be adopted before Feb. 1. Trustee Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the finance committee, said the committee will urge passage of the revised budget. The drainage board is to meet Thursday or Friday.

The economies were effected largely in the delay of construction work in anticipation of a new method of sewage disposal by which Chief Engineer Edward J. Kelly expects sharp drops in operating expenses. The district is experimenting with a method to dispose of sewage by incineration rather than biological treatment.

The new treatment will save money by reducing the size of sewage disposal plants and the land areas about the plants. The new system is to be tested in an experimental station to be built during the year.

Salaries Cut 10 Per Cent.

Additional cuts were made by reducing salaries 10 per cent and trimming other corporate expenses. The salary cut will save $448,000 in 1932.

The 1931 budget, the 1932 tentative budget and the revision follow:

Dept.—	1931.	1932 tentative.	1932 revised.
Engineering	$28,172,000	$28,232,000	$26,546,000
Fixed charges	2,993,000	3,012,000	3,012,000

Trustee Woodhull pointed out that $2,400,000 in unpaid obligations from 1931 are included in the 1932 budget. In the engineering department $7,626,000 was cut from the 1931 budget by reducing the engineering corporate fund from $6,172,000 to $4,846,000 for 1932 and the construction program from $22,000,000 to $15,700,000 for 1932.

The $6,300,000 saving on construction projects includes a total of $800,000 on the west side sewage disposal plant, $2,500,000 less land for the southwest plant, $1,500,000 on the Calumet plant, and $1,500,000 on Calumet sewers.

The projects for which the $15,700,000 is to be spent are $300,000 on the north side plant, $400,000 on the west side plant, $2,000,000 for west side sewers, $500,000 for the southwest plant, $560,000 for the Calumet plant, $1,000,000 on Calumet sewers, $1,250,000 on other items, and approximately $8,000,000 on unfinished contracts.

A Burden for Future.

Trustee Woodhull said that the district spent only $22,310,751 of the $45,120,100 estimated in the 1931 budget. Work was curtailed, he said, because of the lack of funds due to low tax collections. Unless tax collections are greater in 1932 actual expenditures during the year may be as low as in 1931.

"This is particularly significant because under the United States Supreme court decision in the lake level case the district should spend $20,000,000 a year for eight years through 1938 on projects to curtail lake water diversion," he said. "In 1931 less than $6,000,000 was so spent. The 1932 budget does not contemplate a $20,000,000 expenditure.

"This means that the under appropriation of these years will have to be made up later to bring higher tax bills in future years, unless the decision is amended."

PLAN NEW CHARGE IN INDIANA QUIZ ON HIGHWAY FEES

Indictments charging a Lake county, Ind., commissioner and a former commissioner with official negligence in allowing fraudulent fees were dismissed yesterday by Prosecuting Attorney Robert G. Estill at Crown Point, after Judge Maurice E. Crites had instructed defense lawyers to file a demurrer to the charges.

Mr. Estill announced that he would go before the county grand jury, which convenes today, and ask that the men, Commissioner James Black and former Commissioner William Linton, be indicted on charges of conspiracy.

Black and Linton were accused of allowing the fraudulent fees to be paid to Ross H. Smith, who inspected road materials. Smith was convicted of filing the fraudulent claims last week before Judge C. V. Ridgely. Mr. Estill said, after he had dismissed the indictment which was worded faultily, that he would use testimony given in the Smith trial in asking conspiracy indictments against Black and Linton.

The grand jury may also reopen the Gary quiz which resulted in the indictment of Mayor R. O. Johnson, who was charged with malfeasance in office.

JAPANESE CLAIM CHINA ACCEPTS MOST OF TERMS

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Jan. 26.—(Tuesday.)—(AP)—The navy office today ordered another cruiser and twelve destroyers to sail for Shanghai immediately from the Sasebo naval base. The ships were sent, it was explained, because of the increasing gravity of the situation at Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 26.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Japanese authorities today said Chinese officials had accepted all Japan's demands for redress, growing out of recent anti-Japanese disorders, except that for the dissolution of anti-Japanese societies.

EUGENE CHEN.

These reports came after China's latest government, one month old had partly broken up. The two leading members of the Nanking government—Sun Fo, chairman of the executive council, and Eugene Chen, American educated foreign minister—resigned in protest against the refusal of their colleagues to join in a strong anti-Japanese policy.

"China's policy is a virtual invitation to Japan to do as she pleases," Chen said.

Successor Is Named.

Lo Wen-kan was foreign minister under the late Chang Tso-lin's régime in Peiping in 1928 and later allied himself with Chang Hsueh-liang, who recently was deposed as governor of Manchuria.

He is 44 years old and studied law at Oxford university, England. He had been minister of justice, finance minister, president of the Supreme court, and director general of the customs administration of the Peiping government before he became foreign minister.

Plan New Ultimatum.

The Japanese demands which were said to have been accepted called for an apology from the mayor, as well as the arrest and punishment of Chinese responsible for recent clashes and compensation for medical expenses of Japanese who were injured in the encounters.

Japanese Consul-General Mural was reported to be planning again to inform Mayor Wu Teh-chen that Japan required acceptance of the demand for dissolution of the Chinese association, which has supported a boycott against Japanese goods, and of all other organizations whose activities are "directed against Japan." This time a time limit would be placed upon Chinese consideration of the Japanese ultimatum, the report said.

Although there was a general feeling that the Chinese had no alternative than to accept, Chinese officials denied the Japanese reports and reiterated that all the Japanese demands still weer being negotiated.

Two Army Flyers Killed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUKDEN, Jan. 25.—Two Japanese aviators, a captain and a sergeant, were killed when their bombing plane fell on "Pointed mountain," in the border district between Jehol and Fengtien provinces, a short distance northwest of Tahushan.

A Japanese private was killed and another wounded in fighting between Japanese troops and Chinese bandits in the same area, a Japanese report said. The Japanese forces now advancing northwest from Tahushan consist of one regiment of approximately 1,200 men belonging to the 20th Nakajima division. Their object is to clear the area of alleged bandits said to be operating from bases along the Jehol border.

The official report stated that the Japanese left wing yesterday engaged 600 bandits, while the right wing fought 300 bandits. The Japanese spokesman said the bandits are withdrawing into Jehol province, which is certain to necessitate a Japanese advance into that area.

Jesuit Assails Stimson.

Dr. Johannes Kraus, eminent Jesuit, political economist and a member of the faculty of St. Sophia, a Catholic university in Tokio, today criticized Secretary of State Stimson's recent note to Japan calling attention to American rights in China. Dr. Kraus is of German nationality. Dr. Kraus said:

"There is no such thing as Chinese political and administrative integrity or control over Manchuria, hence it is ridiculous to regard the nine power treaty as a sacred document, because it is based on unrealities."

China Demands Firm Stand as League of Nations Meets

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, Jan. 25.—The league of nations council today resumed consideration of the Sino-Japanese dispute. The council heard Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese minister to the United States, and Naotake Sato, Japanese representative, go over the whole question, and, in the words of Joseph Paul-Boncour, who has replaced Aristide Briand as president, found that both were agreed on one thing: that there is now a "grave situation" in Shanghai.

After the statements of the two nations had been read the president asked both parties to take immediate steps to avoid aggravation of the Shanghai situation. Then, having promised to continue later the discussion of events in the far east since the Paris session of the council in November, he adjourned the meeting.

China Demands Firm Action.

Today's debate was marked on the Chinese side by four things.

First, Dr. Yen demanded that the council enforce the league covenant without delay. He declared that the league's conciliatory procedure had proved insufficient and hinted repeatedly that China would invoke articles of the covenant not yet called on.

Second, by frequent references to the United States, he allowed no one to forget that it was also involved in the peace action, but, contrary to expectations, he did not specifically mention Secretary of State Stimson's recent note upholding American rights in the far east.

Third, Dr. Yen complained about the slowness with which the league's commission of inquiry had been constituted and about the fact that, contrary to the council's promises, the commission was not taking the quickest route to the far east and was not going first of all to Manchuria, where it will not arrive until April.

Calls Japan "Ruthless."

Finally, Dr. Yen's tone throughout was stronger than the Chinese have hitherto used, especially in his references to Japanese policy, which he described by such words as "cynical" and "ruthless."

On the Japanese side the outstanding development was Mr. Sato's remarks on the commission of inquiry. Sato said he was happy the commission had been created, stressing that Japan had proposed it, and added:

"We do not know what the results of its studies will be, favorable to Japan's thesis or not. That remains to be seen."

Meanwhile, he declared, there was nothing to do but wait a few months for its "very important report," and it was only after that that the council could make a satisfactory examination of the problem. He was careful not to pledge Japan in advance to accept the commission's findings.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league of nations, notified the council today of his intention to resign early in 1933. The council postponed its decision whether to accept the resignation until Thursday. Meanwhile, attempts are being made to dissuade him.

STIMSON TALKS WITH NAVY HEADS ON CHINA CRISIS

May Warn Japan Again on Action in Shanghai.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The gravity with which the United States views the disturbed situation at Shanghai was emphasized today when Secretary of State Stimson summoned Secretary of the Navy Adams and Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations, to his office for an hour's conference. Later they conferred with President Hoover.

In many quarters the impression was current that Secretary Stimson is planning to take some further diplomatic step to protect American treaty rights in that port. Whether a new move will be made, however, probably will depend upon Japan's next step. The latest dispatches, indicating that the threatened Japanese occupation had been temporarily averted, had the effect of easing the situation, although state department officials were in touch with other interested powers on the subject.

May Send Warships.

Unofficial reports from Tokio that Japanese forces were contemplating occupying the international settlement and the French concession, if the Chinese did not accede to their demands for suppression of the anti-Japanese boycott, caused concern among American officials. No new orders dispatching American warships to Shanghai have been issued, however, although it is believed this subject was under consideration at the Stimson-Adams conference.

Should the Japanese place troops in the international settlement, this would be in violation of old treaties, some of which date back to 1844.

So far as could be learned, no direct diplomatic move was made today such as the dispatching of instructions to W. Cameron Forbes, the American ambassador at Tokio, or Edwin S. Cunningham, the American consul general at Shanghai.

Expect Word Sent to Tokio.

It would not be surprising, however, if some method had been found by which American concern over the Shanghai situation had been communicated to Tokio.

The bulk of the Asiatic fleet is at Manila, with various ships scattered on regular duty at many points in Chinese waters. Only the destroyer Truxton is at Shanghai. Manila is three days' steaming distance from Shanghai.

KIDNAP BISHOP IN MEXICO; CARRY HIM OFF IN PLANE

Popular Churchman Disappears.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 25.—Archbishop Francisco Orozco y Jimenez, known as the "fighting bishop of Mexico," was taken from Guadalajara in an airplane today and sent to an unknown destination. He was seized, according to Guadalajara dispatches by special agents of the department of interior.

ARCHBISHOP OROZCO.

The archbishop's disappearance was first announced by relatives and later confirmed by Archbishop Pascual Diaz, papal nuncio. Archbishop Diaz said he was conducting an investigation of the mysterious disappearance.

Friends said the prelate had been stopped in his automobile in traffic by two agents and then placed in a military plane. Some believed that he was spirited away to the United States.

Archbishop Orozco, one of the most popular Catholic leaders in Mexico, achieved fame during the Catholic rebellion against former President Obregon and later against the government of Plutarco Calles. He was also in trouble with the Carranza government.

Stirs Up Insurrection.

Accompanied by several hundred armed men, he moved from town to town in the state of Jalisco in January, 1927, stirring the inhabitants to insurrection. He attempted to unite forces in five states under a single command.

The archbishop was forced to leave the country when the rebellion was put down but later returned and led a venturesome and romantic life in the hills about Guadalajara until the church trouble was patched up.

He was arrested on a previous occasion in Guadalajara, led through the streets in chains, and sentenced to be shot. His life was saved through efforts instigated by friends in Chicago, where he lived for some time.

Catholics Boycott Schools.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A Catholic boycott of all secondary government schools was announced today by Archbishop Pascual Diaz in a pastoral letter of instruction to the heads of all Catholic families under his jurisdiction.

The instructions commanded heads of families under the jurisdiction of the archbishop to abstain from sending their families to secondary lay schools. They were printed and have been widely distributed throughout the federal district.

The archbishop said his letter was a result of the presidential decree of Dec. 29 which established an absolute lay basis in all secondary schools operated by the government.

"On Oct. 22," she said, "the conservation department of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, planted this tree east of the Industrial Museum building in the park. It was a memorial to George Washington, and it was an elm that came from a shoot of the famous old Washington elm at Cambridge, Mass.

MRS. P. J. WIMSEY.

"I am conservation chairman for the second district of the federation and I am sure whoever took that tree wanted it for its historical association and has planted it on his own property."

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Police today were advised that sixty oriental rugs, worth $15,000, had been stolen over the week-end from the American Rug Laundry, Inc., here.

TELLS HOW CANAL TRUSTEES JOKED, VOTED MILLIONS

Secretary Testifies at Graft Trial.

While Timothy J. Crowe was president of the sanitary district board, he and his associates on the board joked and talked among themselves, instead of listening to the details of how the millions of dollars of public money was being spent, according to the testimony given yesterday afternoon by Thomas J. Whalen, secretary for the board.

Whalen told Chief Justice Harry Fisher, who is presiding at the trial of Crowe and six others on charges of graft conspiracy, that the expenditures of the district mounted from $38,549,213 in 1927 to $55,932,745 in 1928.

Prosecution Nears Close.

The prosecution virtually closed its case yesterday with putting into evidence the groundwork on which stipulations will be introduced this morning showing that the district in many cases paid twice for the same work.

The evidence will show, Prosecutor John E. Northup said, that double charges totaling more than $100,000 were paid on a $1,000,000 contract.

John C. Tully of the Tully-Costello company, general contractors, identified the rehabilitation work contracts awarded to his company. The prosecution said it would show that the Tully company was paid in full and that the subcontractors were paid not only by the Tully company, but by the district. Many of the companies mentioned, the prosecutor said, were ones organized to do Sanitary district work.

The testimony of Whalen was considered important because it shows, the prosecutor said, that either the trustees knew what was going on or did not care how the money was spent. Whalen said that he would read off the different vouchers "as fast as he could talk" and that the trustees paid no attention to him, but talked among themselves and smoked their cigars. When he would conclude, the vote would be unanimous that they be paid. The board in two years never showed a dissenting vote, he said. The employment committee, of which Crowe was the chairman, only met once or twice a year. This was the committee charged with padding the pay rolls.

The "big fight" in the trial, as Attorneys Albert Fink and John McInerney put it, will come Thursday when the defense argues its motion for a directed verdict of not guilty.

Attack Bridle Path Evidence.

Attorney Fink in an informal discussion with the judges indicated that he would ask that all the evidence regarding the $1,068,000 cinder bridle path be striken from the record because it does not show any conspiracy. The trend of his argument, he said, would be that the prosecution may have shown many different things, but not a conspiracy.

Some of the testimony yesterday dealt with the $12,700 cashier's check given by Eugene Byrne, former district employé and head of a dummy company, to Crowe. The check was introduced in evidence after J. Fordyce Wood, handwriting expert, testified that in his opinion Crowe wrote the indorsement of John Flanigan to the check, which was made out in the name of Flanigan. Crowe's signature appears below that of Flanigan and the prosecution charges that the name of Flanigan was fictitious and was used in an effort to conceal the transaction.

JUDGE ORDERS BLOOD TEST TO FIX PATERNITY

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday ordered blood tests to be made on Donald Nissen, 338 Monroe street, River Forest, and his wife, Josephine Sansone Nissen, 1150 Vernon Park place, to determine the paternity of 6 year old Betty Jane Nissen. Attorney Robert E. Cantwell, representing Nissen, asserted that his client was not the father of the child. Nissen has filed suit for divorce alleging that his wife deserted him soon after their marriage in June, 1925. Results of the tests will be given the court on Feb. 8.

In a similar case recently when Mrs. Catherine Crabtree Meindl, 4018 Irving Park boulevard, asserted that her former husband was not the father of one of her children born before her second marriage, Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude rejected the blood tests as worthless in proving parentage

Last of Stone Company Officials Gives Up to U. S.

He was released by Commissioner Edwin K. Walker in bonds of $2,000 pending a hearing Jan. 29. Richardson is the last of the nine officials of the comypany and its subsidiary to surrender and give bond.

WITNESS HITS EX-PROSECUTOR IN BOOZE TRIAL

Besse Conversation Told by Agent.

Robert W. Besse, former state's attorney of Whiteside county, one of the defendants on trial before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley in the midwest liquor conspiracy case, was confronted yesterday with evidence that he had taken three of the other defendants to his farm near Fulton, where they later installed a huge still.

ROBT. W. BESSE.

The revelation came shortly after the former prosecutor had taken the witness stand to deny that he had anything to do with the gang or its operations. He was asked by Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson on cross-examination if he had had a conversation with Henry Kane, another defendant, in the latter's home in Sterling, on the evening of Sept. 29, 1930.

Agent Presents Story.

When he admitted that he had, he was confronted with the report of Special Prohibition Agent Edson Smith, who was concealed in Kane's home on the evening in question and made a written record of the conversation that took place.

According to Smith's report, Kane summoned Besse to his home and informed him that "he was in a tight place and had to have some money to get away."

Kane then wanted to know where he could find the three men whom Besse had brought to the farm to install the still. "You remember bringing them out?" Kane is alleged to have asked; to which Besse answered in the affirmative, stating that he did not know where they could be found, however.

Besse was then asked if the following conversation had taken place. He admitted that it had, in substance, denying that it was accurate in detail.

Conversation is Retold.

KANE—Bob, you told me that in case there was any trouble to get in touch with you at the office and not to say anything about what was going on.

BESSE—Yes, I know. Just sit tight. They can't prove anything on you.

KANE—Don't be foolish, the federals have the lease.

BESSE—That don't prove that you know about the still. The burden of the proof is on the government and it can't do a thing.

Promised to Set Bail.

According to the dialogue, Besse then cautioned Kane not to talk to anyone and promised that he would get Mike Blumberg [alleged leader of the gang] to arrange a bond for him. Kane later testified for the government after securing a separate trial. Besse is one of the 22 remaining defendants who have not already pleaded either guilty or nolo contendere.

Jailed for Alimony on Plea of Cabaret Dancer

Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday ordered Russell H. Thompson, 1226 Melrose street, to jail for failure to keep up his alimony payments to Mrs. Mary Ellen Thompson, 24 years old, 1239 Otto street, who divorced him last June. She told Judge Trude that she has been appearing in a troupe of Turkish dancers at various cabarets to support herself and her son, Vernon, 6 years old.

CHICAGO GIRL DIES IN FLORIDA AUTO ACCIDENT

Helen Shipley Killed; 3 Others Escape Injury.

Miss Helen Frances Shipley, 24 years old, 1128 East 46th street, daughter of Charles A. Shipley, member of the Chicago board of trade and the Chicago Stock Exchange, was fatally injured last night when the automobile in which she was driving from Live Oak, Fla., to West Palm Beach, overturned on a highway near Crescent City, Fla.

Three others in the auto escaped injury. They are Don Healy, 5039 Ellis avenue, an attorney, owner of the automobile; Miss Theo McMurray, 26 years old, of St. Louis, a former Chicagoan and daughter of a state senator; and Mrs. S. A. Hinely, of Live Oak, Fla.

Miss Shipley's back was broken and she suffered internal injuries. She died two hours later in a hospital.

Turns Over Four Times.

Miss Shipley, who was graduated from St. Xavier's college in 1927, was driving. Witnesses told the coroner's jury that the automobile left the highway and turned over four times when Miss Shipley attempted to bring it back on the road. The body of Miss Shipley will be brought to Chicago for burial.

Four automobile deaths in Cook county yesterday increased the toll for the year to 90. The victims:

Charles Chandler, 72 years old, 3922 Flournoy street. Died in the Garfield Park hospital from injuries suffered earlier in the day when he was run down near his home. Julius Wittner, 408 South Hoyne avenue, was the driver.

Harry Callos, 35 years old, 1109 Ferdinand avenue, Forest Park, a cook. Fatally injured when he was run down at Roosevelt road and Ferdinand avenue in that suburb. Earl Bartholomew, 4221 West Washington boulevard, was the driver.

John Snowden, 56 years old, 1835 West 58th street, a chauffeur. Died in the Southwest General hospital from injuries received on Jan. 9 when he was run down by the auto of a hit and run motorist at 58th street and Ashland avenue.

Mrs. Margaret Bartley, 61 years old. Killed when struck by the automobile of August Zill, a painter, of 4425 North Damen avenue, at La Salle and Oak streets.

Killed as Auto Hits Truck.

Miss Josephine Porter, 25 years old, of Atlas, Ill., and Edward Kliensasser, 25, of La Porte, Ind., were killed when their automobile hit a truck head-on in Dunes highway, east of Gary, yesterday.

George Mink, 30 years old, of East Grand Rapids, Mich., was killed, and five other persons, all driving to Chicago for a birthday celebration, were injured in an automobile crash in U. S. highway 12, near Bridgman, Mich., last night. They were riding in two cars. The first automobile hit a truck, and the car behind piled into the wreckage.

HERNDONS ARE HOME AFTER BATTLE WITH OCTOPUS IN BAHAMAS

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Flying around the world and being arrested in Japan paled into minor incidents in the life of Hugh Herndon Jr. as he compared them today with his latest adventure when he rescued his bride from the tentacles of a large octopus in the Bahamas and together they captured the devilfish.

Mrs. Herndon, the former Mary Ellen Farley of Albany, was inclined to laugh off the incident when the liner Statendam docked today bringing the aviator and his wife back from a belated honeymoon trip, but not so Mr. Herndon.

To that gentleman, who girdled the globe with Clyde Pangborn, it was a very serious matter.

While swimming in deep water off Sandy Key, near Nassau, Mrs. Herndon was suddenly confronted by the devilfish. Not realizing her danger she approached the octopus, the flyer said, which immediately spurted forth the inky liquid with which it blinds its prey.

Mrs. Herndon screamed for her husband, and he hurried to her assistance. He beat the octopus with sticks, drove it into shallow water, and then onto the beach with his wife's assistance. Then they presented it to the aquarium at Nassau.

COPS WHO BEAT U. S. ENVOY GET YEAR IN PRISON

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Sentences of one year in prison and heavy fines were imposed today on three policemen convicted of taking part in an altercation last week in which Addison E. Southard, United States minister to the court of Emperor Haile Selassie, was knocked down.

The trouble developed after Mr. Southard's automobile, with him at the wheel, ran over the foot of a native woman, injuring her slightly.

The minister stopped his car and a traffic policeman pulled the chauffeur from it and struck him. When Mr. Southard intervened he too was hit.

BEAUTY PARLORS ASKED TO HELP HUNGRY PUPILS

Owners and operators of beauty parlors are asked today to make their gift to the hungry school children's fund. One of the businesses least damaged by the depression, beauty culturists themselves say, is the beauty business. And among those who are suffering most from economic unrest are school children.

After Feb. 4, 10,000 children in 211 schools will be denied free lunches unless more funds are forthcoming for the hungry school children's fund. Although $32,543 has been raised to date, all of that will have been expended in a few days.

The gifts arriving since Saturday are as follows:

$7.73—Employes of Beckman Dawson Roofing company.

VICTIM WHACKS BANDITS' HEADS; SAVES HIS CASH

Four would-be stickup men armed with revolvers and bent on holding up a men's furnishing store at 2834 West 22d street changed their minds when the owner, Lawrence Trembacz, met them at the door. Trembacz's experience in the world war taught him not to be alarmed when he saw revolvers.

As two of the robbers entered he grabbed them both by the neck. He pushed their heads together with a bang. They were so stunned they started to run and in so doing knocked the other two bandits down on the sidewalk. All four men piled into their automobile and sped away. Trembacz told the Lawndale police that he was so surprised he did not have time to run for his own revolver.

COAL • HEAT • COSTS • LESS

WAIT!..unless you want 3 times bigger fuel bill

Do one thing if you are thinking of burning the new fuel that has been piped into Chicago. Take your coal bills for the past five years; add them up; then multiply them by three. This will give you—with enough accuracy for practical purposes—the cost you would be put to in burning the new fuel over a similar period of time.

Does the result seem hard to believe? The experience of Chicago home and building owners proves it. The case of the owner of this dwelling at 2345 South Oak Park Avenue* offers an example.

This home has been heated with coal for the past five years at an expense of $819.96. It is estimated that heating costs would rise to $2,530.60 if the other fuel were burned.

Nor would this homeowner gain much besides expense by the change. Most features of the new fuel, such as thermostatic temperature control and automatic firing can be had with coal.

If you want more information concerning the cost of burning a fuel other than coal, any member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association will be glad to give you full particulars. You can depend on his statements. He is pledged to help you realize economy in house heating by giving you honest weight, honest grading, and honest advice. The Association guarantees his pledge.

CHICAGO COAL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

*Because they apply more generally to Chicago home owners, Chicago rates on the new fuel have been used in figuring the cost for the home—suburban rates would make the expense even higher.

FEINBERG HEADS 'HARMONY' SLATE OF REPUBLICANS

Judge Is Put in Ring for State's Attorney.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The "harmony" huddle of Republicans produced a county and state slate yesterday, headed by Judge Michael Feinberg as a candidate for state's attorney against John A. Swanson. The "harmony ticket" was the outcome of a Sunday conference between George F. Harding, who is Gov. Emmerson's leader in Cook county; Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney; Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, floor leader of the ex-city hall machine, and a few others of assorted factional blends. Edward J. Brundage, former attorney general, did not attend nor did the old Deneen group.

JUDGE FEINBERG.

News of the makeup of the slate was received by unharmonized Republicans with what sounded like the old fashioned raspberry. The Democrats set up a cheer, declaring that it contains two or three strong adversaries, but as a whole is even weaker than the Republican slate of four years ago. It is well loaded with ex-city hall men.

Kavanagh Supports Feinberg.

Judge Marcus Kavanagh was among the sponsors of Judge Feinberg in a letter given out last night by Mr. Harding. Judge Kavanagh wrote that "some 800,000 depositors have been despoiled of their money through the gross mismanagement of banks," and that Judge Feinberg, who has come into prominence by his inquiry into the Bain banks, is "the one man who can relieve the situation" as state's attorney.

State's attorney—Michael Feinberg [Crowe].

Sanitary trustee—Paul W. Rothenberg [Crowe], former deputy coroner and at present a west park division superintendent, one of the jobs created under the Emmerson administration to take care of unemployed committeemen; committeeman 24th ward.

Judge Superior court—Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [Emmerson-ex-city hall machine] former, Democrat, was council floor leader in the régime of the old machine retired last April.

Attorney general—Robert E. Gentzel [Crowe].

For two other places on the sanitary district, the Harding-Crowe-Emmerson harmonizers are talking of John E. Northup, assistant state's attorney, for one, the other to be named by William Weber of the country towns.

Some of the Deneen men say they expect to put a slate in the field embracing most of the county officers.

The slating of Ald. Nelson for one of the Superior court vacancies is said to be conditional upon a coalition agreement with the Democrats. This would mean two Superior court judges to fill the Barnes and Isaacs vacancies would be picked by the bosses to the exclusion of the public.

Democrats Against Coalition.

The Democrats at their meeting yesterday said there would be no coalition. Reports from Springfield have been that the Emmerson-Harding entente has been pressing down upon the Chicago Democrats with a delicate intimation that unless a coalition were agreed upon no special election might be called. This is applauded by some on the idea there are perhaps too many judges as it is, and here's a spot to reduce the bench pay roll for a few months.

On state's attorney the Deneen chiefs say they will not oppose Mr. Swanson for election—he was elected as a Deneen man, but coldness seems to have sprung up.

A long list of candidates for state and county offices was handed in to the Democratic county committee at its meeting yesterday. A group of ten will mull the names over and prepare a slate which is expected to be ready this week. Four Chicago candidates for governor were named, and of these Judge Henry Horner of the Probate court appears to be maintaining his lead. His name was presented by Martin J. O'Brien.

Candidates Are Listed.

For state's attorney ten candidates were presented. All of them are sitting judges except one, Richard I. Gavin.

GOVERNOR—Clayton F. Smith, Henry Horner, Francis X. Busch, and Michael L. Igoe.

STATE'S ATTORNEY—Richard I. Gavin, Joseph Burke, John F. O'Connell, Michael L. McKinley, Philip J. Finnegan, Thomas J. Lynch, Frank M. Padden, Edmund K. Jarecki, Matthew D. Hartigan, and John P. McGoorty.

SECRETARY OF STATE—Homer J. Byrd.

RECORDER—Clayton F. Smith, incumbent.

CLERK CIRCUIT COURT—Joseph H. Donahue, John D. Hayes, William A. Rowan, Rudolph L. Schapp, Parker Cullerton, and William R. O'Toole.

CLERK SUPERIOR COURT—Frank V. Zintak, incumbent.

CLERK APPELLATE COURT—John Meehan, Raymond W. Moore, Sheldon W. Govier, John F. Delaney, Jeffery A. O'Connor, Leo Kocialkowski, William R. O'Toole, John E. Conroy, John E. Traeger, Edward J. Denemark, and James J. Sullivan.

JUDGE SUPERIOR COURT—Francis B. Allegretti, Francis Borelli, James F. Fardy, James Trainor, and Ning Eley.

For the two Superior bench vacancies, in case a special election is called, Francis B. Allegretti and James F. Fardy are regarded most likely to be slated.

Mayor Cermak spoke briefly: "There will be no coalition," he said. "The principal thing is to elect a Democratic legislature to back up the next Democratic governor."

RITCHIE URGES PARTY PLANKS ON PROHIBITION

Democratic Women's Club Hears Candidate.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Inclusion of a clear statement of the prohibition issue in the planks of both the Republican and Democratic party platforms this year was urged by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, in an address before the Democratic Women's Luncheon club here today. He did not suggest the form which the Democratic plank should take.

GOV. A. C. RITCHIE. [Harris & Ewing.]

"Why sidestep, why quibble, why straddle when this question arises?" Gov. Ritchie asked. "It is not a moral question. It is a political one in that it is a question of liberty and state's responsibility, which, I think, is a more accurate phrase than 'state rights.'

Against Nullification.

"I do not think that a state should be allowed to nullify an act of congress because it is thought unconstitutional, but I do think congress should stop nullifying the responsibilities and privileges of the states."

Explaining that he had been asked to make national prohibition the chief subject of his address, Gov. Ritchie declared that prohibition does not involve any question of being wet or dry.

"It is entirely a question of government," he continued, "a question as to whether or not we shall endeavor by one unbending rule to regulate the personal conduct of every citizen of our country.

"The true goal of all should be temperance. There are two roads open to this goal. One is the state road, the other the federal. For many years we tried the former, and it was working well. Temperance made great strides.

Says Prohibition Fails.

"Then we switched off to the federal road, and progress toward temperance stopped. It was supposed to lead to prohibition, but it did not, and prohibition has failed because this country is too diversified for such a rigid law.

"As a result, our courts are clogged with cases, our jails are filled and the government has almost been overwhelmed by the cost of enforcement. And that is saying nothing of the result on the temperance education of the youth of the land."

Opera Must Raise $400,000 or Close Next Season—Insull

Following a meeting of the trustees of the Chicago Civic Opera company yesterday, it was announced by President Samuel Insull that no contracts for next season would be made until a guaranty fund for a total of $500,000 has been made up.

SAMUEL INSULL.

"To make up this half million dollar guaranty that will be required to insure opera in Chicago for 1932-1933 and thereafter, a renewal of the guaranty fund of around $400,000 must be obtained," Mr. Insull said.

An explanation was made that the first general five year guaranty fund was subscribed for the support of the company in 1922 and was renewed in 1927. Thus the last five year guaranty fund expires with the close of the present season. However, supplemental funds were subscribed to widen the interest in opera in 1928, 1929, and 1930, partly to insure that the entire guaranty would not lapse at one time. The sum of these supplemental funds is now about $100,000 a year, which can be applied toward the needed half million.

Campaign to Be Started.

Mr. Insull pointed out that the season now closing had been successful artistically and that it was believed, with large cuts in overhead, personnel, and production costs, that the 1932-1933 season could be made just as successful as this one and still have sufficient funds with a half million fund.

In making his announcement of a subscription campaign to be opened at once, Mr. Insull said:

"Public spirited citizens will undertake the task of securing the renewals of expiring guaranties, as well as the task of getting new guarantors, and because the trustees believe that it would be unwise to enter into contracts or to incur expenditures until this fund is assured, the solicitation of renewals and also of new guarantees will start at a very early date.

"Opportunity will be given every citizen of Chicago who is interested in opera and in the prestige and business which inures to Chicago through the production of opera to subscribe.

Fame Is World-Wide.

"The Chicago Civic Opera company has become one of the world's most notable musical institutions; it has become a part of the city's life and reputation. Chicago citizens have always been liberal in their support of opera. Therefore the trustees and those in charge of the solicitation of renewals are confident of a generous response this year.

"Their confidence is increased because of the concessions that will be made to all guarantors for the new season; concessions as to both price and seat location."

It had already been forecast that the high priced stars of the company, as well as the rank and file, would have to take cuts in the coming season. This year the company had about $600,000 of guaranty funds to make up its expenditures and the action yesterday indicates that a saving of more than $100,000 is contemplated during the next season.

3,000 Ducks Draw Crowds to Lake at Erie Street

Residents of Towertown and the near north side have gathered at the lake shore for several days to watch a flock of wild ducks, estimated to number 3,000, which apparently has established winter headquarters off Erie street. The ducks even waddle ashore to forage for food. Alfred Parker, superintendent of the Lincoln Park zoo, said that the behavior of the birds is not unusual, especially in view of the mild winter which has made it unnecessary for them to migrate southward.

BANDIT ROBS SIX IN HOTEL.

A bandit, holding a handkerchief over his face, forced Maurice Russell and five other employés at the point of his gun in the Y. M. C. A. hotel at 1515 West Monroe street to hand over $188 and $87 in checks yesterday.

7 SOVIET RAILMEN GET LONG TERMS FOR TRAIN WRECK

MOSCOW, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Seven of the eleven railroad employés charged with negligence in the wreck that took 68 lives near here three weeks ago were sentenced to prison early today after a trial that lasted one week. Another employé was convicted but received a sentence of one year "forced labor," which means that he is to work at his present job for that term at a 25 per cent reduction in pay. The three others were acquitted.

Maximum prison terms of ten years were imposed on the engineer of the passenger train which crashed into the rear of a preceding passenger train that had stopped, and on the station master at Kosian, near the scene of the wreck. The others were given terms ranging from 18 months to eight years.

Three railroad officials were ordered arrested yesterday on charges of negligence in connection with the wreck. They will be tried later.

DIES FROM STREET CAR FALL.

Daniel Riordan, 55 years old, 1218 South Avers avenue, a plumber employed by the city, died yesterday at the county hospital of injuries received Saturday, when he is believed to have fallen from a street car at Cicero avenue and Harrison street.

EXPAND CREDIT TO END SLUMP, MILLS TO BANKS

Urges Halt in Security Selling, Loan Calling.

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Bankers of the United States were asked tonight by Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, to check their widely adopted policy of liquidity to halt their selling of securities and their calling of loans, and to embark in the contrary direction of credit expansion. The appeal was part of a speech delivered at a dinner of the American Acceptance council in the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

OGDEN L. MILLS. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Such action on the part of bankers is necessary, Mr. Mills declared, to support the government's reconstruction efforts. Without assistance from industrial and banking leaders, he said, the government cannot bring about business recovery.

Opportunity for Leadership.

"If I may be allowed to speak with complete frankness," he said, "a direct responsibility rests upon the great banking institutions of the country. In the past in similar emergencies them have rendered tremendous service to the nation.

"The opportunities for leadership and service are today even more imperative. Free from the spirit of competitive individualism, they must establish a solid front and through a coöperative and unified program attack a problem which they, above all others, are best fitted to solve.

"The calamitous process of deposit and credit contraction must be arrested. The flow of funds from all parts of the country to the financial center should be reversed. The full use of available credit should be encouraged. Each bank should become a strong point radiating strength and confidence."

Depression Feeds on Itself.

The depression has now reached a point, he declared, where it appears to be feeding upon itself and growing accordingly. A process of overdeflation, based largely on the psychological element of fear, seems to have been in force since last September, he asserted.

Touching upon the rôle which might be played by banks in restoring confidence and hastening recovery, he said that when banks sell securities or call loans they act to reduce their own deposits.

If the tendency toward diminished bank deposits, as manifest particularly in banks outside of New York City, can be arrested, there is real ground for the belief that reconstruction now can be started, Mr. Mills said.

Economic readjustment has proceeded far in the affairs of individuals, of business institutions, he pointed out, while wages and commodity prices have declined as much as might be expected, the weaker banking and business houses have been eliminated, and governments are adopting policies of economy.

Answering those who might criticize his plea for expansion as likely to lead to inflation, Mr. Mills declared that dangerous inflation never has followed a period of extreme deflation.

WINS DIVORCE; REWED

GOULD HEIRESS WINS A DIVORCE AND WEDS AGAIN

Reno, Nev., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Edith Gould Wainwright, daughter of the late George J. Gould of New York, today obtained a divorce and then a new husband, all in the space of a few hours.

She was granted a decree freeing her from Caroll Livingston Wainwright on grounds of mental cruelty. Almost before the ink was dry on the divorce she sped to Minden, 50 miles away, and took out a license to wed a man named Hector McNeal. The Rev. R. C. Thompson later confirmed that he had performed the ceremony at 6 o'clock.

Neither the preacher nor friends in Reno were sure of the full identity of the new bridegroom. In the divorce action the mother was given custody of the three Wainwright children—Stuyvesant, 9 years old; Carolyn, 7, and Livingston W. Jr., 6. No property settlement was mentioned at the trial of the case, and, so far as known here, no settlement of the kind had been made.

End of Youthful Romance.

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—When Edith Gould, sixth of the seven children of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould eloped 12 years ago and was married to Carroll Wainwright, who is a descendant of Peter Stuyvesant, last Dutch governor of New Amsterdam, the event took the families of both participants by surprise. The marriage was announced the next day by the parents of the bride, who had just been graduated from Miss Spencer's school. She was then 18 years old. Mr. Wainwright was 21.

Builder Files Suit to Dissolve Showboat Co.

A bill to dissolve the Showboat Dixiana Corporation of Illinois was filed yesterday in the Circuit court by J. M. Weller, builder, who was engaged to construct the theatrical boat. According to the bill, the company was incorporated last October for showboat purposes, but in a short while its liabilities exceeded its assets. Weller obtained a judgment for $3,850 last December. He asks that a received be appointed.

solicit outside the district, but they rush out to accost people who pass their doors. Gambling is the great recreation of the town and poker takes the place of baseball and tennis. Mr. Braden estimated that 1,000 men were in the gambling clubs on Saturday night, Sept. 5. The men at Boulder City play poker in their rooms and as long as the stakes are small they are not interfered with, but sharpers and men who take too much off the men are discharged and put off the reservation as soon as they are discovered.

"Gambling is licensed at Las Vegas, but prostitution is not. Medical inspection of prostitutes is required, but is a farce and is not relied upon by the medical staff of the Six companies. Federal enforcement officers, 'prohis' they are called, are busy and are making liquor sales hazardous. We saw several padlocked clubs."

Call Halt on Reclamation.

Not because of the growing opposition than to federal expenditures on reclamation of arid land to swell crop surpluses to dispose of which more government millions are being expended, but because of the impending inability of settlers to pay reclamation assessments, the committee recommended no new projects and reduced appropirations for projects under construction nine millions below the 1932 allowance.

The office of education, which is dedicated to the promotion and standardization of education, receives an allotment of $425,000 for 1933, which is $85,000 less than this year and $59,600 less than Mr. Hoover asked. The actual savings, however, is only $10,000, inasmuch as the investigation of secondary education which is costing $75,000 this year is to be concluded June 30 next. The $10,000 saved is by virtue of an allowance of $70,000 for investigation of teacher training which is costing $80,000 this year. The committee refused to approve Mr. Hoover's proposal to allow $50,000 for investigation of school finance in addition to the $50,000 being expended this year.

Other Activities Uncurbed.

Otherwise, the activities of the office of education, which is often cited as an example of federal paternalism, ar. to go forward without let or hindrance. The commissioner of education issues a vast number of publications setting forth the results of a multitude of researches in the field of education.

Like the department of agriculture, the office of education goes in for instruction on home economics on a large scale. It discourses upon "home management and equipment," on "education for home and family life at the elementary and secondary school levels," on "the newer interpretations of home economics," on "physical education," on "the need and value of a program of health [including recreation] for rural schools," and on "education by radio." It is getting ready to publish studies of "books of fiction which interpret child life," of the "conservation of animal life in Alaska," of the "physique and carriage of the school child," of "mind-body relations," of "out of school activities of pupils," and a multitude of other subjects.

The committee reduced appropriations for the general land office $281,100, bureau of Indian affairs $3,231,157, reclamation service $10,981,640, geological survey $862,240, and national park service $1,377,630.

PROPOSES TO CLOSE MILITARY TRAINING CAMP FOR CITIZENS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—A drive to curtail the summer training camp activities of the war department has been initiated by Representative Ross A. Collins [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the subcommittee handling the war department appropriation bill, it became known today. The Mississippi representative, who last week suggested cutting the army's officers' personnel from 12,000 to 10,000, now proposes to arrange for abandonment of the citizens military training camps for the 1933 fiscal year. About 35,000 citizens were trained at these camps last year.

War department officials are opposed to any curtailment of the funds for training its citizen component and vigorous opposition will develop, especially in the senate, if the house appropriations committee acts favorably on the Collins plan. Some doubt exists also as to whether the other four members of the Collins subcommittee will support their chairman in any move to radically trim the summer training camp activities.

Just how much of a slash will be felt by the war department is still uncertain. It is known that Representative Collins hopes to lop off $20,000,000 by eliminating 2,000 of the older officers in the army.

Sheriff Acts to Halt Abandoning of Animals

Sheriff William D. Meyering, at the request of the Chicago Humane Education society, yesterday took steps to prevent persons from abandoning their kittens, puppies, and horses along the highways. One hundred metal signs calling attention to an old law against abandonment of animals were set up at outlying filling stations and roads leading into the city. The law provides a fine of from $3 to $200 for each offense.

APARTMENT IS ROBBED.

Burglars entered the apartment of A. J. Brink at 7936 St. Lawrence avenue yesterday and stole $90 and jewelry valued at $600.

FIFTY AND FIT

Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years?

There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel fit all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways.

This famous doctor's prescription is a delicious syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. It starts its good work with the first spoonful. That's all you need to drive away the dullness, and headache of a bilious spell, and rid the system of that slow poison that saps your strength. It's better than a tonic for tired bowels, and unlike habit-forming laxatives you can take it freely or give it to any child. And it isn't expensive.

Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system this wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of biliousness or constipation. A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels, or fear of auto-intoxication as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. All druggists keep this prescriptional preparation.

SENATE DISPUTE DELAYS BILL ON RECONSTRUCTION

Seek Amendments Regulating Salaries.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Charging that the President's newly created reconstruction finance corporation was an attempt to help the capitalist, and that it ignored the farmer and the working man, western radicals and southern Democrats in the senate today waylaid the 500 million dollar appropriation bill which will furnish the corporation's capital.

SEN. HUGO BLACK. [Acme Photo.]

They bombarded the measure with amendments designed to prohibit loans being made to corporations with highly paid executives or to wage cutting business concerns.

Their amendments failed, but the result was to delay final passage of the appropriation bill until tomorrow when the house, which has already passed the bill in its original form, must concur in a committee amendment added in the senate today. This amendment was occasioned by the clause in the original bill creating the corporation, which sets aside two hundred million dollars of the corporation's two billion dollar credit capacity to be used for crop loans to farmers.

Names Couch and Jones.

While the debate proceeded, President Hoover did away with all conjecture as to two of the Democrats he must appoint as directors of the corporation by sending to the senate, together with the name of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, those of Harvey C. Couch of Arkansas, and Jesse H. Jones of Texas.

The President's selection was not a surprise, as Couch and Jones had been reported as his probable choice for two of the three Democratic places to be filled. Gen. Dawes had already been named as president of the corporation.

The three appointments were sent to the banking and currency committee. It was reported there might be radical opposition to Mr. Couch because of his presidency of the leading light and power companies in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

He is a friend of Democratic leaders as well as of the President, however, so that his confirmation, with those of Gen. Dawes and Mr. Jones, is looked for tomorrow.

Mr. Jones, banker, builder and hotel man of Houston, was active in Red Cross work during and following the war, is a power in Democratic politics and was the man who got the last Democratic convention for Houston.

Attacks Higher Salaries.

Senator Hugo Black [Dem., Ala.] was the proposer of the three amendments by which it was sought to dictate the salaries of executives in institutions seeking to borrow money from the new corporation.

His first amendment would have limited salaries paid by borrowing corporations to the amount paid the vice president, or $15,000. He compared the vice president's pay with the compensation "ranging from $50,000 up to $250,000 a year which are paid by some of our great corporations."

He termed the reconstruction finance corporation a "monumental" last step in the government's invasion of private business. But since that bill had passed, he declared, the government should have the right to require institutions seeking loans to practice economy.

"It is not fair to use this bill as an instrument by which to dictate to private business what salaries shall be," objected Senator A. W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.].

"When a business comes to the government for a loan it ceases to be strictly a private concern," replied Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.].

Discuss Value of Executives.

But Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.] warned that this was no time to hamper business leaders. The country needed executives more than ever at this time, he said.

Senator Borah of Idaho supported the amendment, but Senators Copelaid [New York] and Tydings [Maryland] spoke against it.

Senator Black's first amendment was defeated, 25 to 47. He raised the limit to $50,000 and then to $100,000 but could not gain sufficient support.

Senator Shipstead [Minn.] offered amendments providing that borrowing concerns must promise not to cut wages of small salaried employés. But his amendments, too, were defeated.

The amendment passed on the recommendation of the senate appropriations committee and requiring house concurrence gives the secretary of agriculture power to administer the credit set aside for crop loans to farmers.

CEREAL RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought New Health

Every one who has suffered from constipation should read Mr. P. M. Fisher's letter:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treament, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."—Mr. P. M. Fisher, 352 Evergreen Place, Ridgewood, N. J.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to tone hte intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN supplies both—and also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

How much safer this is than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

JURY WILL PROBE LOESCH CHARGES AGAINST JUDGES

Court Orders Quiz; Names Special Prosecutor.

meeting of the commission in which among other things he made charges that certain judges have refused or evaded service in the criminal courts."

Judge Fisher then read to the jurors the statements of Mr. Loesch on this subject in which the crime commission president charged that the state constitution was being evaded because judges were not assigned in rotation to the criminal court and thereby an effective enforcement of the law against the "organized or politician-aided criminal" was prevented.

Denies Provision Exists.

Judge Fisher declared that Mr. Loesch was misconstruing the constitution, that no such provision exists. He said he "did not want to find fault with Mr. Loesch's logic," but that "any reasoning mind would agree" that the courts could be more efficiently operated with judges assigned to the criminal courts for long periods.

The judge said that the reason some judges do avoid criminal court service is because of the "common sport for the last decade of some gentlemen who pose as well intentioned" in attacking the character of judges who sit in the criminal courts. He said that a greater offender existed in this respect than the crime commission.

"Maybe it is true that the system is faulty, that politics enters into the choice of judges," continued Judge Fisher. "But I dare say that the judges of this community will compare favorably with any body of judges on the face of the earth."

The "Mountebank" Charge.

Judge Fisher then read the part of Mr. Loesch's speech in which "mountebank performances" on the bench were charged.

"Gentlemen," said Judge Fisher, "there may be inexperienced, timid and maybe even ignorant judges, but if there are subservient or mountebank judges on this bench it is another matter that ought to be investigated. If these charges are true these men should be driven from the bench and prevented from holding office in this community."

In reply to Mr. Loesch's charge that criminals are released on technicalities through writs of habeas corpus, Judge Fisher declared that the judges can only follow the law as laid down by the state Supreme court.

The "Cash Register" Judge.

Judge Fisher then read Mr. Loesch's charge about the "cash register judge" in the Municipal court.

"If there is a judge who earned that nickname because of what he actually does, then it is cowardly not to name him," said Judge Fisher. "It is not right to leave the public to guess who might be so low.

"If there is such a judge it is your [the grand jury's] duty to find out, and if there is enough proof so that he can be named publicly then there ought to be enough proof to indict him.

Immediate Inquiry Ordered.

"I instruct you to delve immediately into all the proof available without regard to who may be hit and if the evidence justifies an indictment it is your duty to bring one in.

"Your inquiry is not to be limited to this one judge. If you find evidence of corruption in any court, no matter who is affected, I want you to act on it. There can be no graver charge than corruption on the part of a judge.

"On the other hand, if no evidence exists, there is no graver charge than the maligning of judges to the extent that a large part of the public might believe such charges.

"The charge is made that the judges are responsible for the gang rule. The most cursory examination of the records will convince any one that the gangsters, with one exception, have never been brought before the trial courts. The judges have never been called on to deal with this problem."

"Judges Represent the Law."

"If this [the Loesch statement] goes unchallenged the respect for law will disappear. I hold no brief for the judges. Some of us may be ignorant, some stupid, and there may be better qualified men, but in our official capacity we represent the dignity of the law.

"If the charges are not true it is a conspiracy to slander and libel the judges as a group; it is a conspiracy to interfere with the due administration of justice. Under our law the libeling of a group, whether it be judges, bankers, preachers or carpenters, is a crime."

Asks Inquiry on Good Faith.

Judge Fisher said that the attacks from the crime commission usualy preceded a drive for funds and that the jury should take this into consideration in deciding on the good faith of the charges. He also said that the jurors should determine whether an effort is being made to substitute the judgment of the officials of the commission for the "husmane judgment" of the judges.

He declared that the judges had received no credit for the good work done in the last year in revolutioniz-

SELF-STYLED POLICE CAPTAIN IS ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF RAPE

Akron, O., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—J. N. De Hoff, secretary and captain of police for the Ohio Apprehension of Criminals Police society in Springfield township, was in jail again today. This time he was charged by a 17 year old girl, Miss Ethey Cecil of Cleveland, of having raped her.

Dehoff already faces a charge of contributing to delinquency of a minor. On this count he was arrested last week, together with Squire John Jochum, justice of the peace, in whose office the headquarters of the society were maintained.

The organization of the society and the delegation of police powers to its officers who have made liquor raids, used girl decoys, and have molested motorists on the highway, has aroused a storm of indignation here. H. Vincent Seas of Cleveland is president and, with De Hoff, runs the society, which was chartered under an old Ohio law.

De Hoff, styled as "captain" in the society, led his raiders into a roadhouse operated by Roy Moore two weeks ago, carrying guns and handcuffs, and searched the place. He used a girl to assist him in making "buys." Both Jochum and De Hoff were faced by the girl, who declared they had used her in questionable operations.

ing Criminal court procedure by Supreme court decisions.

Loesch Has No Retractions.

When informed of Judge Fisher's action Mr. Loesch said:

"I have no retractions to make. I read a report at the annual meeting of the crime commission and I will stand by that report.

"If the grand jury calls me I am ready to appear. I have nothing to withdraw."

"Are you ready to name publicly the judges you referred to as 'ignorant,' 'mountebank,' 'cash register,' and so on?" Mr. Loesch was asked.

Will Name Judges to Jury.

"No," he replied. "Let them fit themselves to the descriptions. But I certainly will reveal the names to the grand jury and I'll back up what I said."

"Do you think an open investigation, such as was had when you charged three judges with 'paltering with crime' would be more advisable in this instance than a secret grand jury investigation of the charges?" he was asked.

"Yes, I do," he replied.

"I haven't made any libel," Mr. Loesch went on. "I haven't slandered anybody. If they want to indict me or punish me I am ready to meet them. I quote from the constitution of the state of Illinois:

"'In all trials for libel, both civil and criminal, the truth, when published with good motives and for justifiable ends, shall be a sufficient defense.'

"I spoke the truth and am ready for the consequences or for any test."

TROOPS ENCIRCLE BRITISH PRISON; NEW RIOT FEARED

Officials Summon Soldiers; Probe Mutiny.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DARTMOOR, England, Jan. 25.—Dartmoor prison, scene of the most violent penal outbreak in British history yesterday when 300 convicts rioted and burned the principal buildings, is surrounded tonight by 100 soldiers from Plymouth. More troops are on their way.

A company of the Worcestershire regiment, wearing steel helmets in full battle array, sped to the prison in auto buses under the cover of darkness upon warning from prison authorities that friends of the convicts were planning an attack from outside the prison.

The soldiers immediately encircled the prison walls. Later a machine gun squad was posted on a knoll overlooking the main road from London. Three other machine guns were placed at strategic points.

High barricades were erected in all roads leading to the prison. Sentries patrolled the highways and were ordered to let none pass. All autos passing near the prison were stopped and their occupants questioned.

Authorities learned that signals had been exchanged shortly before dusk between occupants of automobiles and prisoners whose cells overlook the bleak moorland surrounding Dartmoor. It is believed that a renewal of the mutiny had been planned for a certain hour at dawn tomorrow and at the same time of the attack from the outside.

A searching investigation into the cause of yesterday's mutiny was begun today by Alexander Paterson, chief commissioner of prisoners. Many of the rioting felons were interviewed in their cells. The commissioner definitely announced that there had been no fatalities in the fighting, which lasted all day long. Twenty of the 95 wounded convicts are in the hospital.

One felon is believed to be dying from injuries sustained when he fell from the top of the prison wall to a pile of rocks 60 feet below.

The prison inmates were forced to shiver in clammy cells last night and today because the prison heating plant was wrecked during the mutiny. The yards were empty of convicts and a double guard was on duty. A pall of smoke still hung over the building destroyed by fire.

Brimming with energy—glad to be alive! Photo specially posed by Mr. Larry Regan

ONCE SKINNY —EASILY TIRED

. . . now runs upstairs two at a time!

HE KNOWS what it is to lose weight, to lose strength—to be threatened with a lifetime of ill health. His days and his nights were one long nightmare of fatigue. He couldn't even climb the stairs without resting halfway—yet today he runs up them—two at a time!

Ask this lucky fellow where he got all his pep. Ask him how he filled out his scrawny frame—put color in his sheet-white cheeks. And here's what he'll tell you:

Reveals his secret

"For years, I felt as if I were dragging a ton of bricks around with me. I couldn't walk upstairs without resting. I was always tired and discouraged and had lost weight.

"Then one day I noticed an ad on Ironized Yeast. After taking the little tablets for several weeks, I am like a new person. I have gained 11 pounds and have fresh, healthy color in my cheeks. I never had so much pep in my life. Climbing stairs is a cinch now. I gallop up them in great style—two steps at a time." Mr. Leroy Leimbach, Chief Engineer, School No. 213, Baltimore, Md. This is only one of hundreds of amazing reports from Ironized Yeast users.

A money-saving tonic

In times like these, it means dollars and cents to you to keep on the job. You can't afford to be thin and weak—to have your nerves "shot", your stomach often upset and your complexion pimply. Be smart! Let Ironized Yeast help you back to winning health and energy.

Concentrated—ironized

It takes seven pounds of specially cultured, rich "beer yeast"—specially imported from foreign breweries—to make just one pound of the yeast concentrate used in Ironized Yeast. Concentrated seven times—is it any wonder Ironized Yeast brings such quick, sure and amazing results! This concentration process is so important that the Biological Commission of the League of Nations—at an official session in Geneva, Switzerland—recommended it as a world-wide standard.

Ironizing is the second great process in making Ironized Yeast. The dried yeast concentrate is treated with three distinct kinds of iron. This strengthening tonic element helps make weak, watery blood rich and red—and sick "worn-out" tissues strong and well!

Triple-tested

Not only is Ironized Yeast manufactured by trained experts, but it is triple-tested for actual health-building results. These tests are made by our own scientists, by an eminent physician and by a professor of Bio-Chemistry in a famous medical college.

GUARANTEED: New robust health, new attractive flesh—or money back! That's the Ironized Yeast offer. Thus if the very first package does not help you as it has helped thousands—its cost will be promptly refunded. AVOID CHEAP IMITATIONS. Insist on genuine Ironized Yeast if you want real results—quick! Look for "I. Y." on each tablet. All druggists. Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga.

ARISTOCRATS GUN FOR RED REBELS IN SAN SALVADOR

Prowl Streets of Capital to Protect Republic.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The flower of Salvadorean aristocracy, armed to the teeth, prowled the streets of this capital city tonight to aid their government in stamping out the last vestiges of a so-called communist insurrection.

On the suggestion of a prominent banker, Rodolfo Duke, adult citizens were equipped with rifles and revolvers and given carte blanche to shoot any communist on sight. More than 300 sons of the first families, both foreign and native, also were armed and turned loose to snare any radicals still at large.

Martial Law in Force.

The country was still under martial law but the military junta that succeeded former President Arajo remained confident it could deal with insurgents who caused a number of deaths in their forays last week.

Two persons were slain in the town of Colon yesterday and two others, one of them a woman, were wounded by radicals. The municipal building in the town of Salcoatitan was burned and several stores and houses were burned and looted. The prompt arrival of government troops at both these points caused the attackers to flee.

U. S. Marines Stand By.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—With American and Canadian warships standing by in the port of Acajugla to send landing parties ashore if necessary to protect the lives and property of their nationals, the communistic revolution in El Salvador was reported to be still raging today.

The destroyers Phillips and Wicks, which the navy department dispatched from Panama to El Salvador Saturday at the request of American, British, and Italian diplomats, reached Acajugla at 9:30 a. m. today. The cruiser Rochester, a much slower ship, is expected to arrive there Wednesday night.

The Canadian destroyers, also ordered to tre Central American republic Saturday, were also anchored at Acajugla, the navy department said, while a British warship is known to be proceeding there at full speed. The Canadian destroyer Skeena is reported to have taken a number of woman refugees aboard.

Marines Ready to Land.

No landing parties have yet been sent ashore, the navy said, although the American destroyers carry a combined force of 59 marines. Landing parties, the department said, will not be ordered ashore until a conference with Salvadorean officials has disclosed whether or not they are necessary to protect American and foreign lives.

Advices from William J. McCafferty, American chargé d'affaires at San Salvador, stated that "assassinations of prominent people have taken place" and that an "Italian citizen was reported killed and Italian property burned at the town of Juayua."

Mr. McCafferty did not include names of the dead in his report, nor did he estimate the total number of persons killed during the three days of fighting in the interior. Unofficial reports, however, estimated that more than 1,000 persons have been killed in demonstrations over the week-end. These reports, however, lacked confirmation.

Judge Dismisses Injunction Suit Against Funeral Union

Judge Robert E. Gentzel yesterday dismissed in the Superior court the bill for injunction filed by Frank Kummerow, president of the Funeral Directors' association, seeking to restrain members of the Livery Car Chauffeurs' union from interfering with funeral processions. The matter was dismissed on a stipulation by Kummerow's counsel. The court was informed that the injunction was unnecessary, since the union last week had dropped its opposition to private cars driving in cortéges after true bills had been reported voted against several officials and members of the union.

12,000 MOSLEMS LOOT AND BURN HOMES OF HINDUS

Riot in 12 Towns; India Sends Troops.

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Lord Willingdon, viceroy of India, informed the legislative assembly today that the British government will employ all the machinery at its command to crush the all-India national congress.

As he rededicated the government to the campaign against the followers of Mahatma Gandhi, news came from the northern frontier that Moslems were taking part in an uprising against Hindus. Fighting was going on in twelve villages of Kashmir, the northernmost province of India, according to these reports.

Troops Sent to Area.

The trouble was started, dispatches said, by maulvis [Moslem teachers] from the Punjab, and 12,000 Moslems were taking part in it by looting postoffices and burning houses. A strong detachment of troops was dispatched to the area.

In his inaugural address before the Indian legislature. Lord Willingdon declared that no government worthy of the name could hesitate to accept Gandhi's bold threat to plunge India anew into civil disobedience.

"I and my government are determined to use the full resource of the state in fighting and defeating a movement which would otherwise remain a perpetual menace to orderly government and individual liberty," he said.

Will Keep Emergency Ordinances.

The viceroy asserted the Nationalists had used the Delhi truce, negotiated by Lord Irwin, former viceroy, and the mahatma, as a cloak for further preparations for undermining the present government.

The emergency ordinances aimed at breaking the Nationalist campaign will not be modified in any way while the political situation makes it necessary to enforce them, he declared. Despite reports to the contrary, Lord Willingdon continued, the country's economic, financial and agricultural situation is as bright as that of any other nation.

He stoutly defended the government's policy of urging the export of gold, saying India's trade abroad was greatly benefited thereby, and the country's credit materially strengthened in foreign markets.

Gen. Foreman to Observe His 69th Birthday Today

Lieut. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, retired, will observe another birthday today. He will report for work as usual at his law office. No celebration of any kind is planned, he said, except the annual custom of an evening call at his apartment, 1367 North State street, by friends. "I am old enough to be retired from the army," the general said, "but a bit young to give interviews on my birthday. If you must know I am to be 69 years old."

Cut Through 17 Inch Wall and Rob Bank of $17,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Bank robbers chopped a hole through the roof and then drilled through a steel and concrete wall 17 inches wide last night to rob a branch of the Bank of America. The robbers escaped with $17,000.

Cost $2,000,000

Charles S. Dewey, former financial adviser to Poland, was elected president of the International House of Chicago last night. The house, now in process of construction at 59th street and Blackstone avenue, was established by John D. Rockefeller Jr.

Other officers named were Mrs. William G. Hibbard, vice president; Paul S. Russell, treasurer, and James M. Stifler, secretary. The election of all was by the group of twenty-five Chicagoans who comprise the board. The board, established by the University of Chicago, will administer the house.

Members of the board announced last night are: Graham Aldis, Lester Armour, Mrs. William Bush, Henry Chandler, Mr. Dewey, Miss Naomi Donnelley, L. A. Downs, Victor Elting, Charles W. Gilkey, C. B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Hibbard, Edward C. Jenkins, Clay Judson, James Keeley, Mrs. George McKibben, Ira Nelson Morris, Mr. Russell, J. P. Simonds, Ernest J. Stevens, Mr. Stifler, Silas Strawn, Merle J. Trees, George A. Works, Leo Wormser and Mrs. Quincy Wright.

The International House is being built at a cost exceeding $2,000,000. When completed it will be the third of its kind in the country, and like the other two, established by Mr. Rockefeller. The purpose of the house is to provide a residence and club center for foreign students in the thirty-five institutions of higher education in the metropolitan area. About 500 will be accommodated.

'MARK TWAIN' IS BARGE TOWBOAT WITH "BIG PULL"

Jeffersonville, Ind., Jan. 25.—(AP)—A compact chunk of steel that will push more Mississippi river freight than Mark Twain ever dreamed possible, was given his name here today. In his old river town, that turned out river packets in the days of the famous author himself, the new government vessel was formally christened by Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, wife of the secretary of war.

Of all-steel construction it is 169 feet long, 42 feet beam and draws only four feet of water. Its oil burning engines are backed up by two 500 horse power steam engines. It carries a crew of fourteen, and its home port will be New Orleans.

Built for the Inland Waterways corporation, the powerful vessel will push barges up and down the Mississippi. It can propel from 12,000 to 15,000 tons of freight in its string of barges.

Four men and two girls charged with the slaying of Policeman James J. The defendants are Marcella Royce, 17 years old; Dorothy Evans, 16; Frank Freeman, Jack Burlison, Tony Pape, and Nicholas Bruno. The contempt of court citation against John A. Hickey, 69 years old, alleged to have represented himself as being able to fix the case for the Royce girl, was continued until tomorrow by Chief Justice Harry Fisher.

JUDD JURY HEARS A 'CONFESSION' FOUND IN SEWER

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Winnie Ruth Judd's own story of the killing of her two best friends was placed in evidence in her murder trial late today.

Written in pencil on telegraph blanks, her "confession" to her husband was retrieved from the plumbing of a Los Angeles department store the day after her arrest last fall.

It told how she shot and killed Agnes Anne Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson before shipping their bodies to Los Angeles in trunks as baggage and advanced her first plea of self defense.

Renewal of this defense in court already has been handicapped by state witnesses who have testified the dual slaying victims were killed by bullets from a gun held against their heads.

Mrs. Judd's letter to her husband, written after she had eluded officers for days, was never delivered to him. She changed her mind and sought to destroy it. Carl E. Riley, Los Angeles department store engineer, testified today he obtained it from pipes in the women's rest room of the store, in pieces.

J. Clark Sellers, California handwriting expert, told how he pieced together the nine sheets, then identified the writing as that of Mrs. Judd.

His comparison was made with a receipt written by the "trunk slayer" for a pair of pajamas delivered to her as a Christmas present in the county jail here last month.

With Sellers' testimony the state's case against Mrs. Judd, on trial for the murder of Mrs. Le Roi only, was drawing near its close. Witnesses were sent across the stand in rapid succession as County Attorney Lloyd J. Andrews drove towards the climax of his presentation of circumstantial evidence.

Tried to Borrow Car.

John Rolston, contractor, told the jury late today that Mrs. Judd had tried, late in the afternoon of Friday, Oct. 16, to borrow his automobile, "so she could take two girls riding." He refused the loan, he said, but drove Mrs. Judd to her home at 6 o'clock, less than five hours before the prosecution claims Mrs. Judd killed the two pretty women who had been her most intimate friends.

Gertrude Wilcox, a maid who worked periodically in the Le Roi-Samuelso . home, told in which beds the two women customarily had slept. Her testimony helped support the state's contention the fatal shots were fired by Mrs. Judd while standing between their twin beds.

Spencer B. Moxley, ballistics expert, testified that a .25 caliber shell found on the floor of Mrs. Judd's bedroom had been fired from the snub nosed automatic he earlier told the jury had killed Miss Samuelson and Mrs. Le Roi. The gun was carried to Los Angeles by Mrs. Judd.

Jealousy Called Motive.

Two party friends of Mrs. Judd—Lucille Moore, nurse, and Mrs. Arthur Lepker, wife of a prize fighter—will take the stand tomorrow to close the state's case.

Through these two witnesses the prosecutor expects to establish jealousy over a man as the motive for the killing of Mrs. Leroi and Miss Samuelson, and to show that Mrs. Judd had made threats of violence prior to the time the two women were slain.

The Moore girl, who fled Phoenix shortly after the "trunk murders" were revealed, was returned for the trial. Mrs. Lepker's last appearance in court was to see her husband sentenced to the penitentiary recently for second degree murder after the desert killing of a friend.

Court Crowds Increase.

Crowds were increasing at the Maricopa county courthouse today as the state heard what is expected to be the high point of its case—revelations of motive.

More spectators than has been usual were crowded into the small courtroom. In midafternoon Judge Howard C. Speakman halted the trial when a woman moaned and slid to the floor at the back of the room.

She was carried out a side door by bailiffs who passed beside Mrs. Judd.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

LESSONS FROM THE FAR EAST.

With Japan landing more soldiers in the principal city of China and increasing its flotilla at that port, which is the gateway to China's new capital, the two chief ministers of the government lately formed are reported to have resigned and the rivalry between the two factions of the Nationalist party seems to have intensified. In spite of Chinese alarm and indignation at foreign aggression, its extension has not brought about unity in resistance but increased discord and confusion.

This has been the fatal weakness of China through the years since the fall of the empire. It is evident that Japanese policy relies upon it. Chinese nationalism has lacked the practical judgment we associate with Chinese character and has wasted its strength on internal squabbling among its leaders and in perpetual civil wars. It has shown more concern over differences with foreign governments over extraterritoriality and trade treaties than over the problems of internal harmony and organization.

During the year 1931 China suffered from floods which directly affected, it was estimated, at least fifty million people. A statement of the national flood relief commission reports that millions of Chinese are homeless and a large proportion utterly destitute. Besides the large number of drowned, disease has taken a heavy toll, and famine during the coming spring will claim many more. Tens of millions took refuge in the homes on higher ground and others are living in temples, schools, mission compounds and in concentration camps. A season's crops and most farm stock and implements in the flooded districts have been swept away, and hundreds of thousands of buildings ruined or destroyed. Dikes, roads and public works have been wiped out. The acreage included is estimated to be about twice that reached by the Mississippi flood of 1927, but the loss of life and property has been much greater.

Aid and supplies have been contributed from many foreign agencies, and the Chinese government and relief associations have also been active. The commission in its appeal for more contributions describes the floods as the greatest natural calamity of modern times. But whether that superlative is justified or not, it is a calamity which has had many predecessors. Vast flood disasters are recurrent in China, and it is significant of the nationalist movement since the fall of the Manchus that it has been so preoccupied with its sense of comparatively minor wrongs such as are alleged to exist in unequal treaties and extraterritoriality, to say nothing of its factional wars, that major problems and domestic disasters like flood prevention and relief have been thrust into the background. Compared to these problems even the aggressions of Russia and Japan in the north are of small moment, yet we hear of great turbulence among Chinese youth over these events, but nothing of any like concern over the far greater misfortune of the floods.

This is a consideration which will not paralyze the impulse of philanthropy, but it cannot fail to put some check upon it, especially at a time when other peoples are in great difficulties and need about all the resources available to them for the relief of their own sufferings. But it would be well if the leaders of Chinese modernism and the more substantial elements of the nation should direct their emotion and their patriotic activities to the accomplishment of internal peace and order and refuse to be distracted by lesser evils as they have been. China has great resources and its people are possessed of qualities capable of mastering the conditions which afflict them. What has been lacking is a sense of proportion and a comprehension of the essential needs of peace and constructive effort. National pride, exhibited in Chinese resentment against foreign interests and privileges, is understandable and commendable in itself. But it should not be permitted, by a people practical as the Chinese are, to obscure the essentials of national strength and progress. Such wrongs as actually are imposed upon China by foreign self-interest, taken even at Chinese estimate, can best be removed by the solution of vital internal problems created and maintained by conditions for which the Chinese are themselves responsible.

Meanwhile there is a lesson for the people of the United States in the Chinese-Japanese conflict. Japan is proceeding coolly and deliberately to exploit the opportunity which Chinese disorder and futility and the preoccupation of other governments with their own acute problems have given her. She has not allowed her statecraft to be confused or her sense of national self-interest to be weakened by pacifist theories or by the pretentious gestures of what is called internationalism. She has concentrated her strength to accomplish definite ends, flouting the league of nations and with ironic politeness trading diplomatic phrases with the United States. She knows that with the governments of Europe and the United States on the verge of bankruptcy her hands are free as they have never been at any time since her entrance into world politics, and, while we are sending a solemn delegation and committee of pacifist ladies to Europe on the wild goose chase of disarmament, she goes her way. Her navy is rapidly overtaking our own, and while congress prepares to cut our little army down she perfects and employs one of the strongest in the world.

HAWAII CONFESSES.

The action of the Hawaiian legislature in creating a new police commission and the action of the commission in notifying all members of the police department that they are on probation for a year are highly significant. Both measures are confessions of past incompetence. The new commission would not have been appointed had there been any reason to think the previous administration of the department had been performing its duties capably and could stand the kind of inquiry to which it was likely to be subjected; and if the individual members of the department were of a sort to warrant confidence they would not have been placed on probation to a man.

It is becoming increasingly evident that the crimes against women in Hawaii went unpunished because of laxity in the police department. Under the circumstances it was altogether inevitable that the protection of life and honor would revert to private hands. It is one thing to resort to private justice where there is a competent public authority, fully able to detect and punish rapists, but it is quite another thing to resort to private justice when the public authority folds its hands in the presence of atrocious crimes.

If the police and prosecuting officials had been performing their duties capably the offense charged against Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Massie and the two enlisted men would have been difficult to justify except in terms of an unrestrained passion for blood vengeance. As it was, their action was the only alternative to anarchy and the degradation of civilized standards of behavior on American soil.

LADIES IN POLITICS.

Señora Margarite Robles de Mendoza, Mexican feminist, visiting in Washington, says that women, politically, are in the awkward stage. They have not learned how to handle themselves. They are, she says, at a loss when the occasion requires poise, self-confidence and quick wits. It is improbable that Señora Mendoza has looked over the scene as thoroughly as she should.

Male politicians have been reduced to inarticulate sputtering in trying to do anything to the eighteenth amendment, but a lady politician, Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, formerly a government prosecutor, now attorney for the California grape industry, threw wine bricks through the Volstead act into the cellar of the modest American home. Al Smith, astute and popular male in politics, did not get away from home plate, but Mrs. Willebrandt took the department of justice in one stride and the prohibition bureau in another.

Apparently Mrs. Willebrandt has brought even Dr. Clarence True Wilson, the Rev. Dr. Harry Bowlby and Bishop James Cannon Jr. to accept the Volsteady purity of the California product which will sun kiss the bald spot on the consumer's head. That's political astuteness. It's knowing the way about. For further light on the competence of the ladies the fair Mexican might observe the case of Mrs. Myrtle Blacklidge, former collector of internal revenue in Chicago, and of Mr. Edward Litsinger of the board of review. Mr. Litsinger has been long active in politics and was thought to know his own way about, but his friends concede that he never had a chance.

If the ladies are to be regarded as having arrived only at their awkward state in politics the men might as well reconcile themselves to doing the chores. That is all they'll have a chance at in the near future. It will soon be Mme. President.

Editorial of the Day

NERVE.

[New York Daily News.]

One of the city's better and more desirable projects is the plan to complete Grant's tomb. Our greatest general's last resting place, at Riverside drive and 123d street, needs a fringe of trees, a more solid looking base, some bas-reliefs, and, above all, a statue of the general on the great plaza in front of the tomb.

We believe a few words ought to be said about that statue. The Grant Monument association, headed by Gen. James G. Harbord, is negotiating with Paul Manship, noted sculptor, for the making of the statue. What the association has in mind is a statue of Gen. Grant on horseback, an equestrian piece like the gold-leafed Sheridan statue at 59th street and 5th avenue.

In our opinion, a better suggestion has been put forward and ought to have the Grant Monument association's serious attention.

Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and a deep student of the history of the civil war, says the statue should depict Grant as he really was during his fighting career, not as conventional art would picture him.

During the crucial phases of his great battles Grant spent practically no time at all on horseback, or in full dress uniform, or flourishing a sword. In the terrible two day Battle of the Wilderness, for example, he was seated most of the time on a tree stump near a telegraph instrument, cigar in mouth, coat and collar open, receiving dispatches and sending orders, and, altogether, giving a historic exhibition of iron nerve in the face of threatened calamity.

Why not a statue of Gen. Grant in that pose?

Abandon the artificial heroics of the equestrian statue. Show in bronze the true heroism of that living rock of a man, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. A statue like that would not be just another statue. It would be a work of twentieth century art which would be talked of and, we believe, admired throughout the modern world. It would be in the realistic style of most of the statues which have grown out of the world war—statues of doughboys, sailors; real men with such real war instruments as guns, hand grenades, gas masks. People, by the way, really look at those statues.

And in portraying the steady, cold nerve which was Grant's greatest characteristic such a statue would be dramatically fitting in the days through which we are passing now. We need the U. S. Grant kind of nerve in these times, whose real nature and real trend nobody knows.

To repeat, we believe the patriotic and farseeing Grant Monument association can do nothing better than seriously to consider this suggestion advanced by Col. McCormick.

A MAN WHO—

The south says that before it can indorse the presidential aspirations of Gov. Roosevelt he must show his hand, and especially how he stands on prohibition, the tariff, and foreign affairs. The south is very naïve. It is enough, or at least it always has been enough, for a candidate to be "A MAN WHO." Somebody gets up at the convention and says he is A MAN WHO—believes America the greatest country on God's green footstool! (Frantic cheers.) A MAN WHO—loves his fellow man! (Cheers and demonstration.) A MAN WHO—is a one hundred per cent American! (Delegates march around the hall singing "Oh, say, can you see?") A MAN WHO—goes to church on Sunday! (Renewed demonstration, and the home state delegation carries the state banners fifteen times around the hall.) A MAN WHO—is kind to his wife! (Ten minutes of frantic cheering, during which many of the delegates break down and weep like children.) A MAN WHO—is all things to all men! (This just knocks the convention flat, and the bands join in and march with the delegates around and around the hall.) A MAN WHO—was born in a log cabin! (Gosh! That just lays the delegates out in heaps. Chairman faints and the cheering keeps up for an hour and fifteen minutes.)

And yet the south asks a political candidate to get away from the "A MAN WHO" and show his hand and tell exactly what he believes and just where he stands on all of the great issues of the day. The south is nertz.

SONNETS IN A SEQUENCE.

IX.

You, too, great sea, before whose chainless stride
I stood and heard my heart, too hardly pressed,
Pleading and crying out against my side,
I have forsaken for a small unrest;
The hushing ebb of comforted desire,
A mossy roof to shut me in above,
A tidy hearth to hold my only fire.
How am I sunk in all forgetfulness
Of rise and fall and lift and ebb and flow
In this soft spot among whose silences
Is naught to do but watch the bright sails go—
To whom the wind, the water, and the flame
Bear but one challenge, speak one breathless name!

It's all quite mixed up, but at any rate we shall sternly oppose a tax on burglary, auto stealing, and murder.

SHOES FOR COMFORT.

THE ladies should be willing to heed one of their number who has spent five years studying the feet of women. Katherine Taylor Cranor and her associates have been studying the feet of girls in the State Agricultural college of Iowa. Among her conclusions are:

"The feet of only one girl were in good condition.

"Practically every girl had some arch trouble.

"Corns, bunions, and crooked toes were general.

"There were no perfect feet among the 151 college girls.

"Foot trouble is almost universal among women."

These Iowa girls do not complain that this report is libelous, for they know that all other women of their social level have about the same kind of feet.

Miss Cranor's advice to women, given in Hygeia, relates almost altogether to shoes. The deformities of the feet she reports on resulted from the kind of shoes the women wore, including their size and shape. Some of the points made were:

The shoe should be sufficiently broad to allow the toes of the foot to spread when the person is standing or walking.

[I am convinced that the biggest mistake made in selection of shoes relates to narrowness. If the shoe is too narrow at the front end the bones are crowded out of position and bunions and calluses result. If the tips are too narrow corns and ingrowing nails result.]

The tip of the shoe should extend three-fourths of an inch beyond the tip of the great toe.

The heels should not be more than three-fourths of an inch high. If a woman has been wearing high heels, however, she must not change suddenly to a very low heeled shoe or one that has no heel. To do this will cause pains in the calf of the leg. The adjustment should be made gradually.

Arch supports are merely crutches for ruined feet. A foot in good condition does not need support. If a person must wear an arch support, the one chosen should be appropriate to the needs of the particular foot. A person with such a crippled foot should exercise the foot muscles in the hope of overcoming the need of arch supports.

If the feet are in good condition and the shoes are properly fitted there is no reason why a new pair of shoes should be uncomfortable.

Footprints give only a limited amount of information as to the condition of the feet and help only to a limited extent in the fitting of shoes.

At present the majority of women give little consideration to comfort or health when purchasing shoes. Style seems to be the chief consideration.

I would like to add that men's feet are nothing to brag about.

And, finally, that the custom of walking and of going in swimming barefooted in the presence of observers of both sexes will do more to cause people to wear proper shoes than will all the lecturing and preaching.

WEST SIDE MEDICAL CENTER.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Friend of the People.]—I have a piece of property on Paulina street, near Harrison, in the hospital district. They are going to build a park on that ground. Kindly let me know whether the state, city, or county will do the building and in what stage this project is at present. W. B. E.

The West Side Medical center is in the preliminary stage, no definite action having as yet been taken or recommendation made by any official body. At the last session of the Illinois state legislature the sum of $25,000 was appropriated to the department of public welfare to be used to defray the expenses of the Chicago Plan commission in making a survey and study of the situation and the recommendation of a definite plan for a medical center. This appropriation was contingent upon the making of a similar appropriation by the Cook county commissioners, which latter appropriation has not as yet been made. Before a plan has been adopted it is not possible to say what governmental agency would create the medical center, whether or not bond issues would have to be voted, or how long it would take the project to materialize.

1. If she intended to take advantage of this fact she should have acted more promptly. We doubt if she can secure a decree on the facts that you state.

MUST PROVE DAMAGE.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A sells his automobile to B, a used car dealer, who improves the outward appearance of same and turns the speedometer back 15,000 miles. B then sells the car to C. Has C any legal comeback on B on account of misrepresentation in so far as the mileage is concerned? R. G. M.

The Illinois Supreme court in Leonard vs. Springer, 197 Illinois 532, approved the following language from 1 Bigelow "Fraud," page 467. "Any conduct capable of being turned into a statement of fact is a representation. There is no distinction between misrepresentations effected by words and misrepresentations effected by other acts." The question would remain as to how far the misrepresentation was material and what damage you could prove.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

This nation has had other serious financial depressions, as the following excerpts from The Tribune files reveal. Each of these periods of hard times has been followed by periods of great prosperity.

New York, Oct. 17.—This was a day of fluctuations in Wall street and stocks opened weakly. Later there was some buoyancy which was succeeded by another drop. No failures were announced and this tended greatly to promote confidence. In explanation of the sudden rise in Vanderbilt stocks a number of rumors are afloat, among them one of an alleged sale of $10,000,000 worth of Vanderbilt specialties to London bankers.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 17.—An effort is being made to get up a meeting of the St. Louis Clearing house for the purpose of considering the question of resuming currency payments. The daily papers are persistently urging resumption.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 17.—The Groton mills will soon be run on half time and other manufacturers are considering adopting the same course.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Entire unanimity prevailed among the bankers of Chicago as to the repeal of the silver purchase act. All agreed it will have an excellent effect in restoring confidence. Lyman J. Gage of the First National bank said that the repeal will be hailed by financial and business interests all over the country with the greatest satisfaction. H. F. Ames of the Commercial National bank declared the repeal will accomplish all that is expected of it in restoring confidence in the stability of the American financial affairs. He said it is to be deplored that the repeal of the silver purchase act was not accomplished months ago when it would have made a great difference to the country and especially would have brought the financial stringency to a close much sooner. Others who expressed the same view were John J. P. Odell, Philip D. Armour, John C. Black, and W. F. Dummer.

New York, May 2.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, placing the issue on a 6 per cent per annum basis. The previous disbursement was 3½ per cent, Nov. 30 last.

1913.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 26, 1916.

LONDON.—Great Britain is facing a crisis over the problem of tightening the blockade against Germany and Austria. The Swedish premier's warning in parliament at Stockholm that neutrality cannot survive continued infringement of their rights is taken here, of course, as a threat to Great Britain that a tightening of the blockade may result in Sweden's entrance into the war as an ally of Germany. This has intensified the interest here in the blockade.

BERLIN.—The Templar tower and the cathedral at Nieuport, says the German official statement, have been destroyed by German artillery fire, as it was offering an excellent observation post. Berlin also claims to have made some advance in various sectors, but the French say the Germans were driven back.

LONDON.—Russians in their drive on the Turks at Erzerum have taken many prisoners, machine guns, and enormous quantities of ammunition, according to an official statement. The British lost 6,000 dead, wounded, and missing in their futile effort to relieve Kut-El-Amara.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 26, 1902.

CHICAGO.—The body of H. Stanley Davies, dramatic instructor of the Chicago Auditorium conservatory, was carried in a cab to his home, 4112 Vincennes avenue, from 18th street, without the driver, James Mack, being aware that his fare was dead.

CHICAGO.—The city extended a welcome to Rear Admiral Schley that left the "Hero of Santiago" in no doubt as to Chicago's feelings toward him. From the time his train arrived at the Grand Central station at 9:30 o'clock until he retired last night he was welcomed with cheers, hand clasps and hearty words of esteem every time he appeared in public. The climax of the day's entertainment came with a banquet at the Auditorium hotel.

CHICAGO.—John Alonzo Pearsons, Evanston's oldest settler and brother of D. K. Pearsons, the philanthropist, died of pneumonia after an illness of two days, at the age of 83. For 47 years Mr. Pearsons' life had been interwoven with the history of Evanston. He built the first frame house there, established the first express service between there and Chicago and was instrumental in the construction of the first church in the town which was then almost a wilderness. He was prominent in the development of Northwestern university, and was one of the founders of the Des Plaines camp meeting.

PROPAGANDA.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—A few days ago the writer happened to be the recipient of a pamphlet sent by, or at least mailed under the franking privilege of, the Hon. Gerald P. Nye, and containing verbatim quotations from Henry George's "Progress and Poverty," besides eulogies of that "God-sent" reformer and interpolated remarks by one Will Atkinson. The document pretends to have been inserted in the Congressional Record appendix (the so-called "rathole") by unanimous consent, by Senator Nye, April 30, 1930.

While for substantial reasons the now fifty year old Henry George recipe for curing economic ills by confiscation of land values never gained practical importance, nevertheless the author's clever appeal, his evident sincerity and sympathy for the underfoot, his flaming words and visionary prophecies, were widely acclaimed and propagated by cults here and abroad. Ordinarily just able to keep office fires burning, in times of distress, when old and new radicalistic nostrums swarm forth like flies in August, the disciples of "Georgeism" become busy, and so at length have succeeded in smuggling their credenda into the Congressional Record at public expense—$40 per page.

And although the resulting document bears the imprint "Not printed at public expense," evidently the particular forms of the Congressional Record have been put to gratis disposal for the purpose of producing this pamphlet, the cost of which, therefore, is limited to the items of paper and press run, while, thanks to the subserviency of Senator Nye, the government supplies franked envelopes free of charge and distribution is negotiated by postal service and paid for by taxpayers.

Under present conditions, when government economy is sorely needed and widely demanded, it would seem high time for plugging the vicious congressional "rathole" and ending government subsidized cultist propaganda of one kind or another. C. B.

A BEAR.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—I have been reading the articles of Fred Harvey of your financial staff and have noticed for a long time that he is nothing else but a man representing the destructive bears of the stock market. He is a detriment to your paper and is hindering the return of prosperity. Every article he writes is destructive to the return of prosperity.

A. LAMB.

THE DOCENT'S PAY.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—In Cincinnati the Ohio Mechanics' institute conducts a school of lithography, but the cost of the school, except the space allotted to it, is paid by the lithographing houses of Cincinnati. I was a trustee of the institute, and we found that each graduate was assured of a position before leaving. It would be a fine thing if the art stores of Chicago could pay for guides in the art institute who by intelligent talks would help not only school children, but adults as well, to understand the real essence of artistic things, and why one is preferred to another, and why some works live forever and other are fads and die. T. C. POWELL.

THE ETHICS OF EVICTION.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—I would like to ask why a small property owner is considered so heartless when, after waiting six or nine months or maybe a year for his little bit of rent, he evicts his tenant, while rich and prosperous concerns like the Commonwealth Edison company and the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company are considered right in turning off the light when bills are not paid at the end of a month. M. F.

1.9 TIN CUPS.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—I notice by this morning's TRIBUNE that the board of education has purchased 1.9 tin pails for each janitor in the school system. Why would it not be a good idea for the board to furnish 1.9 tin cups per teacher, so that they might parade up and down State street and collect their salaries?

JOHN JONES.

HIGH FUNERAL LIVERY RATES.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—It might be a good idea to find out why the membership of the Auto Livery Chauffeurs' union (local 727), whose members drive the funeral cars, has dropped from 1,200 to 250, according to W. J. Kerrigan, the president of this union.

The truth of the matter is that funeral livery rates have been boosted so high that the average person cannot afford to hire a car and when attending a funeral either uses his own car or rides with a friend. For instance, from 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue to Oakwoods cemetery (67th street and Greenwood avenue), a distance of about one mile, the charge for a funeral car is $16.50. This trip can easily be made in an hour on two gallons of gasoline. Rates to other cemeteries range from $16.50 to $30, according to the distance.

UNEMPLOYED MEMBER.

A PROPHECY.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The greatest mistake business ever made was when he assumed that, with one-third of his customers permanently doomed to work without wages, he could attain permanent prosperity by continuously boosting the wages of the other two-thirds. This brought the greatest, the widest, the longest depression the country has ever known. And the pity of it is that the wise ones are still searching the text books to find the cause and cure.

Every man employed even at 10 cents an hour might spell prosperity, but half the workers employed at a dollar and a half per hour can never spell prosperity and may spell ruin.

Agricultural overproduction is a result and not a cause of the farmer's plight. Doubling his prices would reduce the surplus—the agricultural surplus, the automobile surplus, and the oil and gas surplus.

The legitimate demands of labor unions and the racketeering demands of the business agents (the original racketeers) double and treble building cost in Cook county, resulting in excessive valuation of real estate. High wages was a main cause of high taxes.

Falling prices is the only true sign of returning prosperity. All other signs so often and so loudly hailed by experts have proved false.

Chicago and the United States are now the slaves of the American Federation of Labor. Witness the recent movie operators' dispute. Every person in Chicago knew there would be bombings when the owners reopened, yet none were caught and after 15 bombings the owners, who had nothing to arbitrate, were forced by pressure both from the unions and from the mayor.

Present debts, if ever paid, must be paid in a much higher priced money than existed when these debts were contracted.

This is my prophecy.

W. W. LAWRENCE.

AN EXPERT ON ALIBIS.

Matteson, Ill., Jan. 12.—Now if I were married and wanted to step out I'd go right on and do it and have a good time and never worry about the wife or what she would say when I got home because just before going home I'd go to our local weather guesser and have him fix up an alibi for me. Just think of all the good alibis he makes up because nine times out of ten when he tells us about the weather for the following day he is wrong, but he is always able to smooth it over with a perfect excuse. SKINNY.

BROOKHART.

New Hampton, Ia., Jan. 18.—You call our Senator Brookhart a radical, a Socialist. Senator Moses calls him a son of a wild donkey, or something of that sort. But our Iowa senator is very useful to the Republicans.

In 1928 he led the sheep to a fleecing, the birds to a plucking, the fish to the desert. And, believe it or not, he led men and women of the prairie states into the corral of the G. O. P.

He is "off the reservation" just now; but soon after the Republican convention you will find him sitting on the topmost branch of your plum tree.

YOU ARE GOING TO READ A LOT ABOUT VALUES IN 1932

VALUES will coax consumers' dollars from their hiding. Values will send merchants into the markets again. Values will start factory wheels turning, and relieve unemployment.

From motors to knick-knacks, values are greater and costs are lower than memory recalls.

Inventory losses have been written off; pessimism has run its course.

Courageous advertising and strong sales programs will convince America that the turn has been reached.

Your daily newspaper will play an important role in this general recovery. It reaches so many people, in so intimate a way.

In it merchant or maker may link his own news of values with the vital news of the day.

With it manufacturer may plan his sales attack, market by market, watching cost and result as he goes.

Because of it sales plans may be changed over night as weather, fashion or local conditions dictate.

By its use retailers may be won over to aggressive selling of your product.

Forceful newspaper advertising of real values or service can sway America from hoarding to spending, from fear to confidence.

The Philadelphia Bulletin's own sales program in 1932 calls for continuous advertising of the Philadelphia Market .... of The Bulletin's eighty-nine per cent. coverage of Philadelphia homes.

616 MILLION NAVY BILL FOUNDERS IN DEPRESSION BOG

House Group Votes Not to Report Measure Now.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The Vinson 616 million dollar warship authorization bill foundered today upon the shoals of disarmament, pacifism and "abnormal economic conditions."

FREDERICK HALE. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

By a count of 18 to 0 the house naval affairs committee indorsed the Vinson measure, but voted not to recommend it to the house for passage at this time. The net effect of this move, which was dictated by house Democratic leaders, virtually was to kill all chances of passage of naval legislation needed to start the fleet on the way to London treaty proportions at this session of congress.

Vinson Vague Regarding Bill.

Without the support of the naval affairs committee, no new naval legislation would have a ghost of a chance of being approved by the Democratic controlled house. Chairman Carl Vinson [Dem., Ga.] of the committee, was vague regarding when if ever his bill or any other bill authorizing the construction of new warships would be reported favorably to the house for action. All indications were that no warship authorization bill would be acted on at this session of congress.

Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, expressed surprise when advised of the action of the house committee. He said he would make every effort to have his bill, carrying a blanket authorization for all ships needed to bring the fleet up to London naval treaty proportions, reported out by his committee and acted on favorably in the senate.

Wants London Treaty Navy.

In view of the known hostility of President Hoover to any move to enact new warship legislation passage of the Hale bill in the senate is problematical. With house leaders on record as opposed to any new authorization legislation except that of the most urgent character the Hale bill would have little chance there.

After saying it had endorsed the Vinson bill and that the committee was "convinced that the welfare and security of the nation demanded that the navy be built up to the limitations prescribed by the London and Washington treaties," the house committee approved of the following statement:

"In view, however, of the very abnormal economic conditions which now confront us at home and abroad and in the hope that some substantial results may be achieved at Geneva, the committee in agreement with the chairman has voted—for the time being—not to report the bill to the house."

Britten Urges Tax on Beer.

Shortly after the committee opened its executive session Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] told the members that President Hoover was irrevocably opposed to the bill and in fact to any new warship legislation at this time. He suggested then that the committee adopt a motion financing the construction of the new warships by levying a tax on beer. He stated later that five members out of twenty present supported his motion.

DELTA CITY FIGHTS RISING TORRENT OF MISSISSIPPI FLOOD

New Orleans, La., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The thriving city of Belzoni, in the Mississippi delta, tonight is feverishly throwing up emergency dikes of sandbags to save it from the onrushing flood waters pouring through new levee breaks above. Work on the main levees has been abandoned in the work of saving the city from inundation.

And over in Louisiana, around Monroe, the flood waters continue rising, with more than 900 families driven from their homes to safety on the higher ground. Red Cross and coast guard not only are engaged in rescue work, but are supplying food and shelter and aid to the doctors battling against epidemic.

Six Mississippi counties have felt the wrath of the flood, which many declare will be more disastrous than the flood of 1927.

The Louisiana situation is clearing up with the water almost at a standstill, but with damage already done. A dozen villages around Shreveport and Monroe have been hit by the water and most of West Monroe has been evacuated.

NEW COLD WAVE DAMAGES FRUIT IN CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Abnormal cold early today in southern California was reported to have done large damage to the citrus fruit crop. Inspectors and weather bureau officials announced a belief that 75 per cent of the grape fruit crop had been injured.

In Los Angeles the minimum temperature last night was 43 degrees, but in some parts of the citrus belt the mercury fell below 22 degrees and growers resorted to smudging to save their fruit. The smoke from the smudges hung over the city like a pall.

The worst effects of the cold occurred in the Imperial valley, which is one of the hottest places in the United States in summer. Peas and tomatoes were reported damaged in the fields, but the extent of the loss has not been determined. Calexico's temperature of 21.5 degrees was the lowest in six years.

A low of 21 was registered at San Bernardino. Nearer the coast the readings were somewhat higher, Pomona reporting 27 and Riverside 26. The lowest in the Valencia citrus area near Anaheim was 32 degrees.

At Phoenix, Ariz., the lowest temperature of the winter, 27 degrees, was noted, and at Tucson the minimum was 20.

LAVAL PROPOSES NEW DEBT PLAN; LEAVES U. S. OUT

Would Extend Moratorium Until After Elections.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Premier Laval proposed a temporary plan today for a short moratorium on Germany's reparations payments to be followed by an effort to solve the problem without calling for American aid.

His suggestion was made in a conversation with Lord Tyrrell, British ambassador. It calls for a moratorium on reparations until after the American elections. The moratorium would expire before Dec. 15, when the next French payment to the United States is due.

After the French elections in May and before expiration of the new moratorium a conference would be called at Lausanne or elsewhere to negotiate a permanent agreement. Such a plan would be in line with the American attitude that Germany's reparations creditors agree among themselves before the question of adjusting war debts is broached.

Awaits London Reaction.

Under the Laval plan, payment of unconditional reparations installments would bem ade to the World bank at Basel and loaned back to Germany, as under the present Hoover moratorium, which expires next June 30. It was understood the premier suggested that France and Great Britain try to reach an agreement at the expiration of the proposed new moratorium as to the amount Germany is to pay.

The proposal was regarded here as a step toward an interview between Premier Laval and Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain next week. An answer was awaited from London tonight.

The French cabinet will meet tomorrow to go over the reparations situation. The foreign office believes that an interview between the heads of the French and British governments could be held within a short time and a provisional arrangement made for putting the reparations question strictly upon a European basis.

Expect Britain to Agree.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The French plan for temporary settlement of the reparations problem by granting a new moratorium for a short period on German payments at the end of the Hoover holiday was expected tonight to be favorably received here. The British government has been urging some such short moratorium after the expiration of the Hoover holiday.

If coöperation is obtained from Germany, which has urged a permanent settlement based on its declared inability to pay reparations any longer, it was thought that the postponed international debts conference, which was to have met at Lausanne today, might still be held.

SHERIDAN TRUST PAYMENT NEAR FOR DEPOSITORS

A payment of 10 to 20 per cent will probably be declared soon for the benefit of depositors in the closed Sheridan Trust and Savings bank. This was indicated yesterday in Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg's court where an investigation is being conducted to disclose hidden assets of the bank.

Judge Feinberg instructed Attorney Edward Johnston to arrange for the early issuance of a payment to depositors. No figure was given as to how much the payment might be; but, judging from the amount of money in the receiver's hands, lawyers said it would probably be between 10 and 20 per cent.

The Morgan Park Trust and Savings bank, Longwood drive and 111th street, was closed yesterday by State Auditor Nelson at request of the board of directors. The bank has capital of $200,000, surplus of $55,000, and deposits of $600,000. On June 30, 1930, it had deposits of $1,500,000.

The Joliet Trust and Savings bank of Joliet was also closed yesterday. The bank was capitalized at $100,000 and its deposits in a statement as of Jan. 1, 1932, were $1,000,000.

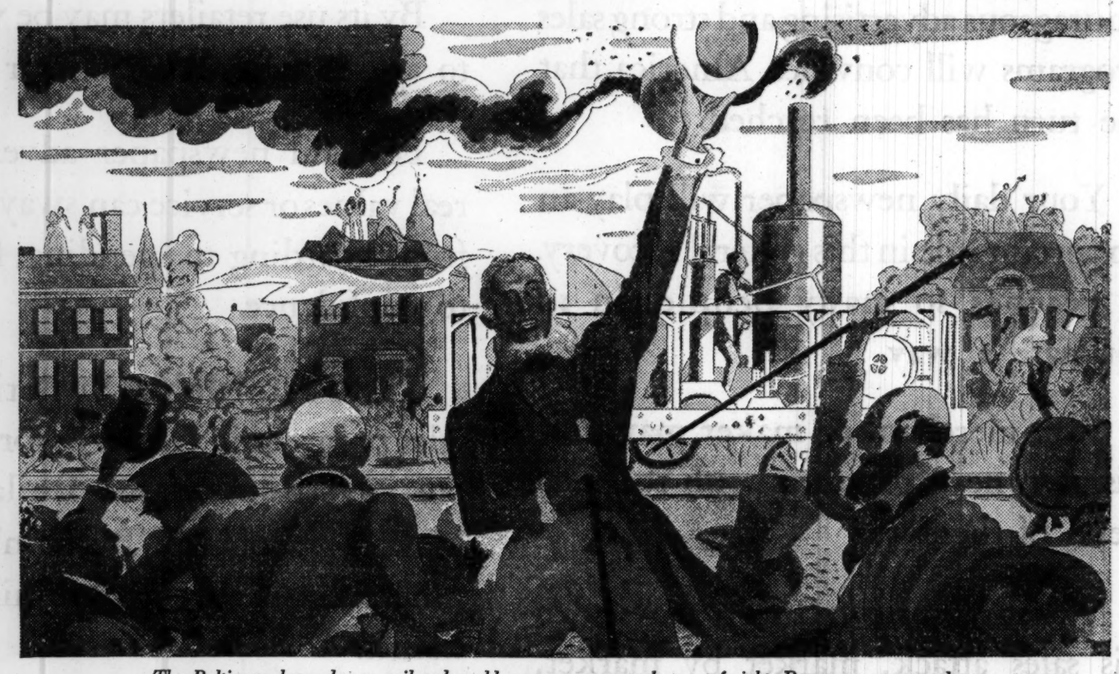
THE NEXT PUZZLE WILL APPEAR IN TOMORROW'S TRIBUNE

THEY THREW UP THEIR HATS... AND DANCED IN THE STREETS



The Baltimore horse-drawn railroad could carry passengers but not freight. Passenger revenue alone couldn't support the road. It stopped operating. Then Peter Cooper's steam-engine Tom Thumb was introduced. It worked. The staid directors who came to watch the trial threw their hats in the air and danced.

• • •

WELL MIGHT they throw up their hats and dance. For the Tom Thumb established the dependability of the steam engine and made possible the shipment of freight by rail. From these humble beginnings developed the modern locomotive and the modern freight car.

Today railroad dependability is not questioned. Our railroads are the most efficient mode of transportation man has ever known. One aspect of this efficiency is the leasing of special freight cars (such as refrigerator or tank). Thousands of these cars frequently are required for brief seasonal shipments. Obviously for some roads to maintain cars throughout the entire year for this peak demand would be most wasteful . . . would cost the shipper huge sums.

So most railroads regularly operate only the freight cars they normally need. In peak seasons they obtain additional carriers from the General American Tank Car Corporation. By so doing, many railroads save 365 day maintenance and investment in cars which are used only 30 or 60 days. General American keeps its fleet busy throughout the year, first on one road and then on another, and therefore can operate it most economically.

In this way does General American supplement the railroad, enabling it to give adequate service at minimum expense. Besides maintaining its vast fleet of 50,000 cars, General American builds all types of railroad freight cars...box, gondola, hopper, stock, refrigerator, tank. It also operates a large public terminal and an extensive European freight transportation system. Address Continental Illinois Bank Building, Chicago, Ill.

616 MILLION NAVY BILL FOUNDERS IN DEPRESSION BOG

House Group Votes Not to Report Measure Now.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The Vinson 616 million dollar warship authorization bill foundered today upon the shoals of disarmament, pacifism and "abnormal economic conditions."

FREDERICK HALE. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

By a count of 18 to 0 the house naval affairs committee indorsed the Vinson measure, but voted not to recommend it to the house for passage at this time. The net effect of this move, which was dictated by house Democratic leaders, virtually was to kill all chances of passage of naval legislation needed to start the fleet on the way to London treaty proportions at this session of congress.

Vinson Vague Regarding Bill.

Without the support of the naval affairs committee, no new naval legislation would have a ghost of a chance of being approved by the Democratic controlled house. Chairman Carl Vinson [Dem., Ga.] of the committee, was vague regarding when if ever his bill or any other bill authorizing the construction of new warships would be reported favorably to the house for action. All indications were that no warship authorization bill would be acted on at this session of congress.

Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, expressed surprise when advised of the action of the house committee. He said he would make every effort to have his bill, carrying a blanket authorization for all ships needed to bring the fleet up to London naval treaty proportions, reported out by his committee and acted on favorably in the senate.

Wants London Treaty Navy.

In view of the known hostility of President Hoover to any move to enact new warship legislation passage of the Hale bill in the senate is problematical. With house leaders on record as opposed to any new authorization legislation except that of the most urgent character the Hale bill would have little chance there.

After saying it had endorsed the Vinson bill and that the committee was "convinced that the welfare and security of the nation demanded that the navy be built up to the limitations prescribed by the London and Washington treaties," the house committee approved of the following statement:

"In view, however, of the very abnormal economic conditions which now confront us at home and abroad and in the hope that some substantial results may be achieved at Geneva, the committee in agreement with the chairman has voted—for the time being—not to report the bill to the house."

Britten Urges Tax on Beer.

Shortly after the committee opened its executive session Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] told the members that President Hoover was irrevocably opposed to the bill and in fact to any new warship legislation at this time. He suggested then that the committee adopt a motion financing the construction of the new warships by levying a tax on beer. He stated later that five members out of twenty present supported his motion.

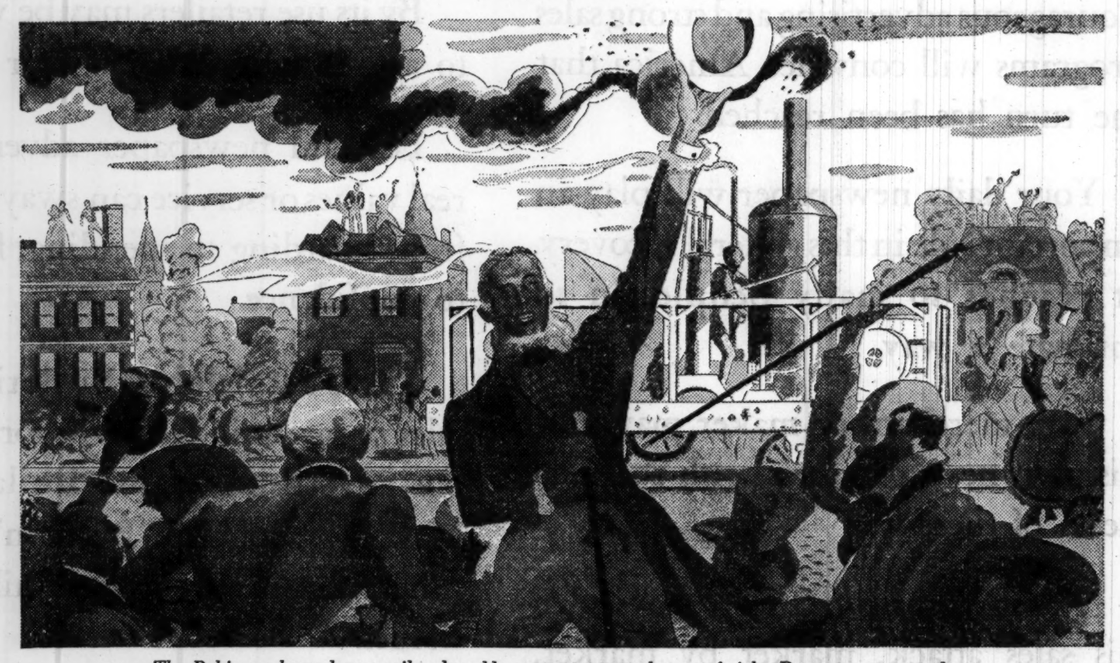
THE NEXT PUZZLE WILL APPEAR IN TOMORROW'S TRIBUNE

THEY THREW UP THEIR HATS... AND DANCED IN THE STREETS



The Baltimore horse-drawn railroad could carry passengers but not freight. Passenger revenue alone couldn't support the road. It stopped operating. Then Peter Cooper's steam-engine Tom Thumb was introduced. It worked. The staid directors who came to watch the trial threw their hats in the air and danced.

• • •

WELL MIGHT they throw up their hats and dance. For the Tom Thumb established the dependability of the steam engine and made possible the shipment of freight by rail. From these humble beginnings developed the modern locomotive and the modern freight car.

Today railroad dependability is not questioned. Our railroads are the most efficient mode of transportation man has ever known. One aspect of this efficiency is the leasing of special freight cars (such as refrigerator or tank). Thousands of these cars frequently are required for brief seasonal shipments. Obviously for some roads to maintain cars throughout the entire year for this peak demand would be most wasteful . . . would cost the shipper huge sums.

So most railroads regularly operate only the freight cars they normally need. In peak seasons they obtain additional carriers from the General American Tank Car Corporation. By so doing, many railroads save 365 day maintenance and investment in cars which are used only 30 or 60 days. General American keeps its fleet busy throughout the year, first on one road and then on another, and therefore can operate it most economically.

In this way does General American supplement the railroad, enabling it to give adequate service at minimum expense. Besides maintaining its vast fleet of 50,000 cars, General American builds all types of railroad freight cars...box, gondola, hopper, stock, refrigerator, tank. It also operates a large public terminal and an extensive European freight transportation system. Address Continental Illinois Bank Building, Chicago, Ill.

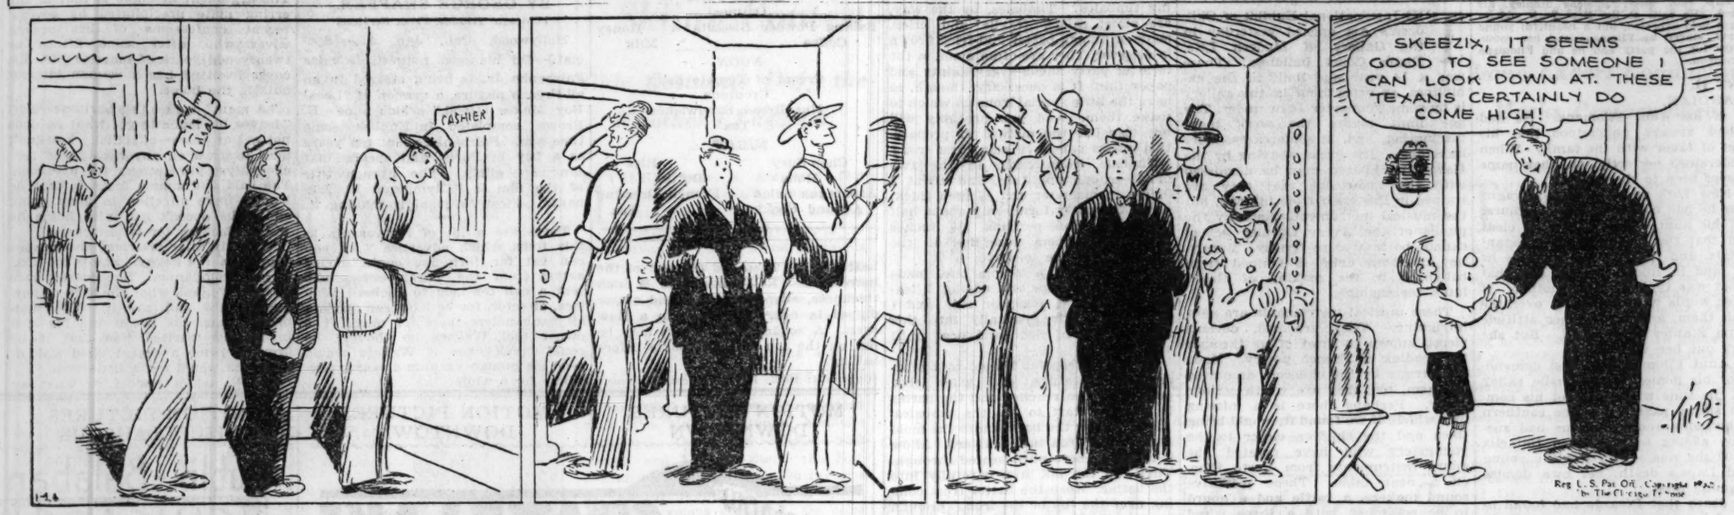
GASOLINE ALLEY—RELATIVITY AGAIN

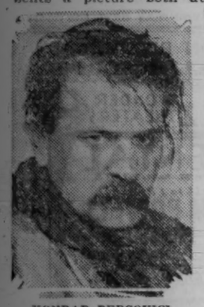


Life of Gypsies Told in Novel by Bercovici

"Against the Sky" Full of Racial Struggle.

"Against the Sky," by Konrad Bercovici. [Covici-Friede.] Published today.

KONRAD BERCOVICI, the author of "Against the Sky," is called the "gypsy of literature." The present book is his first full length novel of gypsy life and it presents a picture both authentic and imaginative.



KONRAD BERCOVICI.

From his many and varied experiences with the gypsies them selves, by whom he is considered a fellow being, and with whom at one time or another he has spent many wandering years and from his serious and scholarly research into the lore of their race he has extracted for fictional use most unusual, exciting and colorful events and customs of the gypsy's everyday life.

"Against the Sky" is the story of the love of Loli, a tempestuous and beautiful young gypsy girl, for Albert Van Roehm, a "gorgio" [a non-gypsy], who is both rich and musical. The conflict between two races and the more immediate and significant conflict between Loli and Albert and even the struggle within themselves furnish the framework for the novel. Costa, a gypsy of another tribe, a braggart and thief, who has a superstitious mind and a fantastic imaginative genius, wants Loli to marry him. Loli's young friend, Mata, a lovely child lavish with her loyalty and adoration, willingly endangers her life for the sake of Loli, whom she loves. Her mad worship of Costa, Loli's betrothed, does not blind her to the greater duty of making Loli happy. All these characters are credibly and attractively handled.

The reader is not primarily interested in the inner thoughts and emotions of the characters, but in the characters' contact with each other in the colorful atmosphere of gypsy life and their place in the swift and exciting action. The author puts his artistic emphasis on atmosphere, background and plot and does not temper, by too minute and irrelevant analysis, the surface brilliance and charm of his people.

Gypsy life with its fascination and vividness, as well as its repellent aspects, is brought so close to the reader that he feels as if he himself has lived in the midst of these roaming people. The gypsy's prejudice against the white race, which he calls "ill smelling white worms," his childish contempt for all laws, his barbaric superstitions, his curious sexual unmorality, and the dominant trait of his sensuousness are all crowded in to the pages of this book.

Some of the most colorful scenes occur in the cellar of a tenement in the east side of New York, where Loli's tribe has nestled for the winter. There are many people in the room, some sitting on the floor playing cards, some standing by the copper cauldron, from which the odorous vapors of cooking meat escape; some are telling fortunes of the white people who have come in; a boy and a girl lie on the floor before their elders in a passionate embrace; small children squabble and cry to the accompaniment of singing; a woman on the other side of a thin partition is giving birth to a child; the chieftain of the tribe sits in a corner by himself, shriveled, old, with uncanny wise eyes and a supreme temporary indifference; a young boy is wiggling on the floor reaching his hand through a crack in the wall to steal loaves of bread from the baker next door; another boy is in the same posture on the other side stealing coal for his parents; a girl is dancing madly by herself; a young man, playing a musical instrument, is telling weird, impossible stories to a group around him, and all are waiting carelessly for the wife of the chieftain, an old woman—shrewd and cadaverous looking—to throw them a piece of meat out of the simmering stew in the kettle.

This life, incomprehensible to the average white person, is described so truthfully and uncompromisingly, that, though the picture has many sinister and repellent aspects, on the whole the reader feels a deep attraction to this primitive, fatalistic way of living and an earnest desire to know more about these people.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

"The Big Shot" is a thoroughly enjoyable little picture.

It is composed of the sort of ingredients — hopes, disappointments, thrills, achievements, etc.—that make up the everyday life of most of us and so, will engage the attention of, and win spontaneous response from most of us.

Eddie Quillan has one of those engaging personalities. You always want something nice to happen to him. There are people, you know, toward whom you feel just the reverse, despite all your prayers for Christian fortitude and charity. "I'll be glad when you are dead, you rascal, you!" sing the young men in our local orchestras and that's your reaction when you so much as look at some folks. You hope that their hat blows off and that it rains on their wedding day . . . .

Well, anyway, you'll like Mr. Quillan who is usually cast—as per this picture—as a young man trying to get ahead. All sorts of difficulties beset his path. Ground glass punctures his puncture-proof tires and a villain with grinding teeth endeavors to impale his romance on the spikes of jealous rage and chicanery. But Eddie—or Ray, as he's called this trip, is not disheartened—at least not TOO much disheartened — and, in the end, the smell that has driven myriads away from his Blue Bird Auto Camp, makes his fortune, and the girl of his dreams is a dream no longer.

Young Mr. Quillan comports himself with his usual alacrity and good sense. Maureen O'Sullivan is nice as his loyal sweetheart. Belle Bennett is pleasing as the young lady's understanding mother and Arthur Stone as a certain "Old Timer" elicits some hearty laughs from the interested observers. Roscoe Ates does a nice job of stuttering in the rôle of a barber and you will, I think, be pleased with the work of the other supporting players. Mary Nolan and Ralph Ince add a touch of tabasco to the proceedings.

The director has handled material and players with a smooth and accustomed touch. Lines and photography are commendable.

"The Big Shot" may be no cure for depression, but it's just one more little "Shoo!" toward driving that black bebby away.

Boy Violinist Wins New York Praise; Fills Carnegie Hall

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A five year veteran of the concert stage, although scarcely past the age of 15, Yehudi Menuhin captured a capacity audience at Carnegie hall yesterday with the surprising maturity of his performance.

All seats were filled and there were standees when the young violinist from California played with perfect assurance the Schumann D minor sonata, the Bach A minor sonata [unaccompanied, "Tzigane," by Ravel; a Spanish dance by De Falla, Beethoven's chorus of dervishes, a Tschaikovsky serenade, the twenty-fourth caprice of Paganini and "Sicilienne," by Paradis.

Critics today noted that his musicianship contrasted markedly with his modest, boyish manner on the platform. The technique was sure and brilliant.

Olin Downes, writing in the Times, said Menuhin's performance "set at rest those who were skeptical about his lasting qualities of growth."

Friendly Police, Also Schools, Urged for Boys

Union League Sponsors Hear Reports.

More intimate contact with the police department and with the board of education was advocated yesterday in the effort of boys' clubs to counteract delinquency. The speaker was Emler C. Jensen, president of the Union League Foundation for Boys' Clubs.

Seventy men, including Lewis E. Myers, president of the board of education, and William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, attended the annual luncheon of the foundation at the Union League club. Committee heads in their reports told of the far reaching program of the two boys' clubs operated by the foundation, where, during the last year, because of the depression, a greater service was demanded than ever before.

"There are 330,000 boys in Chicago. Of that number 52,000 are reached by boys' clubs," Mr. Jensen said. Our clubs affect 14,000 of them. In the 'blighted districts' of this city the boy population is about 100,000, many of whom rapidly are becoming criminals.

"We need a better contact with the police and with the 100 schools in the blighted districts. We should find some way where the board of education and the association clubs could coöperate to extend boys' work using space in the schools at small expense. This would keep many lads off the street and give them useful occupation."

BETTER CARE FOR CHILDREN SOUGHT FROM LEGISLATURE

Relief measures to overcome the neglect suffered by children in Illinois will be discussed Thursday at the annual meeting of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society at the Chicago Woman's club.

Henry Porter Chandler, chairman of the committee appointed by Gov. Emmerson to obtain remediable child welfare legislation, will be the principal speaker. He will outline the measures planned by his committee that provide more liberally for mothers who should receive public subsidy in order to care for their children, and the provision for county departments of public welfare which will coördinate and centralize the administration of poor relief on a scientific basis.

Carroll H. Sudler, president of the society, in his report will show that during the last year 4,138 children have been served by the society and its institutions, boarding homes and family homes have cared for a daily average group of 1,746 children. This was done at an expense of $348,922.

Women Hold Fate of Canners, Grocers, Delegates Are Told

BY PAUL POTTER.

Continued improvement in the quality and attractiveness of canned foods, together with plans for keeping production of such foods more in line with demands, were the weapons decided upon by 5,000 delegates to the National Canners' association yesterday in meeting economic competition forced upon the industry during the last year.

The canners, together with food brokers, canning equipment manufacturers and allied food industries, opened a five day convention at the Stevens hotel yesterday. Readjustments in production and prices of foodstuffs were being planned by these associations in coöperation with Nils A. Olsen, federal bureau of agricultural economics head, who spoke at the opening session.

At the same time, members of the National Wholesale Grocers' association were meeting at the Congress hotel, studying the changing food habits of consumers and planning efficiencies in merchandising.

"The American woman is said to control more than 40 per cent of the nation's wealth and 50 per cent of its buying power," declared M. L. Toulme, secretary of the grocers' association. "The probabilities are that as far as groceries are concerned she controls 95 per cent. Income tax returns show that women millionaires are as numerous as men. Women are supplying the business world as well as the home with smartness, aggressiveness and energy."

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

"FATA MORGANA," which came into view last night at the Harris theater as the fifth play in the subscription season of the Dramatic League of Chicago, is a sexy comedy from Hungary that served the Theater Guild eight years ago as a box office success. It carries one back to the period when Hungarian comedies were as much in vogue as Eugenie hats; when the quaintness of the peasantry in the paprika fields was the latest word in play going fashion; and when the Guild, always a forward looking organization, was teaching American impresarios how to tell a carnal story with gestures of artistic distinction.

Since then the cultural development of America has caught up with Buda-Pesth. We no longer gaze upon such fleshy frolics with awed eyes and bated breath, stricken somewhat dumb by the dizzy sophistication of Mittel-Europa. Hollywood turns out a talkie to this tune every other day or so. We are able to recognize "Fata Morgana" in its true values as just another piece of warm, salable stuff about the way of a vamp with a lad in the soft, seductive summer when the rest of the folks are away from home.

Therefore, last night's audience had a gala time laughing at and with "Fata Morgana." Its first act, when the great big she-woman from the city took advantage of the innocent idealism of the callow student out on the farm, was just close enough to the Mae West equator to provoke free expression of ribald enjoyment. After that the play becomes somewhat farcical, with the ruined collegian wanting to marry the cynical lady of the world, and the cuckold husband striking furious attiudes of outraged honor.

It is, in spite of its Magyar decorations, such stuff as films are made of, and its little intrigue is rounded with a quasi-happy ending. I suspect that "Fata Morgana," being new to Chicago, will stir up some box office activity around the Harris. Its matinées, at any rate, should be large and excited.

Young George, the Hungarian school boy, is left alone in the farmhouse, sentenced to spend the night with his nose in his text books to work off a condition in Hunnish history. All his numerous sisters, cousins, and aunts have gone to the county fair. Suddenly out of the darkness a glorious creature appears, garbed in the latest Danubian style—none other than his cousin Mathilde, the most wicked and charming married woman in the fast stepping society of Budi-Pesth—a city that is pronounced by the members of this cast as if it were spelled Buddhjha-Pschesth, which may, of course, be the right way.

As soon as this voluptuous creature learns that she and Young George are the only human beings for miles and miles around, on the great open spaces of the Hungarian desert, where the mirage, or fata morgana, flickers in midsummer over the burning sands [honestly, this is all in the play] she starts to do her stuff. She gives the nervous adolescent the full line of works in the vampire repertory and says everything that is necessary except "Kiss me, my fool!"

All this was an epic to George, but an incident to the lady of fashion and passion. So add him to your list of fine young fellows who learned about women from Them. His disillusionment was bitter, and when the wicked fairy flitted back to Buda-Pesth he returned to his history books, quite haggard and woe begone. Maybe he will pass that examination, after all.

Morgan Farley of the original Guild cast plays the youth with fidelity to the emotional storms of adolescence, and Ada Gerald puts amorous candor into the tricks of the seductrix. The others in the cast are effective in their treatment of Hungarian character, especially Richard Temple, who acts the pompous husband with humorous gusto.

Jericho Ruins Add to Moses' Story in Egypt

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The discovery of the tombs of the kings of Jericho by Prof. John Garstang, director of the Marston archeological expedition, has revealed that Hatasu probably was the name of Pharaoh's daughter who found the infant Moses in the bullrushes.

Sir Charles Marston has just received a report of the discovery stating that the tombs contain large quantities of pottery and Egyptian scarabs which will definitely fix the date of the exodus and further partly establish the chronology of the Old Testament.

The tombs reveal, Sir Charles said today, that in the fifteenth century B. C. the kings of Jericho bore Syrian names and were vassals of Egypt. They appear also to have worn the signet ring of the Pharaoh under whose governments they were.

"One tomb was dated as of the joint reign of Hatasu and Thothmes II. This is of exceptional interest in confirming the modern theory that the exodus must have taken place after the death of Thothmes III.

"Hatasu was the most masterful princess of Egyptian history, and during the reign of Thothmes II., which lasted thirteen years, she ruled the whole country. It is extremely probable it was she who discovered the baby Moses among the bullrushes. Bible dates coincide with this idea that under the protection of Hatasu Moses became an important official at court and a favorite of the princess.

"After the accession of Thothmes III., Hatasu continued to exert wide authority in Egypt and incurred the bitter hatred of the new king. On her death in the fourteenth year of his reign he seized all her possessions, and her favorites, including Moses, were compelled to flee the country. Thothmes III. reigned about fifty-three years. It is recorded in the Bible that Moses spent forty years in exile. Not until after the death of the king did Moses return to Egypt, and then the exodus took place."

VATICAN LIBRARY'S WALLS CRACK MORE AS ENGINEERS DIFFER

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 25.—The Vatican library was further weakened today when the cracks which appeared in the walls on Saturday widened and spread over the entire face of the building. They now extend from ground to roof, indicating that the ancient walls have entirely rotted and stand in urgent need of radical strengthening.

The instability has also spread to the adjoining Lapidary museum, whose façade runs at right angles to that of the library, and the arches over the four windows of the museum nearest the library now show wide cracks, which made their appearance today.

It is believed that the museum is in no immediate danger, but as precautionary measures it has been partially evacuated and its windows strengthened with solid wooden frames.

The work of strengthening the walls of the library, which was undertaken immediately after the collapse of a wing two days before Christmas, has been momentarily interrupted so that a complete plan for insuring the safety of the entire edifice can be worked out.

Some engineers believe that the building is in such poor condition that the only solution is to demolish it and rebuild it from the foundations up. This plan, however, undoubtedly would be the simplest and most effective, but would entail destruction of the beautiful frescoes decorating the inner walls of the library.

Other engineers believe it possible to save the old building by rebuilding the foundations piece by piece and strengthening the walls by injections of liquid cement.

Fashion Parade Arouses Hope of Better Times

Women Insist on Stylish Clothes, Is Slogan.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

IF the depression did nothing else, it demonstrated that the American woman is jealous of her reputation as the best dressed woman in the world. M. D. Mosessohn, one of the moguls of the feminine garment industry, who dropped off the Century yesterday and with a sweep of his fedora proclaimed:

"American women have been able to remain highly styled through the most difficult time in the history of modern business—because those who make the garments women wear have seen to it that their business has been fully liquidated."

Over in the Empire room of the Palmer house events seemed to be moving swiftly in the direction of concrete support of the Mosessohn assertion. As the initial performance of the four day style show of the Associated Dress Industries of America, which he had come to attend, was started last night, retailers from all parts of the middle west were being regretfully informed that all seats for the opening had long since been sold and that prospects were the entire four nights would witness a sellout.

Enthusiasm for spring business and especially spring styles was in the air as the files of models paraded the newest creations.

The gowns are offered by Chicago designers and manufacturers. Buyers' fingers worked busily, penciling notations on their programs as one modish costume after another swayed past on this willowy blonde or that devastating brunette.

Ghandi sandals for spring scored a big success with last night's audience. Trim, slim footwear fashioned of a heel, a toecap, a sole, and not much else. They will be a prime favorite for street wear, the prophets say, with little chance of the prediction going wrong. The cool, dressy sandals inspired by the East Indian ascetic should achieve instant popularity. The Empire tie, a street and afternoon slipper with a three eyelet tie, also will be a favorite.

Plenty of applause was garnered by the little "gob" sailor hats so plentiful in last night's review. Of shiny rough straw—there'll be no other material known in millinery this spring—they carried an air of pert assurance and suited admirably each girl who sported one.

Waistlines have ceased to be anchored in their natural location, the most casual survey revealed. They've gone up in the world, even if they only accomplish the feat through an optical illusion—by means of carrying the skirt material up into the waist, while the beltline actually stays where nature intended. Frequently this feature was noted on the two piece suits that are bound to score tremendously, comprising an entire dress with a blouse of a different material, and a smart jacket worn over it. This makes a street ensemble.

"These styles are notably American," declared Mosessohn, who is executive chairman and general counsel of the Associated Dress industries. "For the last several years our designers have worked independently of Paris, because the American girl is physically much taller and slimmer than the French girl and she needs a different type of clothes.

"Excessive costs and expense of every description has been overcome during this protracted period of readjustment, until today a woman spending $25 for a dress receives a garment on a par with that for which she paid double the money only a brief while ago. The basis for prosperity has been laid by this elimination of undue expense."

A STRAIN ON THE FAMILY TIE

The Charming Cheat

By Clara Sharpe Hough

SYNOPSIS.

Ricardo Dane visits New York in search of his aunt, Miss Filomena Stanley, his mother's half sister. His mother had recently died. He calls at the New York address of Filomena Stanley, and finds, not the ancient aunt he'd expected, but a beautiful young aunt. He arrives in the midst of a cocktail party, staged by Filomena and her roommate, Frances, in their Bohemian studio. He stays for the party and he and Filomena planned to talk everything over next day at luncheon.

INSTALLMENT II.

HIS AUNT'S GUARDIAN.

Ricardo's mother, dying, had spoken of his Aunt Filomena. He had heard the name mentioned before and had always understood that his mother's half-sister was for some reason out of favor with the family. When his mother said "she's an actress," he understood perfectly why her name was not more familiar and why she had never been to the ranch.

She had added that her sister lived in New York and had made a vague remark about taking care of Ricardo. Later he had concluded that of course she meant she wished him to take care of his aunt. This was made clear when he read his mother's will and found that the few remaining distant relatives were left appropriate small bequests, and that he was heir, as he had expected, to the ranch and mountain land in Romeu valley, and that his Aunt Filomena was not mentioned. That was typical of his mother. If she had had, as he could now suspect, bitter words with her sister over the latter's mode of life, she would never recall them, and to hold her attitude she could not consistently mention Filomena Stanley in her will. But she knew that she could trust Ricardo to carry out her wishes.

Ricardo Dane was now (except for his Aunt Filomena) the last descendant of a Spanish settler who had chosen for his homesite this fertile valley in the upper reaches of the Sacramento at the time when most of his compatriots were interesting themselves in the sunny pastures of the southern part of the state. Through some means his sons and grandsons had succeeded in keeping all his land and actually adding to it. When Rafaella Stanley was married to Richard Dane in 1900 she was a very wealthy young woman. Now, twenty years after Richard Dane's death, her own demise left young Ricardo a much more wealthy young man.

It was some months after his mother's death that Ricardo had found in the evidence of canceled checks that she had been sending money regularly to his Aunt Filomena. But a search of her papers did not reveal the New York address he wanted. And his promise began to lie heavily upon him.

Possibly, he thought, his mother wanted him to find his aunt, his sole remaining near relative, and bring her back to the comparative luxury of

Romeu valley to live out her remaining days in ease. The checks implied that she needed some care.

He liked the idea of having the family together in that house. It was a lonely place now. And while it was only a matter of time until he would marry, and the chair at the foot of the table would be occupied graciously by the girl whom his mother had loved as much as he did, still he could enjoy the thought of having some one here who really had belonged to him and to his mother. A member of the clan.

It had taken Ricardo Dane two weeks to make up his mind to go to New York and look for his aunt. One reason for this deliberateness was that he had never in his life, before now, made up his mind to do anything without the advice of his mother, which in actual fact had meant taking her orders. Although he did not realize it, for twenty-six years Ricardo had done everything that his mother wanted him to do, and nothing of which she disapproved. His unconsciousness of this situation clearly indicated that the recent mistress of Romeu valley had been a remarkable woman.

At the end of the two weeks Ricardo went to the telephone and called San Francisco. When he got his number and heard the quick impatient voice of Webster Sutton, his roommate at college, he announced casually:

"I'm going to New York tomorrow, coming down on tonight's boat from Sacramento. Want to go along?"

"Yes, but I can't," replied Webster, "I have a job that I have to take care of. What're you going to New York for?"

"To see my aunt. I have to look out for her."

"Look out for what?"

"My aunt. My aunt in New York, you sap."

"I can't help it if your aunt's a sap. Did you ring me up to tell me that?"

"No. Will you get me a reservation?"

Webster grumbled and got the reservation. Next day he left his office long enough to meet Ricardo at Townsend street and see him into his transcontinental Pullman.

"Why on earth have you got to go all the way to New York to see an aunt who's a sap?" he asked, after the tickets had been duly delivered.

"You were the sap," returned Ricardo. "I don't know anything about this aunt. She was on the stage so her name was never mentioned under our pious roof-tree. I hardly knew she existed."

"Yes, but why do you have to go to New York to——"

"Seems the decent thing to go and fetch her, don't you think? For all I know, she may be too old to travel alone, or——"

"And on the stage in New York? Playing the part of a mummy."

"Well, I don't know. Maybe she's retired. Maybe she—I don't know, but anyway I though I'd——"

"O, wait a second, I almost forgot. I have a friend in New York, you'd better look her up. Eunice Greeneway. You must know her yourself, she lives in San Mateo, and she used to—here's the address, she's studying music," he thrust a torn bit of paper into Ricardo's hand. "You'll want to take in some shows, and some of these hellish night clubs. Eunice is a good sport."

. . . . . .

In the dim candleglow of the little room with its gay painted tables and bright crockery, Aunt Filomena looked even lovelier than she had in the hot and noisy studio the night before. In the close little black hat and demure blue frock that she wore she was absolutely beautiful. Ricardo leaned back and gazed through a haze of cigaret smoke, openly adoring her.

Aunt Filomena placidly, almost complacently, applied a delicate film of powder to her enchanting nose, and then sat looking at her own idle little hands on the painted table. If she eyed Ricardo it was done so subtly that he was unaware of it.

"We've got to get down to brass tacks, lovely aunt," he said finally, snuffing his cigaret stub and leaning toward her.

"Darling nephew, are you getting serious? For example, how on earth did you find out where I lived?"

"Aha, that's my extremely subtle cleverness. I've been at it quite a while, as a matter of fact. I was about to go to the Bureau of Missing Persons——"

"But I was never missing. That wouldn't have been fair."

"I should imagine you've been missing very little. Seems to me you must have been busy lapping up life ever since—but how long is it? When did you leave San Francisco?"

"I think it was at the age of six months or so. Which accounts for our not having met before, of course. There, I've answered number one."

He looked at her, a bit puzzled. "But that would have been—let's see, it would have been——"

"Of course you may know how old your youngest aunt is, dear nephew. I was born during the San Francisco earthquake."

"Nineteen six," said Ricardo, doing a little simple mathematics. "Nineteen six. Darling aunt, you're only twenty-three, after all. And I am twenty-six." He smiled benevolently at her across the little lavender table.

"I feel older," she murmured, "only I've never been able to make myself worry much, so it hasn't done much good. And after you hadn't gone to the Bureau of Missing Persons, what did you do then?"

"Easy. I went to the theatrical agencies until I'd found you." He lit another cigaret. "Have one?"

She shook her lovely little head. "I don't smoke. I try as many vices as possible, but that's one I can't stand."

"But you were smoking last night."

"O, that was a bat. The bars were down last night, and I cut loose with the rest."

"But you just said you couldn't stand——"

"O, I like it well enough. But my heart does funny things when I do some of the things I like. That's one of them."

Genuine alarm entered him. "But—do you—is it dangerous? Was it—funny last night? You mustn't, Filomena—Aunt Filomena, I mean——"

"That's better. I must be respected."

"You mustn't do anything that'll be dangerous. Is your heart——"

"If I'm careful I'll probably live to be at least thirty, so there's not much to fret about now, anyway."

"Either tell me right now what kind of a heart you've got and what's the matter with it or I'll march you out of here to a doctor and I'll find out for myself."

"O—o, he threatens and blusters and bullies," she sighed. "Nephew dear, are you my guardian?"

"I'm your guardian and your protector and your legal adjuster and testator and executor and notary public and all the things there are. So spill it or be dragged to the doctor."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

That Third "Good-by."

Some years ago when we were on an eight party telephone line I was rubbering, as most every one did on that line, and became so interested in the conversation of two ladies talking that when they said "good-by," so did I.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Last summer a friend of ours died and my 8 year old niece went to the wake. After saying her prayers she got up and said to the people in the room, "I am awful sorry, but it is too hot to cry."

Child Artists, Far and Near, Display Work

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

THE International Exhibit of Children's Art opened yesterday in the Gallery of Modern Life, Diana Court building. There was a 14 year age limit to the exhibitors, so everything in the gallery is by some youngster 14 or under. The age limit makes the work more fascinating, and, in some cases, more incredible. The grass weaving by the Hawaiian children may be dismissed with the knowledge that they are trained in this craft from infancy, but the musical instruments made by the pupils of the Avery Coonley school cannot be treated so tersely. Surely, no American child is trained from babyhood in the making of Greek lutes, for example.

These musical instruments are very intriguing. They are odd, curious pieces known to most of us through the reading of French poetry. Made and strung by the children, decorated by them, too, they are worth serious study. Perhaps there is a missing link which, if we found it, would bring them and the children closer to the youngsters who have created the gourd instruments from Porto Rico, on a near table. These primitive sound makers, a rattle and a gourd to be scratched with a three wired fork, fairly radiate the atmosphere of of a steaming jungle and the monotony of a witch dance.

The Vienna school under Prof. Cizek has a delightful entry. Through abstract, natural form the children are led to the creation of imaginative scenes with flowers and birds, boys and girls, for subject. There is great beauty of color and design in this Viennese art. The Negro paintings on the wall, American public school art, is rougher, more primitive, less subtle. The paintings from Hull house have more of the Vienna atmosphere, but in Hull house many nationalities may be drawn on. The Hull house pottery is also very well worth seeing. It, again, is the work of children of Italian, Mexican, and Grecian birth.

The poetry from the Bertrand Russell school in England is rather delightful; it could be met, however, by the writing of many of our pupils of corresponding age. The Farm school shows a number of expressive wood carvings and from Scarsdale, N. Y., come many spirited paintings, chief among them a mural along jungle lines.

THREE MEALS A DAY

From the Tribune Cook Book

BY MARY MEADE.

Food Talk.

How many of you have among your kitchen utensils patty irons for making timbales? Timbales, by the way, are sweet cakes, fragile and crisp, made of an egg batter and fried brown in deep fat. They are often made in the form of patty shells—very dainty and paper thin. It is necessary, though, to have the little special irons on which to make them. And you probably will not visualize the method of preparation unless you have seen these irons.

Timbale irons come in the two molds—round and thin, and about 3 inches in diameter and ½ inch thick, or, in the patty form, only about half that wide and perhaps 1½ inches thick. Buy them according to the purpose they are to serve.

The batter is a simple one, made by beating 2 eggs and adding 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 1 cup milk. Stir gradually into this liquid 1 cup of flour and beat until smooth.

Have the deep fat heated to a moderate temperature, and when that point has been reached and the batter is smooth, start to fry the timbales.

First screw the handle into the mold and dip the iron into hot lard. Allow it to stand there until heated through. Then dip the hot iron carefully into the batter. Keep the batter from coming over the top of the iron. Enough batter will cling to the hot metal in a few seconds' time. Immediately place the iron with the batter clinging to it back in the hot fat and fry for about 35 seconds, or until a delicate brown.

Carefully remove the patties from the mold, drain on unglazed paper just as you do doughnuts, and allow to cool before serving. You may sprinkle them with powdered sugar if you like. This quantity of batter will yield about forty of the fragile, ruffled-edged pastries.

Should the batter fail to adhere to the mold, the iron is probably overheated. If the patties blister, the eggs are beaten too much.

To insure crisp patties, they should be fried moderately. Otherwise the inner portion will not be crisp when the outer edge is a nice delicate brown.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

The original player of yesterday's play-a-problem, finding himself unable to squeeze one of his adversaries, he simply forced the other adversary to do it for him. This forcing of one opponent to squeeze the other is one of the most difficult and at the same time one of the prettiest plays of the game. This was the hand:

NORTH (Dealer)
♥—9,3
♦—A,Q,J,4,3,2
♣—A,3,2

WEST	EAST
♠—10,9,8,7	♠—K,Q,4
♥—6,5,4,2	♥—K,Q,10
♦—5	♦—K,10,9,8
♣—9,7,6,5	♣—Q,J,8

SOUTH
♠—A,J,6,5
♥—A,J,8,7
♣—K,10,4

North dealt and bid a diamond. East bid one no-trump. South bid two no-trumps. West passed. North called three no-trumps. Every one passed. The bidding, while a bit unusual, was perfectly sound. North might, of course, have bid three diamonds instead of three no-trumps, but if he had done so South would have returned to the no-trump and the result would have been just the same.

West opened the ♠ 10, dummy played the 2, East the Q, and declarer took with the A. Declarer now led the ♦ 7, which dummy took with the J. Dummy returned the ♥ 9, East played the Q, South the 7, and West the 2. East now led the ♠ K, which took, and followed with the ♠ 4, which declarer took with ♠ J. Declarer now led the ♦ 6 to dummy's A, returning the ♥ 3 from dummy, which he took in his own hand with the J. He then led out the ♥ A and the ♥ 8. To the next trick he led the ♠ 6, which West captured with the 9, and East was squeezed. West returned the ♣ 9, which dummy took with the A. Dummy then led the ♣ 3, which declarer took with the K, leading the ♣ 10 for the last trick for the game and an extra trick.

Had East taken the ♦ K at trick two South would have had no trouble in making his contract. He then would have made four diamonds, two spades, two clubs, and at least one heart. In view of the bidding it was quite simple for South to read the holdings of both East and West when the dummy went down and he got the opening of the ♠ 10.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper squares, as S. 3. H. K. etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Doug Junior to Act Talkie All in French

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—On his own request, Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is being starred in an all-French picture, a version of "Local Boy Makes Good," which Joe E. Brown completed in English some time ago. Fairbanks spent ten years as a boy in Paris, and speaks that language glibly. The French title of the film is "Olympique 13 Gagnant." First National is making it.

There are a lot of restaurants in this town which advertise "All you can eat for forty-five cents." One across from the Paramount studio sent a call for help to Richard Wallace, director, for he had been sending all panhandlers there for meals. The owner told Wallace he thought he could break even if Wallace would send his human vacuum cleaners elsewhere for a while.

Husband's Side of Domestic Troubles Is Given a Hearing

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here's the other side of it—one other side of it. This being an open forum, you understand, the husband must be permitted a voice as well as the wife. The argument at stake is that of the erring mate precipitated by several recent confessions of heartbroken wives who, after some fifteen or twenty odd years of married life, discover husband has a woman interest outside the home.

"A man," argues this baritone voice, "leaves his home to get what he does not get at home—affection. You don't need to draw on any high toned psychoanalyst phraseology for a reason. The bald and simple truth is that he has to have affection to keep going and if he doesn't get it at home he will go looking for it elsewhere.

"Shortly after marriage the woman gets cross and naggy. She is too tired to be a companion. She doesn't care a blinkety-blank what she says or how quickly she can say it. The man brings home the bacon and his idea in getting married was that if he brought home a decent sized slab of bacon he would get a little love.

"Well, ask a few of us what we get, instead. If the wife doesn't turn into a scrubwoman, penny pinching, afraid to hire a cleaner for so much a week, which the husband would gladly subscribe to over and above his regular household allowance, she turns into something else. And let me explain that in my case the household allowance is all my pay except what I hold out for daily expenses.

"You can't change the natures of these women you draw from the matrimonial bag. They are just naturally tired naggers. From their point of view they are good wives and mothers and all that sort of thing. They sacrifice their lives, etc. But whatthe! We don't want them sacrificing. We want love.

"My B. & C. [ball and chain] looks daggers at any woman I speak to. She won't have any friends or be nice to people I introduce her to. I would go crazy if I couldn't see any one but her, year after year. I like men—but congenial men are hard to find. A man with an active mind must have some one to talk to and something to talk about beside the weekly wash and darning.

"My B. & C. won't go anywhere, won't see anybody, and for years has never kissed me, unless it was to favor me with a good-by peck when I was leaving on a trip."

Now, ladies, you may have the floor!

SOCIETY NEWS AND FASHIONS OF THE DAY

Mrs. H. Benson Recently Wed to H. P. Ralston

Bridge Enthusiasts Meet at the Drake.

IN yesterday's mail were several interesting announcements, including one of the marriage of Mrs. Haskell Benson and Harris Phelps Ralston, which took place last Saturday in Chicago. This robs the "gals" of another of their nicest beaux, for Mr. Ralston was one of the most popular bachelors in town. He and his bride will be at home after the 1st of March at 56 East Division street.

Also received was an invitation to attend the buffet supper which will open the Contract Whist club at the Drake Saturday night. We understand many of the contract enthusiasts on the near north side have joined and that the club promises to fill a long felt want. Mrs. Edmund M. Loftus, Miss Charlotte Harmon Welch and Paul Donnell Parcelles are on the executive committee and John B. Drake Jr., Mrs. Anthony McKinley, Mrs. Gertrude P. Nellis, Mrs. Paul Walker, Sydney R. Fairlee, Dr. Burton Haseltine, Benjamin H. Marshall, and Dr. Alonzo H. Waterman comprise the membership committee.

Opera Club to Display Florida Styles on Saturday.

The Opera club will have a fashion show of Palm Beach styles Saturday night—the Chicago chapter of Pro-Musica is sponsoring a concert to be given by the Yoshida trio next Monday evening in Kimball hall.

Among the prominent members of Pro-Musica are Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Mrs. Thatcher Hoyt, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. William S. Monroe and Mrs. Benjamin F. Affleck.

The Needlework and Textile guild of the Art institute is having a meeting this morning at 11 o'clock at the Goodman Studio theater, at which Dr. Rudolph M. Riefstahl of New York will give an illustrated lecture on "Historic Textile Fabrics."

The Vassar Club of Chicago will give a tea this afternoon at Vassar house for Miss Katharine Blunt, president of Connecticut college. Mrs. William H. Bush, Mrs. Eugene Talbot, and Mrs. Bruce Borland will pour. Miss Blunt was graduated from Vassar in 1898.

Strawns to Give Dinner for Mrs. E. E. Gaun Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, who will return this week-end from Washington, will give a dinner on Thursday of next week for Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, who will make a one-day visit to Chicago as the guest of Mrs. Jacob Baur. A few of the reservations for the luncheon to be given for Mrs. Gann by the Woman's National Republican club at noon on Thursday include those of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. Uri B. Grannis, Miss Emily Larned, Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Mrs. Berthold Singer, Mrs. Edwin W. Sims, Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Miss Marcia Foss, and Mrs. William A. Yager.

Although the official debutante season has come and gone and the round of entertaining for the buds of the winter is over there are still a few parties being given for the girls who made their bows last fall. Mrs. Ralph C. Otis and her daughter, Miss Florence Otis, are giving a luncheon today for Miss Elizabeth Dickinson and for Miss Helen and Miss Marietta Gillette. The 24 guests will all be debutantes who came out this season with the Gillette girls and Miss Dickinson.

The Gillette girls, by the way, will return in February to their home in Pasadena. They were presented in Chicago last fall by their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Shippen Jenks.

Mrs. Vail R. Bucklin is having a debutante luncheon on Thursday at the Woman's Athletic club for her daughter, Miss Imogene Bucklin. Like the Otis luncheon, this will be a sort of farewell party, too, for Mrs. Bucklin and her daughter will leave next Tuesday for their ranch near Pasadena, Cal. They will not return to Chicago until April.

This was first of a series of five concerts he will give for the fund under the patronage of Mrs. Hoover. Others at dinner who accompanied Mrs. Hoover to the concert were Mrs. William Howard Taft, Mrs. William D. Connor, wife of the commandant of the Army War college; Mrs. Thomas Hart, wife of the superintendent of the Naval academy, and Miss Hart; Mrs. Vernon Kellogg, Mrs. Edgar Rickard of New York, Mrs. Stark McMullin and Mrs. Frederick Butler, secretary to Mrs. Hoover, and two of the White House aides.

J. M. Montgomery, Evanston, to Wed Pennsylvania Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tull Montgomery of Evanston are leaving on Tuesday for Philadelphia to attend the marriage on Saturday of their son, John M. Montgomery, to Miss Margaretta Moore Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hahn Patterson of Merion, Pa. The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock at the Memorial Church of St. Paul in Overbrook. Mr. and Mrs. Mead Montgomery of 180 East Delaware place are leaving tomorrow to motor to Philadelphia for the wedding, at which he will be best man for his brother.

Mrs. Alfred MacArthur and the MacArthur children are leaving today for their Mexican residence at Cuernavaca, where they will spend the rest of the winter. Every one who has had the good fortune to visit Cuernavaca is most enthusiastic about it and anxious to return, so it must be a fascinating place. Some one said it was more foreign than any place abroad, and that's saying a great deal, isn't it?

Mrs. Sheldon Dick and Florence Noyes in Mexico.

Mrs. Sheldon Dick's little girl, who has been staying with Mrs. Dick's sister, Mrs. Philip Maher, and the child's nurse have joined Mrs. Dick in Cuernavaca. Mrs. Dick and Miss Florence Noyes are having a beautiful time, from all reports, sketching and seeing everything of interest near Cuernavaca, and Miss Noyes' mother, Mrs. Ernest H. Noyes, also is enjoying the sights and the life in the Mexican town. Mr. Noyes hopes to join his wife and daughter before long.

Miss Wilhelm L. Baum was hostess yesterday afternoon at a delightful party, a musical given by Jurien Hoekstra, baritone, assisted by M. Zeprnick at the piano. After the program tea was served, Mrs. John Crerar and Mrs. Ernst Freund pouring. Some of those at the party were Mrs. Charles Hamill, Mrs. A. F. Callahan, Mrs. Herbert Bradley, Mrs. Robert Gray Peck, Mrs. Lewis L. Coburn, Mrs. James Ballard Moore, Mrs. Hermon B. Butler, Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. Alfred Wolfe, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, and Miss Paula Wilms.

Mrs. Morris R. Glaser of Glencoe with her children, Sally, Joan, and Edward, has taken an apartment at the Hotel Del Monte at Del Monte, Cal., for the remainder of the winter. Mr. E. L. Glaser went west with his daughter-in-law and grandchildren and is to spend some time with them on the coast.

Shops Helping to Boost Fund for Hospital

NOW, wouldn't you know those clever women who run the White Elephant Rummage shop would find some ingenious way in which to replenish their stock when they found they weren't getting enough "white elephants" from individuals? They are canvassing all the shops in the loop and on the near north side for shop-worn articles and as a result are gathering a marvelous collection of what-nots to be sold at the shop at 27 East Ohio street. In some places they are given articles which have been discarded by purchasers when they bought new things, and with a bit of soap and water, or a needle and thread these clever women make the old things fit for sale.

The idea really was Mrs. Frank Hibbard's, but it was taken up with enthusiasm when she proposed it at a recent board meeting and all the members of the board are working on it now. Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, recently re-elected as president of the auxiliary board of the Children's Memorial hospital, for whose benefit the shop is run, is having about 50 to a buffet luncheon Thursday at her residence, 1550 State parkway, after which she and all her guests will spend the afternoon begging "white elephants" from their favorite shops.

Chicago Fair Plans Include Paintings as Part of Furnishings

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Chicago's World's Fair in 1933 is to have a section devoted to industrial art, according to a recent decision by the directors. They have appointed Ely Jacques Kahn, architect, to take charge of that department.

A special building of one or two stories will house the many industrial art exhibits from this country and abroad. Mr. Kahn has not yet completed the plans for the building, which will be of simple design.

Although Mr. Kahn has been associated actively with the so-called modern art movement, he made it clear in discussing his plans that in the industrial arts exhibit there would be no "chaos masquerading as modern art."

"Too many people feel that there is something 'high hat' about the fine arts," he said. "We don't intend to show the visitors any $1,000,000 painting and have them shudder and walk out, but we shall show painting and sculpture in home settings. Pictures will be seen on the walls of living rooms, in such surroundings as will attract the average man who shies at the usual exhibition."

No effort will be made to make the Industrial Arts exhibition historical, Mr. Kahn said. It is to be primarily a display of contemporary work, demonstrating that the United States "has developed craftsmen who can make fine furniture, metal work, glass, floor coverings, fabrics, and many other products."

Another plan which Mr. Kahn expects to work out in the exhibition will be the illustration of the process of manufacture of many articles in connection with the showing of the finished products.

"For instance," he explained, "near the booth where textiles will be shown will be another booth demonstrating the method by which such textiles are made."

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hewlett Cornell will give the last debutante party of the season, a dinner-dance, on Feb. 6, in the roof garden of the Waldorf-Astoria in honor of their debutante daughter, Miss Ruth Keen Cornell.

Mrs. George Curtis Peck sailed on the Santa Rita to join Mr. Peck, who is commercial attaché at the American legation at Guatemala.

Miss Virginia Frances Gordon, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George William Gordon left this evening for New Orleans, La., to visit Mrs. Oswald W. McNeese during Mardi Gras, where she will be entertained by Miss Adele Jancke, daughter of the assistant secretary of the navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jancke.

Winter Sports Styles Feature Skiing Contest

Chic Costumes Defy the Weather's Vagaries.

THERE were a scattered few among the city's fashionables who passed up the smiling Chevalier Sunday afternoon to see Norseman Birger Ruud make his record leap of 195 feet in the Ogden dunes ski tournament. Though Jack Frost slipped up on the snow (it was imported from Crivitz, Wis., these out-of-door enthusiasts enjoyed donning sport togs and climbing the side of the ski jump almost to the top of the world.

Miss Sibyl Durfey was in a party with Miss Margaret James, Malcolm Henderson, the young English vice consul, and Leif B. Buch, the Norwegian vice consul. Miss Durfey was particularly jaunty wearing a brown and beige sports costume. Its color and fabric combinations, its collarless jacket and its casual air fairly grinned prestige. The short jacket of putty beige suede topped a trim brown woolen dress. Miss Durfey wore a brown brimmed felt, a brown scarf, brown gloves, and carried a brown bag to complete the ensemble. When the biting northwest wind swept around the ski slide she slipped into a tailored muskrat coat for added protection.

Miss James, who only recently committed herself to a young Englishman and is soon to make her residence abroad, was wearing a yellow and brown knitted dress under a brown fur coat. The rumor is that for downright blue blooded swank these days you must have something knitted in your wardrobe. Miss James' English walking shoes were both practical and smart.

In another party that chose a nearby hilltop as a vantage point were Miss Emeline Bush and Miss Mary de Coningh, who has just returned from Geneva to assume official responsibilities with the Council of Foreign Relations. Miss Bush, who leaves the end of the week for Mexico by way of Havana, was attired in a rough black wool Vionnet dress with hand fagoting for its only decoration. A black and white scarf carelessly knotted peeped out from the collar of her short gray caracul coat. A quill that looked like a stiletto was the smart ornament on her tucked beret.

The sobriety of Miss de Coningh's black ensemble was brightened by a red silk scarf tied tuxedo style. A chic black hat that came in her suitcase direct from Paris matched in its trimming the Persian lamb of her coat. She chose a bulky pair of bunny lined gloves to keep her fingers warm.

A Child's Physical Fitness Influences His Mental Attitude

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

What relation does good posture bear to physical fitness, better behavior, better scholarship and better health? The answer is a very definite relationship, according to a recent two year experiment with some school children.

A group of over 900 children in an elementary school were given special training in proper body mechanics under the direction of the director of the posture clinic of the Massachusetts General hospital and the director of corrective gymnastics of Smith college. This experiment was aimed at posture training rather than the usual gymnastic training in an attempt to discover whether the child improved more under this than under the usual gymnastic work, and whether it was practicable for the average school teacher to be instructed to give these exercises.

A comparison of the results accomplished with the 900 children mentioned as against a similar group of 750 children given the usual gymnastic work showed some surprising results in nutrition, improved health [fewer absences], improved scholarship and morale and improved behavior in the "posture" group. In recent years poor posture has been suspected of being the cause of many ailments and undoubtedly this study has verified these suspicions.

It has also shown that it is possible to provide this special training for the average school child. Over 90 per cent of the children had poor posture at the beginning of this study, but after two years the good posture once acquired was maintained.

Buggy Ride Still Lingers as Fact in the South

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 25.—(AP)—They still say thanks for the buggy ride and mean it in four southern cities.

The reminiscents who entertain their children with stories of the bustle and buggy age might find facts for conversation in the knowledge that nine livery stables are doing business in Atlanta, Chattanooga, Knoxville and Nashville.

U. S. VICE PRESIDENT CURTIS 72 YEARS OLD; SENATORS LAUD HIM

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Vice President Curtis was 72 years old today, but he was told in the senate that he looked only about half that.

Tributes were paid from both Republican and Democratic sides of the chamber.

In calling attention to the occasion, Senator Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] turned smilingly to the somewhat embarrassed occupant of the chair and said:

"From this viewpoint he looks about 45."

The New Yorker paid tribute to the personal qualities of the vice president who, he said, had always been "fair and just and kind."

Curtis replied simply that he was "very much pleased."

EVEN MILDER THAN CHICAGO

Mrs. Milan H. Hulbert and her daughters, Helen, Ethel, Adele, and Olive, have sailed to spend the rest of the winter in Trinidad.

Careless Word Often Destroys Charm's Effect

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Yesterday we talked on a subject a bit outside of our usual beauty themes, namely the rejuvenating effect on the housewife's appearance of the new beauty taken on by the kitchen itself. Today, we'll pursue still another slightly foreign element in beauty making, although this one probably has more than squatters' privileges here. It is about speech, correct speech. Rather, the avoidance of crudities and vulgarisms, as we would never dare set ourselves up as authorities on English.

There are certain things, however, which blight a beautiful girl as frost does her flower counterpart. Our inspiration comes from listening in on a conversation between two snappy looking darlings.

"What did you do?" one asked of the other.

"I didn't do nothing!" responded the companion. Number One wasn't going to let her pal beat all of the tom-toms on the eardrums. She said as she powdered, "I hate them things, too."

Now, these young ladies had the kind of teeth that should be shown. Beautiful, strong, white teeth. The lipstick tinting was good. But "them things" and "didn't do nothing" honestly did cast a film over the dental assets.

Curiously enough, but as coincidences go, I picked up a magazine later and read therein that the four most common vulgar errors are identified as "ain't," "I done" or "I seen," "them things," and "I didn't do nothing." The slangster expression, "Oh yeah?" was voted out as an asset in the same article.

No matter what vulgar errors may be committed by plain girls, there is some law of esthetics that simply will not indulge the pretty miss with blatantly incorrect speech. Maybe the feeling is that nature has done so much for her, the least she can do is to talk as if she appreciated it. It's right, too. She should.

BIRD 12 FEET HIGH, SEEN BY TRAVELERS, SCIENCE NOW HINTS

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The Natural History museum here has just acquired fossils of a great flightless bird, the roc, which in Arabian Nights legend flew off with Sinbad the Sailor.

These new remains strengthen the belief of British scientists that the roc, or aelyornis, became extinct in historic times, and that specimens of the bird, standing ten or twelve feet high, may have been seen by the first European travelers to Madagascar.

Museum officials believe the roc's leg bones, which are five feet long, or its eggs, which are six times as big as those of the ostrich, may have suggested to Arabian merchants who visited the island a giant flying bird which they never saw but which formed the basis of the Arabian Nights story.

From Hollywood comes an extraordinary announcement. A movie actress is in need of a name, and $750.000 in cash will be paid for the best suggestion. You can give her yours, or any other name you think of, it may mean $750.00 to you.

This movie actress, whom you have probably seen on the screen of your favorite motion picture theatre, is the beautiful Helen Mann. Like most of the stars, she prefers to use a name other than her own, and in order to help her obtain it, $750.00 in cash is offered to anyone who is quick in sending in the name selected. Miss Mann's publicity director says, "Most any name may win." It may be your very own, a name of a friend or relative, or a coined name made up by you. Readers of this announcement are urged to send their suggestions for a name at once, because $250.00 extra will be given the winner if name is mailed and postmarked before January 31, 1932. Just make it easy to pronounce and easy to remember. But send it right away, or you may be late for the promptness prize.

All entries must be sent to the Publicity Director's office, E. A. Williams, Studio AA528, 1023 N. Sycamore Ave., Hollywood, California. Only one suggestion for a name should be submitted by each contestant. Everyone is invited to submit a name, and in case of ties, duplicate awards will be given. Officials say that any name may win the $750.00, even if submitted on a post card or scrap of paper. If you can use $750.00, here is an opportunity to get it. Send your suggestion at once.

St. Olaf Singers Repeat Success at Concert Here

Same Expert Conducting Marks Performance.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

THE St. Olaf Lutheran choir of Northfield, Minn., appeared at Orchestra hall last night under the direction of F. Melius Christiansen, and among other items of high value in the world of music announced that it would be back in three weeks.

It is a remarkable organization, a pioneer in a cappella singing, an example of what fine art a cappella singing at its best may be. In makeup it is a college choir and therefore subject to such annual changes in membership as graduation day may bring, but in accomplishment it touches the best professional standards.

White robed, between fifty and sixty in numbers, the choristers take their stand on the stage, and somewhere between their start and the approach of Dr. Christiansen they have their own mysteriously quiet way of catching the pitch. He raises his baton and they start without preliminaries of any kind.

Having caught the pitch, they hold it. They are marvelously exact, marvelously flexible and expressive. Practically all their music is religious, either old or new. The Bach motet for double chorus, "Be not afraid," which they san last night was a perfect example of what Bach singing should be, and this was only one of many fine examples of the art.

One of the plans for music in the Century of Progress exposition of 1933 was announced by Herbert Witherspoon, chairman of the fair's music committee, yesterday as being the construction of an auditorium seating 5,000 auditors and with a stage large enough to accommodate 1,000 singers.

The announcement was made during a luncheon of the Musical Art council at the Blackstone hotel, at which Mrs. Robert Nathan presided. "In addition," said Mr. Witherspoon, "there will be an educational department in which all branches of the art of music will be set forth. Arrangements are being made for the presentation of grand opera, concert, ballet, choral works, glee club singing, pageants, and all other forms of musical entertainment."

PARIS STYLES FOR YANKEE KITCHENS ARE LATEST WORD

PARIS, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Kitchen ginghams and calicoes instead of silks and satins were exhibited today by a dressmaker popular with American buyers as proper materials in this year of war debts and moratoriums.

Gingham frocks, blouses and coat linings, and calico dresses and scarfs were displayed as the last word in 1932 spring wear.

Beige wool coats were lined with red calico polka dotted in white and were accompanied by short sleeved frocks of the same red and white calico.

Coats were universally unfurred. They were in bright blue, gray, and beige, of diagonal hairy wools, designed with broad shoulders and wide kimono sleeves. Waists were belted at the natural line and the straight skirts were 13 inches from the floor.

Frocks were designed with short sleeves, the waist two inches higher than last season, and the skirts tight to the knees, releasing gored or plaited fullness below.

Elbert E. Waller Chosen 'Illinois Baptist' Editor

Duquoin, Ill., Jan. 25.—(AP)—State Representative Elbert E. Waller has been appointed editor of the Illinois Baptist, the publication of the southern Illinois group of the Illinois State Baptist association. He succeeds the late State Senator James H. Felts of Marion as editor.

Wool Sports Dress Takes to Drawnwork

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Hemstitching and drawnwork are signs of Paris chic for morning, afternoon and evening. The latest use for these simple and dainty lines of trimming is to decorate the wool sports frock for the southern resort.

The Paris dressmakers like transparent woolens for southern sports, and they are particularly fond of a new, veil-like version of Paul Brion's Scotmayah, which has a rough surface with a screenlike weave, very porous and loose. This material lends itself well to hemstitching and drawnwork.

The Mirande frock shown in our sketch is made of this particular kind of Scotmayah and is trimmed with narrow lines of drawn work applied irregularly on the skirt and bodice. The dress is pale golden yellow in color—a shade that is at the moment most exclusive, and that looks promising for spring.

The dress in our sketch is a simple one piece frock with a skirt that is slightly flared from the hips, so it has an easy, graceful movement. A crushed girdle of Scotmayah marks the waistline. Two lines of drawnwork appear on the front of the bodice, extending only half way across, and there are two diagonal lines of drawnwork on the skirt, as shown.

The sleeves of this dress are little rectangles of material over the shoulders. A small shawl of Scotmayah with fringed edges is worn around the shoulders.

It Simply Isn't Done!

Meals are planned in the morning Tell your Food Story then

THE scene shown above looks incredible enough. Yet, it is part of a story that is more incredible still.

It is twenty years since each day's meals were planned on the previous evening. Electric appliances have shortened and simplified the morning's work; new forms of diversion have made the evening a time of rest and recreation.

Each day's meals are planned in the morning. That is when the grocer telephones for orders. That is when the New York Herald Tribune is delivered to the home, and stays there through the day.

In the morning, its food columns, prepared by its famous Institute, are studied by the readiest buyers of branded food products in the world. There are over 11,000,000 mouths to feed three times a day, every day in the year, in the great New York trading area.

These food columns in the New York Herald Tribune, and the adjacent advertising, have speeded up a slow market for manufacturers of well known branded foods. In spite of present trade conditions, there is abundant buying power among the suburban residents which form so large a part of the circulation of the New York Herald Tribune. There is practically no waste circulation.

Better still. Owing to the present economic situation, this keen-minded, responsive audience is even readier than ever before to appreciate genuine values. Our representative will gladly show you in detail what this choice coverage can do for you.

3 p. m.—Copulos vs. Bozeman.
7:30 p. m.—Layton vs. Scoville.
9 p. m.—Thurnblad vs. Denton.

SCORES YESTERDAY.

Reiselt, 50; Hall, 46.
Kenney, 50; Denton, 49.

Augie Kieckhefer, Chicago southpaw who has been breezing along in the lead of the world's championship three-cushion billiard tournament, was beaten by Jay Bozeman, youthful Californian, 50 to 48, in 54 innings, last night at Mussey's Recreation.

Bozeman made one of the greatest finishes of the tourney. Kieckhefer just missed his 49th point, then Bozeman made three spectacular shots, his 50th and winning point being a difficult cut shot the length of the table to double the end rail for the billiard.

As a result of this game Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia holds the lead with four games won and one lost. Kieckhefer is tied with Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, defending champion, for second place, with three won and one lost.

Bozeman Gets 17-9 Lead.

Bozeman made another fast start, and at the end of 14 innings was leading by 17 to 9. Kieckehefer came fast after this and with a run of 7 in the 19th inning tied the score at 20-all. From the 18th inning to the 27th, inclusive, Kieckhefer made 21 points. This gave him the lead, 33 to 25.

In the first night game Bud Westhus of St. Louis wore down Frank Scoville of Buffalo and after 73 innings of work won, 50 to 42. This defeat dropped Scoville into a tie with Len Kenney of Chicago for fourth place.

Allen Hall of Chicago virtually was eliminated when he lost to Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, 50 to 46, in 50 innings in an afternoon match.

It was Reiselt's fourth victory and Hall's fourth defeat since the championship play opened a week ago. Hall has been able to win only one game. Yet on the night the tournament opened he was the red hot favorite to capture the title, the 5 to 2 choice.

Hall Fights Stubborn Battle.

Hall battled stubbornly against Reiselt. Early in the game he appeared to be hopelessly beaten. Later Hall rallied. He could not grab the lead, but was within a few points of it time after time. Finally, after Reiselt had 49 billiards to his credit and was within one point of victory, Hall rallied again. The score at the end of this rally was 49 to 43.

All this took place in the 45th inning. It was a safety game from then until the finish. In the 48th Hall broke through one of Reiselt's defensive shots and made a point. He was within five points of Reiselt and within six points of victory. He made another difficult shot in the 49th inning and the score was Reiselt, 49; Hall, 46. Hall gambled everything he had on the next billiard. If he made it he probably would have gone on along to victory. If he missed it he would leave Reiselt in good position. He missed the shot and Reiselt took advantage of the setup to blast Hall's title aspirations.

Close Decision in Kenney Match.

Only the clearest eyed customers in the audience knew whether Len Kenney really won the game from Tiff Denton by a score of 50 to 49, or whether Denton was robbed of the victory by Referee Cutler.

With 49 points to his credit in the 55th inning and Kenney trailing him with 47 points, Denton made an up

Dodgers Give $40,000 for Hack Wilson

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP) -The Brooklyn baseball club handed over $40,000 in cash, plus a rookie outfielder, for the services of Lewis Robert [Hack] Wilson, it was learned today, and believes the former National league home run king is a bargain at the price.

After his great 1930 season Wilson could not have been bought for twice that amount. Baseball men, however, not only expect Hack to make a comeback, but to repay the club quickly as a drawing card all over the circuit this season.

Hack to Face Babe.

The climax to Brooklyn's exhibition trip is a three game series with the New York Yankees, April 8, 9, and 10, and the ballyhoo for the rival clouting wares of Wilson and Babe Ruth looks like a natural, from the box office viewpoint.

Brooklyn has figured all along that Wilson would be worth a substantial cash gamble. President Frank B. York said as much several weeks ago. The only hitch to the deal with the Cardinals concerned the player angle. The Cards wanted Johnny Frederick, but Brooklyn refused to let him go. The transfer wound up with Bob Parham, a youngster, going to St. Louis, with $10,000 more cash than was originally offered.

Teamed up with Lefty O'Doul and Babe Herman in the Dodgers' outfield under a new and friendly manager, Hack may regain his great form of 1930, when he hit 56 home runs.

Park Is Made to Order.

Wilson, although a right handed batter, puts most of his hits in right field. Ebbets field is made to order for him. The right field wall is only 296 feet from home plate, while at Cubs park it is 321 feet.

In his greatest year, when he dethroned Babe Ruth and boosted his salary to $33,000, Wilson hit only three homers at Ebbets field, but with 77 games at home Hack can be expected to do much better. Last year he drove one into the new upper left field stands, the first time it ever had been done.

12 N. Y. GIANTS SIGN CONTRACTS FOR 1932 SEASON

New York, Jan. 25. — [Special.] — Twelve players have signed contracts for the 1932 season with the New York Giants. The twelfth to sign was Travis Jackson, shortstop, whose agreement was received during the week.

Bill Terry, first baseman, remains a holdout, however. Charley Stoneham, proprietor of the Giants, has not receiver the unsigned contract yet, but he declares William must accept a 40 per cent salary reduction if he hopes to visit Hollywood at the Giants' expense durilg spring training.

Only three regulars remain in Comrade Terry's Holdout association. They are Freddy Fitzsimmons, Chic Fullis, and Fred Leach.

PANTALEO'S HAND BROKEN; CALMES VICTOR IN 8TH

Chicagoan Suffers Injury in 1st, but Continues.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Paul Pantaleo, the south side heavyweight, hit Baxter Calmes of Oklahoma so hard in the first round of their bout at White City last night that he shattered the bones in his right fist.

In intense agony at the end of the seventh round and all but writhing in his corner he ordered his seconds to cut the glove off his hand. It ended the battle and Calmes got credit for winning on a technical knockout in 8 rounds.

Calmes Leading, Anyway.

It is hard to call a fellow lucky when he shatters the bones in his trusty right fist but Pantaleo might have been a bit fortunate at that, for Calmes was giving him a terrific lacing, had battered his nose and face and was measuring him for a knockout all through the seventh round.

From the way things were going Pantaleo might have got his head or his neck broken if the fractured fist had not sent him to the sidelines.

Calmes always has been known as a vicious fighter. He pushes a pain producing, nose flattening left into the face of his foe from the time one round starts until it ends. Then he crosses with a right that would knock most any ox over.

He started a trifle slow as last night's battle got under way. Pantaleo had the best of him all through the first round, despite his injury, and for a good part of the second. His backers began pleading with him to knock out the scowling Calmes, who wasn't registering many wallops, and yet who wasn't backing away from Pantaleo's attack.

But from the third round on it was little short of a massacre. Calmes' vicious left, which was now beating a tattoo on Pantaleo's face, soon had the south side boy's extra large nose twisted all out of shape. His lefts and rights to all parts of Pantaleo's head and body did enormous damage.

Most of the 2,500 spectators were glad when the accident to Pantaleo's fist ended it. They would have been sad if such a game kid had been knocked out. And he surely was about to receive that sort of a package.

It was a hard slugging match from the start and had the customers in an uproar until they began to feel sorry for Pantaleo.

Bobby Vernon of California defeated Costas Vassis in the six round semi windup. Vernon scored a short knockdown when he landed a chopping right to the chin of Vassis in the first round. They each weighed 160 pounds.

Johnny Panek of South Chicago pounded out a four round decision over Eddie Litz, of Warren, O. Panek scored a knockdown in the first and third rounds. They met at 145 pounds.

Rudy Vallee Wins.

Two local heavyweights with catchy names went through four painless rounds in the second bout. Rudy Vallee was given the decision over Kid Ketchell at the end of the bout.

For the first two rounds Les Finucane of Chicago and Jud Judkins of South Haven, Mich., took turns bouncing each other off the canvas. From there on until the end of the fourth round the bout was even. Finucane weighed 158 and Judkins 161. The judges declared it a draw at the end of four rounds.

Biff Bennett of Fort Sheridan scored a two round technical knockout in a scheduled four round bout over Elijah Lee, colored heavyweight from Haiti. A hard right hand punch to the jaw sent Lee down for a count of six. Another right cross dropped him for five and Referee Oscar Richman stopped the fight.

Campbell Drops Weight Now to Concentrate on Batting

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Bruce Douglas Campbell, whose name indicates that he might have a trace of Scotch in his makeup, was announced yesterday as being among those who have accepted salary terms as submitted by J. Louis Comiskey, the White Sox president.

BRUCE CAMPBELL.

Mr. Campbell is just a young outfielder and not many people know he exists, but if what the White Sox bosses argue proves true, it won't be long now before the lad is in the headlines. This has been said before about a lot of other kids and invariably they vanished without trace, but Campbell appears to be the exception. Didn't he top three leagues in hitting in one season?

Every wise old baseball judge who has seen him in action has stamped him as a real, natural hitter. One or two rival clubs, thinking the Sox officials didn't appreciate the true worth of the youngster, tried to make trades for him during the current off season.

Trains Daily with Melillo.

As proof that he himself intends to do the best he can to live up to expectations, Campbell has already set the training wheels in motion. He works out daily at the Kensington police station gym and has for a companion none other than Oscar Melillo, the St. Louis Brown infielder, who a couple years ago went on a permanent spinach diet and staged a record breaking come back. The doctors had told him he was through with baseball and just for fun the little fellow showed 'em they were in error.

Campbell, in 23 years of existence, has spread out until he has reached a 190 pound mark and he wants to shed some of this so that as soon as he reaches camp he can concentrate on batting. He wants more work against change of pace pitching. That gave him some concern, but not much, last season. If it had bothered him much he could hardly have hit .371 for Little Rock in the Southern association. After the Sox recalled him, he played in a few games and had an American league mark of .412. Prior to his Little Rock venture he had been in the Texas league and when the season's averages wer published he also was on top of that layout.

He Just Dropped In.

Campbell happened into the Sox fold of his own accord. A couple of years ago he asked Donie Bush, then manager, for a chance to work out and it was granted. Nobody gave the kid much attention until it become the regular thing for him to mess up all kinds of pitching in practice. Finally Bush decided the lad was a prospect worthy of nourishment, so he signed him and later in the season let him have a fling in a few regular games. Last year he was sent out for some minor league seasoning, but he's back.

Vic Frasier, the right hander who made a sensational showing with the Sox last year, also was announced yesterday as having signed his papers.

President Comiskey and Vice President Harry Grabiner will leave for New York this week end to attend the league's schedule meeting there next Monday. It is barely possible that they may come home with a new infielder.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

VACATION.

FRIEND ARCH: Well, Arch, you said if I wanted a vacation I better take it now, because soon the Golden Gloves tourney will be under way, and later you might want me to go to New York with you for the intercity bouts, and afterward to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby, and probably to the Schmeling-Sharkey fight in June.

So, of course, you're right, although there is no place in particular that I want to go—rather, there is no place in particular I want to go that is not ruled out by circumstances over which I have no control. You know what I mean. So I thought I might step down to New York for part of the time, at least, because that's nearer some of the places I'd like to go than Chicago is.

How long I'll stay depends on how long the bank roll lasts. If I see any one you're particularly interested in, or if anything special turns up, I'll drop you a line. Otherwise, I'll see you at the expiration of the vacation. Regards. HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

P. S.—You might send the check for that Minneapolis trip expense account to my New York address, as it hasn't come yet. Also, if I wire for money, which I don't think is likely because there's no race track running in New York in winter and I don't play hand books, please tell the auditing department to regard it as an advance order. But I'll be careful, because I know they don't like advance orders. H. T. W.

Second P. S.—Also may visit a cousin who's manager of a beverage works in Connecticut. I don't know what kind of a beverage plant it is, but I'm hopeful it's one of those where they sometimes make mistakes and friends find it stronger than one-half of 1 per cent. The way things have been breaking for me, however, it's probably one of those sweet soft drink kinds which don't agree with me, anyway. H. T. W.

Third P. S.—Also, if a medium height, light complexioned fellow comes in and asks did I leave a one ounce bottle for him, ask him his name. If it's E—— A——, the bottle is in the upper right hand drawer of my desk, only warn him it's pretty strong and not to use more than 20 drops to a gallon of product. Thank you. H. T. W.

IOWA INVITES ARMSTRONG FOR TALK ON TERMS

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Ike Armstrong, Utah university football coach, will be the third man to make a personal application for the vacant University of Iowa coaching position, it was learned tonight. He probably will come to Iowa City Friday, according to Dr. E. H. Lauer, athletic director.

Armstrong is one of the three coaches most widely mentioned as Burt Ingwersen's successor. The Utah coach has the support of a number of alumni. During his seven years as head coach at Utah his teams have won five Rocky Mountain conference titles and have twice been runners-up.

Jack Chevigny, now serving as first assistant to Hunk Anderson at Notre Dame, conferred with athletic officials today. Board members said Chevigny's visit was a surprise and that he had not been considered previously.

Thirty-two boys, four in each of the eight weight divisions, will fight for Golden Gloves championships on March 9. These champions, winners of diamond studded Golden Gloves, and eight runners-up will meet New York in the fifth intercity series at Madison Square Garden on March 28. The squad which defends Chicago's title will be augmented by eight alternates.

The finals on March 9 climax amateur boxing's greatest show. The Tournament of Champions, Feb. 29, March 1 and 2, at the Stadium brings together 208 fighters. This three day qualifying tournament is composed of champions. Forty-eight boys, winners in Chicago's three sectionals, will fight against teams from twenty cities in five states. The most courageous lads from Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa will enter these trials.

Two Rings for Two Nights.

For two of the three nights two rings will be used simultaneously. Continuous action unsurpassed will be provided. Tickets for these nights now are on sale. They may be obtained by mail only. The prices are $1.50, $1, and 50 cents.

The number of bouts and the caliber of the contestants engaged will make the Tournament of Champions the greatest in history. Grand Rapids, Mich., already has chosen its team of eight. Four thousand saw the finals at Grand Rapids and Western Michigan, long famous for its amateur boxing, is certain to make a battle for Golden Gloves.

The Wisconsin Golden Gloves tournament, sponsored by the Milwaukee Eagles club, will send eight state champions to Chicago. Wisconsin boys will fight in preliminary rounds at the Eagles club Feb. 11 and 12. Championships will be determined Feb. 19.

Great Record to Defend.

As far as Chicago is concerned it will be the old story of town versus city, with the odds favoring the districts outside of Chicago placing more members on the intercity squad than ever before.

The amateur boxers of the five central states have a great record to defend against New York's best. In 1928, the first year of the competition, New York and Chicago tied, each winning eight bouts. In 1929 New York won, 11 to 5. In 1930 Chicago scored its first victory, 10 bouts to 6, while last year at the Stadium before a record crowd of 23,000, the central states won a smashing victory, 13 bouts to 3.

Entries now are being received for the three Chicago qualifying tournaments. More than 800 boys are expected to enter these meets. The west side tourney will be held Feb. 15 and 16 at the Ashland boulevard auditorium. Then comes the north section trials at Loyola university gymnasium on Feb. 18 and 19. At White City on Feb. 22, 23 and 24 the south side fights will swing into action.

48 to Represent Chicago.

Two boys will qualify in each weight at each of Chicago's sectional tournaments. Thus on Feb. 29, in the Tournament of Champions, Chicago will be represented by 48 tried glove swingers.

The entry blank is printed daily in THE TRIBUNE. Clip it out and file it immediately. Entries close one week before the opening night at each section. Team entries may be made in a group.

CHAMPION

STOPS PIAZZA IN 6TH ROUND OF N. B. A. FINAL

Halt Bout to Save Reeling Italian.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

The Tennessee-born Negro won the title here tonight by scoring a technical knockout over Adonne Piazza, of Italy in the sixth round of a scheduled ten round fight. Referee Julius Fidler stopped the bout with Piazza dazed and hopelessly beaten.

Just before the fight was stopped Piazza had gone down for a four count under the two fisted attack which Jones sent to his face and body. After the opening round the Italian never had a chance.

Jones Starts Slowly.

Frequent misses kept Piazza from winning the second round, in which Jones was warned for hitting low. This session was marked by clever jabbing.

Jones served notice that he meant business at the beginning of the third when he drove Piazza to the ropes several times, the while scoring heavily with both hands. Piazza caught nearly every punch but came in for more. They weren't damaging, and he still was fresh. Jones continued to wear down Piazza with body punches and jolts to the jaw in the fourth and fifth rounds.

Then came the sixth. Jones forced Piazza to a neutral corner under a shower of rights and lefts. Piazza was helpless with his hands at his sides. An opening for escape came and Piazza swung into retreat. As the tired Italian backed away he fell to the ropes in the other neutral corner. He arose at the count of four.

Piazza Near Collapse.

Thus ended the N. B. A. tournament which opened here on Aug. 25 with a field of 18 aspirants from the United States, Canada, Italy, Cuba, and Porto Rico.

Jones proved throughout the tournament that as a boxer only few were his equal, but not until tonight did his punching click in such a way as to achieve anything even close to a knockout. It was his sixth tournament victory. Others who fell before the Negro, who now makes Akron, O., his home, were:

Aug. 25—Tiger Thomas, ten rounds.
Nov. 3—George Nichols, ten rounds.
Nov. 19—Frank O'Brien, ten rounds.
Dec. 11—Hy Firpo, ten rounds.

Just Over Welter Limit.

Jones still can make the welterweight limit and is a veteran of more than 100 fights. He was favored to win from the outset. He weighed 152½ pounds tonight and Piazza 153¾. Immediately after his triumph Jones was presented with the N. B. A. belt, symbolic of the championship.

De Paul Leads at Half, Then Loses, 35-28

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—De Paul university of Chicago suffered the first defeat of its eastern trip here tonight, losing to George Washington university, 35 to 28, after leading at the half, 13 to 12.

George Washington staged a rally early in the second half to score ten points before the Blue Demons added to their total. A one man spurt by Gorsky, who sank four successive shots near the end of the game, failed to save De Paul. It was George Washington's seventh consecutive victory.

SPANISH PLAY WINS BY HEAD IN 1932 DEBUT

Dollar Ticket Pays $7.50 at New Orleans.

New York, Jan., 25.—(AP)—Returning to the scene of his first big 1931 triumph, the Louisiana derby, Spanish Play led a small but brilliant field over six furlongs to win the $2,000 Inaugural handicap at the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, today.

Spanish Play, now a 4 year old, racing for the firm of Knebelkamp and Morris, outgamed Mrs. Payne Whitney's Surfboard, also making his 1932 debut, in a great stretch drive to get the decision by a head. Third share of the purse went to the Superior stable's Hyr n as Clock, the 2 to 1 favorite, finished out of the money.

Sell Dollar Mutuels.

One dollar mutuel tickets were sold for the first time, Spanish Play returning the surprisingly long odds of $7.50 for $1.00. A similar priced place ticket on Surfboard returned $3.20. Spanish Play ran the six furlongs over a muddy track in 1:14 2-5.

Spanish Play was forced to share honors of the day with Mose Goldblatt's Jimmy Moran, which finished first six times and second four times in his ten races last year. The 5 year old son of Lucky Hour won the Old Town purse over a mile by two lengths from Eddie Haughton's Consistent Wotan. He paid $1.80 for a $1 ticket.

Dick Morris Wins Again.

Monday racing was resumed at Oriental Park, Havana, with the major honors going to Mrs. Emil Denemark's Chicago-owned Hogan's Dance. The 5 year old son of Westy Hogan showed the way to L. Clous' Pan and H. Neusteter's Marsala over the one and one-sixteenth miles. He ran the distance in 1:45 flat and paid 6 to 5.

PANETIAN WINS

Miami, Fla., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—George D. Widener's Panetian won the Alhambra claiming handicap, feature at Hialeah Park here today, in the fast time of 1:11 4-5. French Lass was second and The Heathen third. Calf Roper was the other starter.

There was a delay of 12 minutes at the post, caused by Panetian's bridle breaking. R. Leischman held Panetian off the pace set by French Lass to the stretch, when he responded with courage and won by a half length. The winner paid $4.10 straight. The track was fast.

Batty Conquers Muff.

Batty was extended to the limit to withstand the challenge of Muff to score a half length victory in the fourth event at a mile. My Sis, the favorite and early pacemaker, faltered when put to a drive, but held on to save the show. The winner returned $11.40 and was timed in 1:40 flat.

J. D. Norris Jr.'s Tombereau ran six furlongs in 1:11 4-5 to win the third race, paying $3.70. F. Chiavetta took the son of Polymelian to the front at the drop of the flag and he led all the way, closing with a margin of a length and a half. Glenside was second and Bob's Play third.

Helios First in Big Field.

Helios carried the silks of D. J. Ely to a popular victory over his 13 rivals in the two furlong dash of the second event. Woco forced the pace and finished second, a length in front of Flying Dragon, outsider in the betting. The winner paid $6.40 and stepped the distance in 0:22 3-5.

BASS CANCELS BOUT; BARRED IN N. B. A. STATES

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The Minnesota boxing commission today suspended Benny Bass, Philadelphia boxer, for 30 days. Bass failed to go through with a bout with Prince Saunders, Chicago Negro, which was scheduled for tonight.

Bass told the commission that an ankle injury, suffered in training, was the reason for not meeting Saunders. However, Saunders contended that Bass "ran out" on the fight. The suspension is effective in all states governed by the National Boxing association.

CARNERA KNOCKS OUT BOUQUILLON IN SECOND ROUND

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Outweighing his opponent by seventy-four pounds, Primo Carnera defeated Moise Bouquillon, French hard hitting heavyweight, on a technical knockout in the second round at the Palais des Sports here tonight.

The first round was tame, but in the second Carnera sent Bouquillon to the mat four times for counts of seven or eight each time. The referee then halted the match, much to the displeasure of Bouquillon and the capacity crowd which jammed the arena.

Helios, bumped and knocked off his stride at the start, moved up stoutly, but kept bearing over to the inside in the last furlong. Woco ran straight, but tired when put to a drive in the last sixteenth. Flying Dragon closed full of courage.

Bob's Play, 111 [Robertson]			4.20

Tombereau bounded to the front when the start came, and, hugging the rail all the way, was never seriously threatened. Glenside had ridden rounding the far turn in an effort to get to the leader. He hung in the last sixteenth, Bob's Play outrun in the first half mile, closed full of courage out in the middle of the track.

Time, 1:11 4-5. San Presto, Whileaway, Castle Rock, Coots, Black Dove, Tantalizing, and Burnish ran.

My Sis, 113 [Lewis]			2.40

Batty trailed off the pace until rounding the far turn, where he slipped through on the inside, charged on My Sis at the top of the home stretch, and after disposing of the latter had enough left to stall off Muff's rush at the end. The latter began slowly and, outrun to the top of the home stretch, closed full of run and outgamed My Sis at the end. The latter tired badly after going into an easy lead at the turn out of the back stretch.

Time, 1:40. Crack Play, Rosebolt, Kensington, and Flying Brigade ran.

FIFTH RACE—Purse $1,500, claiming handicap, 3 year olds and up. 6 furlongs:

The Heathen, 114 [E. Waltz]			Out

Panetian's bridle broke while at the post, which was responsible for the twelve minutes' delay at the barrier. He broke outside the stalls and forced a fast pace. He responded with good courage under punishment and was up in the last few strides. French Lass saved ground all the way and set a fast pace, but weakened when put to the final test. The Heathen faltered after making an effort inside the furlong pole.

Time, 1:11 4-5. Calf Roper ran.

Fair Billows, 108 [M. Lewis]			2.50

Trombone, rated off the pace, moved up stoutly rounding the far turn, wore down the tiring Fair Billows, and had enough in reserve at the end to stall off Southco. The latter was in close quarters at the turn out of the back stretch, where Bejshak was forced to take him back and go to the outside. This probably beat him. He was gaining on the winner at every stride at the end. Fair Billows had a lot taken out of him racing with Oil Queen in the early stages.

Munn Blames Social Strain for His Illness

While recuperating in a hospital here today from an attack

HAWKS INJURED, BUT STILL ARE ABLE TO PLAY

Battle Detroit Sextet Tomorrow Night.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, big boss of the Chicago Blackhawks, called the roll at a drill in Chicago Stadium yesterday and found that he still has a few boys able to do a lot of skating, despite an almost unprecedented run of tough luck.

Regardless of their physical suffering the Hawks were found to be in a rollicking mood as a result of their accomplishments on their recent road trip, during which they won from Boston and the New York Americans, and tied with the Montreal Maroons.

Fool Their Public.

Many of the Hawks' best wishers had feared they would not in their weakened state win a game in the east. They crossed up the sympathizers, as you know, by beating Boston, 3 to 2, and following with a 1 to 0 triumps over the Americans. They had the Maroons licked, 3 to 0, with eight minutes to go, but their poor physical condition blocked complete success for the first time. The overtime game ended 3 to 3—remember?

Helge Bostrom, off the ice for many weeks, worked out with his mates yesterday and may be able to play within two weeks.

Gottselig May Be Out.

Johnny Gottselig, out for three weeks with a cracked shoulder, worked out yesterday, but seemed to favor the injury and may not take a regular turn.

On the more cheerful side was the information that Jerry Lowery, Paul Thompson, Louis Holmes, and Pat Shea look better every time they take the ice. Shea, who hired out as a defense man, played left wing in the eastern game and probably will be seen in that position tomorrow night.

The Hawks have met four times this year. The Hawks have won two games here and the Falcons two in Detroit. Each team has scored nine goals in the series.

CATHOLIC YOUTH AND KANSAS CITY BOXERS BATTLE

126 pounds—George Haberski, C. Y. O. champion, vs. Dick Meiers of K. C.
147 pounds—Joe Fontano, C. Y. O. runner-up, vs. Jess Delaney of K. C.

Clem Dubobu will represent the Catholic Youth organization in the 160 pound class, and John Barauskas will fight for the C. Y. O. in the light heavyweight division. Both were semi-finalists in the finals at Chicago Stadium last December.

GUIMBRETIERE, LETOURNER SIGN FOR 6-DAY RACE

Alfred Letourner and Marcel Guimbretiere, the French team, winners of the last two six day races in New York, have been paired for Chicago's 27th International six day race, which starts in the Stadium a week from Sunday night. Letourner and Guimbretiere finished second in the last two Chicago grinds.

Six day bike fans also enjoy watching Frankie Jeehan, little French trainer, who takes care of Letourner and Guimbretiere during the races.

There will be no Saturday night preliminary races to the six day grind this year, but on Sunday night there will be a one hour amateur team race with 20 teams competing. It is planned to start this race at 7:30 and have it over a half hour before the six day race starts.

Stalking Hawk Difficult, but Offers Sport

BY BOB BECKER.

Different kinds of hunting require different physical effort and skill. One only has to observe the methods of the duck hunter sitting in his blind and note the comparative ease of bagging his birds as a contrast to the terrific physical strain of climbing a mountain to get a shot at a mountain ram. We have tried both, so the contrast is not strange to our memory.

But there is another factor to be considered in the various types of hunting sport in this country. This is the skill required, the tricks which must be worked to get the game. And here is where bagging hawks as a conservation measure and a sport, too, can rightfully be ranked as a fascinating and by no means an easy game.

Decoys Lure Hawks.

The sport has been made easier by the use of live bird decoys, but any sportsmen using a shotgun will find that getting within shooting distance of a wise old Cooper's or sharp shinned hawk is an outdoor game that offers a challenge. The crow offers a similar challenge to the hunting prowess of the hunter.

"Gamekeeper" reports that he has found the use of a dog a big help in picking up hawks on his farm land. It is his experience that when you are hunting hawks in a stretch of woodland the presence of a dog running ahead and around the hunter is helpful in distracting the attention of the predator. He cites a recent experience when he was able to get close enough to a perching hawk to shoot it with a .20 gauge gun. A police dog drew the eyes of the bird and it was so busy watching the dog that the hunter was ignored temporarily.

Need Good Pair of Eyes.

Another important requisite for success in hunting hawks is a pair of eyes that cover every bit of the woods while the hunter is making his way through the timber. This fact was brought home to us a few days ago when we were hiking through a patch of timber along the north shore. If we hadn't been in a hurry and had looked in more than one direction we could have had an easy chance at a hawk which was perched on a tree overlooking a grassy, weed grown meadow.

Recently the business of decreasing the number of hawks around a game refuge or a farm has taken on a new aspect by the use of decoys. In Michigan we found one gamekeeper using a pen of rabbits to decoy the predators [including the great horned owls]. Around another refuge the game keepers used a wire pen of live birds.

This decoy system makes hawk hunting easy when compared to going into the woods, finding your game and then stalking it for a shot. The latter is as difficult a sport as any hunter would want to tackle in fairly open country.

WALSH, CHICAGO GOLFER, INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Frank Walsh, Chicago professional golfer, who was injured in an automobile accident yesterday, entered a hospital here today. It is believed that Walsh, who competed in the Arizona open golf tournament here, suffered a slight fracture of the skull.

The machine, driven by Craig Wood, Deal, N. J., golfer, went into a ditch when Wood attempted to avoid running into another car.

New Golf Ball Makes Progress in Winter Meets

The new and heavier golf ball is making so many successful assaults on par during the winter tournaments in the west and south that Albert R. Gates, business administrator of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, is hopeful that it ultimately will be recognized as the international sphere.

"Records of the tournaments played so far with the new ball show that it has trimmed tournament scores from three to four strokes," Gates said yesterday. "Almost all of the pros tell me it is a wonderful putting ball—far better than any ball they ever played—while it cuts the wind better."

In its first test Harry Cooper of Chicago won the Pasadena open with a 72 hole score of 281, or six important shots lower than the winning total of 287 compiled by Tony Manero of New York with the old ball a year previous.

Tommy Armour of Detroit came in with the next argument by hammering out a record breaking 285 to capture the $2,500 Miami open. His collection was nine shots lower than that turned in by Joe Turnesa of New York in 1931.

It got another series of rides from Macdonald Smith of New York in the rich Los Angeles open championship. Mac took a wide lead with par cracking rounds of 69 and 68, and then played safe golf for a pair of 72s to win the bag of gold and top honors for the third time with a 72 hole total of 281, three under par and four shots lower than the winning total shot by Ed Dudley last year.

Only one exception has been found so far this winter to the stroke reducing prowess of the new ball, and that was under questionable comparison in the Santa Monica $2,500 best ball pro-amateur tournament. Tom Stevens and Henry Kern of Culver City, Cal., won the title in 1931 with a total of 63, while it took a 66 by George Von Elm and Stanley Turner of Los Angeles to win it this year with the new ball.

Shamrocks to Face Pla-Mors Friday Night

The Shamrocks, in spite of their recent slump, are within two games of the top of the American Hockey league and have a chance next Friday night to reduce the margin to one game by defeating the Kansas City Pla-Mors in their last appearance of the season at the Chicago Stadium.

The St. Louis Fliers meet the Buffalo Majors tonight and again Thursday at St. Louis. The Fliers are likely to take both games, and if they do so will find themselves in a tie for the league leadership.

PRO STARS MEET ON STADIUM ICE SATURDAY NIGHT

The debut of professional skating in Chicago will be made at the Stadium Saturday night and several fast races are predicted on the basis of the entry list in the hands of Edward Mahlke.

Having scored a series of victories in Minneapolis, Bobby McLean, the veteran champion, arrived in Chicago yesterday. McLean cleaned up in the sprint events, defeating the defending titleholder, Everett McGowan of Minneapolis, and leading home a fast field, including Ben O'Sickey of Cleveland and Karl Milne of New York.

All these stars will race in the individual meet Saturday night. The return to form of McLean means a lot to his Chicago friends, who have followed his career since he won his first title as an amateur nearly twenty years ago.

Chicagoans to Compete with Olympic Teams

Chicago will have more national and international athletic meets during the next few months than during any previous three years.

This announcement was made last night by Avery Brundage, president of the A. A. U. and the American Olympic association, at a meeting of the board of managers of the Central A. A. U. at the Morrison hotel. Among the big events scheduled are the following:

Olympic tryouts in the decathlon.
Olympic tryouts in boxing.
Track meet with the German and Finnish Olympic teams the week after their performance at the Olympic games. A team of local stars will compete.
A water polo game between a team of local stars and the Hungarian Olympic team.

"In addition," President Brundage pointed out, "we shall have as our guests practically all of the foreign teams at the Olympic games, either on their way to or from Los Angeles. Undoubtedly we shall have a number of informal competitions with these teams. Chicago can look forward to one of the most interesting years in amateur sport in 1932."

The board of managers voted to appropriate the registration fees for men in shelters of the Joint Emergency Relief Fund who may participate in various sports under A. A. U. sanction, thus permitting these men to compete in A. A. U. meets without the necessity of paying regular registration fees.

MARSHALL MEETS KAMPFER IN MAT SHOW THURSDAY

Completion of the five match, all heavyweight wrestling card for Thursday night at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, was announced last night, featuring Matros Kirilenko, Russian, against Rudy Dusek, Omaha.

The last match to be signed brings Hans Kampfer, German strong man, and Floyd Marshall, rough Californian, together.

Two minor changes have been made. Ray Steele will meet Milo Steinborn, German star, in the semi-windup, instead of George Hills. Steinborn defeated Frank Bronowicz here last week. The other shift will send George Calza, Italian, against Hills. The former originally was matched to wrestle Lou Plummer.

Both Dusek and Kirilenko were due to arrive here today to work out before the finish match.

BANKS DELIVER 100 MILLIONS TO NEW YORK CITY

Make It Possible to Pay Bills.

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The sum of 100 millions was placed to the credit of New York City today by the banking syndicate which underwrote an emergency corporate stock issue for that amount, at 6 per cent interest. The notes were placed on sale on Friday and quickly oversubscribed.

With the funds made available today the city is enabled to resume payment of current bills, held up for weeks, while negotiations were in progress with bankers. The city also is able to meet maturing obligations.

In addition to the 100 millions stock issue, the banking syndicate is setting up a revolving credit fund of 151 millions in favor of the city, to be drawn upon as needed, in anticipation of tax collections.

Close Definite Contracts.

Comptroller Charles W. Berry is hurrying to completion, the final arrangements for the establishment of this fund by closing a definite contract which in its last analysis, will make possible the financing of a total of 302 millions in tax anticipation paper during the year.

The 100 millions stock issue was for half the amount authorized by the legislature in an amendment to the city charter. Some city officials feel that it will be necessary to float the second half of the authorized issue before municipal finances are in shape to proceed with public improvements to which the city already is committed by contracts.

Study Way to Economize.

A spokesman for the banking syndicate said there were three reasons for not issuing the entire 200 million notes at one time. One that the underwriting of such a heavy issue without profit to the syndicate would have been too great a burden, together with the arrangements for the 151 million credit fund. The second was that the city does not ned the adlitional 100 millions for the moment, and high interest charges are saved by postponement. The third reason is that the bankers hope the reëstablishment of confidence in the city's credit may make it possible to sell the second issue at a lower interest rate.

Mayor James J. Walker this week will appoint a committee of "key" men to make a special study of finances in various departments. This is in accordance with the city's pledge of economy and its promise to the bankers that studies will be undertaken not only to reduce expenditures but to increase the city's revenue.

TAMMANY HITS BACK

New York, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Tammany Hall read Samuel Seabury's report on its misdeeds carefully today—and then turned around and began to pummel Mr. Seabury. His report as counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee boiled down the results of six months' investigation into an indictment of Tammany Hall for waste, graft and corruption—and the spokesmen of the Democratic party intimated that they didn't think Mr. Seabury himself had any license to talk, that his investigation has been a failure, and that he doesn't even know New York.

"I wonder if he thinks New York City feels he is unbiased?" Senator John J. McNaboe was quoted as saying. "The big trouble with Seabury is, he does not know New York."

Raps Conduct of Inquiry.

Assistant to the Mayor Charles T. Kerrigan remarked that Mr. Seabury hasn't been inquiring into city affairs.

"So far as I am aware, during the year Mr. Seabury has been running his investigation, he has not been inquiring into the administration of the city government," Mr. Kerrigan said. "He has been more interested in the private affairs of persons connected with the city government. How, then, does he know what reforms, if any, are needed in the city's fundamental structure?"

Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, staunch defendent of the Hall, and a member of the committee made his views known in what he called a "dissenting report" in answer to the Seabury report.

Meanwhile, it developed that the New York City budget for 1932 of $631,000,000 is to be the subject of one of Mr. Seabury's public hearings before the Hofstadter legislative committee.

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE IF HEIR HAS BEEN GOOD 5 YEARS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—Former Senator James Reed today filed with the Supreme court the appeal of Vincent Kerens, son of the late Richard C. Kerens, St. Louis millionaire, in which he claims that five sober and well behaved years entitle him to share in his father's estate.

The elder Kerens died in 1916, leaving a will in which he bequeathed two-thirds of his millions to his daughters, Mrs. Gladys Kerens Colket and Mrs. Madeline Kerens Kenna, and one-third to the son, provided he should stop drinking and lead an orderly life for five years.

In 1928 young Kerens claimed his share of the estate, claiming that he had lived up to the terms of the will. His sisters, however, brought the case into court by asserting that his divorce and second marriage to Mrs. Mae Linn of Dallas, Tex., was contrary to the canons of his church and constituted misbehavior.

Kerens won in the lower court, but the decision was reversed by the Missouri Court of Appeals on the sisters' petition.

HOLMES OPINION QUOTED; DEATH APPEAL DENIED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—[Special.]—The final opinion written by former Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes on Jan. 11, the day before his resignation from the Supreme court, was cited by the court as a precedent today in rejecting the appeal of three Negroes who are under sentence of death for the murder of Lamar York, prohibition agent, in Washington.

"Consistency in the verdict is not necessary," said the opinion read by Justice Holmes in the Kansas case of James Dunn vs. United States. "Each count in an indictment is regarded as if it were a separate indictment. If separate indictments had been presented against the defendant for possession and for maintenance of a nuisance and had been separately tried, the same evidence being offered in support of each, an acquittal on one could not be pleaded as res adjudicata of the other. Where the offenses are separately charged in the counts of a single indictment the same rule must hold."

Mrs. Mary Canning, Mother of Chicago Priest, Dead

Mrs. Mary E. Canning, mother of the Rev. Matthew Canning, pastor of St. Charles Borromeo's Roman Catholic church, died yesterday in Mercy hospital after an extended illness. She was 60 years old, a native of Ireland, and lived at 8020 South Hermitage avenue. Besides Father Canning she is survived by her husband, William Sr., and Sister Mary Lioba, a nun in the Mercy order; William, Catherine, Walter, Jack, Arthur, and Laverne Canning, children. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow, with Father Canning officiating. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Minister Files Declaration in Suit Against Storey

The Rev. Ulysses Grant Warren, a Congregational minister who was dismissed last September by his congregation in Corning, N. Y., filed a declaration yesterday in his suit for $200,000 against W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fe railroad, and the latter's wife, Laura. The bill charges the Storeys, who live at 199 Lake Shore drive, with alienating the affections of his wife, Mrs. Edith Warren. Warren charges that Mrs. Storey invited Mrs. Warren, her cousin, to visit the Storeys, and sent her letters reflecting on his character.

Hold Services Today for Miss Emma Paden, Teacher

Funeral services will be held this morning for Miss Emma Paden, for 36 years a teacher in the Jefferson school at Taylor and Laflin streets, who died on Saturday in her home at 329 South Central Park avenue. Miss Paden was 57 years old and had been ill with heart trouble since September. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. E. J. Sullivan, and a brother, Eugene E. Paden. The funeral is to be held at Our Lady of Sorrows church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

FORECAST ACTION BY U. S. ON 22 CANAL BRIDGES

Conference Debates Clearance Issue.

United States engineers yesterday made the unofficial prediction that the secretary of war will order the installation of operating machinery in the twenty-two bridges over the sanitary and ship canal by April 1, 1933, or else order the alteration of the bridges to provide a vertical clearance of 25 feet.

The prediction was made at the conclusion of a public hearing in the city council chambers on a proposal that fixed bridges, with a 25 foot clearance, be permitted, and on the alternative of installing operating machinery in the existing bridges with a clearance of 16½ feet, the bridges having been designed for but never equipped with lifting machinery.

Order Would Provide Penalty.

Such an order on the part of the secretary of war would provide for a penalty of $500 a month after April 1, 1933, for failure to comply, and the cost of altering the bridges or installing operating apparatus, which the sanitary district would have to bear, would be $9,000,000 at the lowest estimate. Moreover, the maintenance and operation of the bridges would cost $600,000 a year, according to estimates.

In view of the fact that the sanitary district is virtually without funds, the engineers, who refused to be quoted, predicted litigation in the courts before the question of the bridges is settled, although present plans call for the completion of the Illinois waterway by Oct. 15 of this year.

The Chicago Real Estate board and water shipping interests were the chief proponents of movable bridges, while most of the other interests heard by the special board of army engineers favored fixed bridges with a clearance of 25 feet as the ultimate goal, but retention of the existing bridges for the present because of the financial impracticability of changing them.

Wants 25 Foot Clearance.

E. M. Antrim, representing the Chicago Regional Port commission and the Association of Commerce, said:

"We regard a maximum clearance of 25 feet as the ultimate goal to permit the Illinois waterway to be used to its fullest capacity. However, in view of the fact that certain types of barges are now operating through the New York State Barge canal with a 16½ foot clearance, we feel that navigation of the canal, while not permitted to its fullest extent, will not be entirely restricted if no change is made in the present elevation of the bridges."

Mr. Antrim said there would be no economic justification for the operation of present type river tow boats, which require an elevation in excess of forty feet, this side of Joliet, and recommended that the tows of from four to nine barges be broken up at that point and brought in two or three at a time by small harbor tugs.

Railways Tell Cost.

A statement on behalf of the railways, presented by the law committee of the roads involved, declared that to raise the clearance level of the ten railway bridges to 25 feet above city datum would cost $17,000,000. The cost of installing operating machinery, according to their estimate, would be much less.

The railways pointed out that self-propelled and tow barges are being used on the New York canal and that barges and towboats with collapsible stacks and pilot houses are feasible, using water ballast when light.

Col. George R. Spalding, engineer for the upper Mississippi valley division, president. Other members of the special board present were Col. W. C. Weeks and Col. W. G. Caples. Col. Edward M. Markham of the Great Lakes division was absent.

Columbus, O., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Mary and Charlotte White, daughters of Gov. George White, were injured in an automobile collision here late today. They were taken to a hospital where it was found their injuries were not serious. Charlotte received severe cuts about the head. Mary escaped with minor bruises about the head and body.

LITIGANT ARMY AT THE PROBATE OF WENDEL WILL

New York, Jan. 28.—[Special.]—More than 75 lawyers, representing the army of about 2,000 persons here and abroad who hope to share in the $75,000,000 Wendel estate, appeared today in Surrogates' court to object to the probate of the will of the late Ella V. von E. Wendel, 5th avenue spinster.

Several of the claimants were also on hand and heard John Killoran, clerk of the probate division, set March 14 as the date for the filing of all objections and notices of appearance.

Today was the date set for a hearing on the probate of Miss Wendel's will when Charles G. Koss, attorney for Miss Wendel, executor and beneficiary under the will, made his application on Sept. 25. The basis of the application at that time was a waiver of citation signed by Miss Rosa Dew Stansbury, 74 year old Mississippi spinster, who leads the corps of claimants as the next of kin, being related to the last of the Wendel sisters in the fifth degree.

Since then, however, Miss Stansbury has repented signing the waiver, engaged the legal services and declared she was hoodwinked into signing away her rights in the huge fortune for a cash payment of less than $1,500 and a promise of $25,000 when the estate was settled.

More than 1,500 others have since notified the executors that they claimed relationship in varying degree.

must be destroyed from within

Sneezing, headaches, muscle-aches, physical depression and feverish condition tell you of cold-infection settling within your system.

You may relieve the discomforts with outward applications and inward pain-killers, but these cannot stop the spread of infection within.

RETIRED BROKER REWED, BATTLES EX-WIFE'S CLAIM

Mrs. Verena Ray of Wilmette appeared before Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday on a motion to enforce the child support payments which were granted eight years ago when she divorced Harold T. Ray, 625 Ridge avenue, Evanston, wealthy retired broker. The son, Peter, whose custody she won, is now 14 years old.

Ray, who recently remarried Mrs. Evelyn Ruth Ray of Daytona Beach, Fla., from whom he was divorced in the Circuit court last October, also appeared. He denied his ex-wife's allegations that he was several hundred dollars in arrears in payments and asserted that he would establish a $7,000 trust fund for his son.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Ray's attorney, Ben H. Davis, the hearing was continued until Feb. 25, when Ray's accounts will be brought into the court.

Piso's is especially good for night coughing. It clings to your throat, and soothes the inflamed tissues better than a spray or gargle. This checks the cough spasm and opens the air passages. Because of its internal effect nothing stops a night cough as quickly and surely as Piso's. At the first sign of a cough keep a bottle of good old Piso's for Coughs at your bedside and enjoy a full night's sleep. Safe to give even to babies, contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. All druggists sell Piso's.

U. S. AGENCY TO TAKE UP WORK OF BANK POOL

Makes Other Loans on Slow Assets.

BY O. A. MATHER.

When the two billion dollar government Reconstruction Finance corporation starts to function, which is expected to be within the next fortnight, it will take over the task of helping banks with "frozen" assets. This work heretofore has fallen to the National Credit corporation, which is the bank pool formed last October at the behest of President Hoover.

The National Credit corporation really has been in operation only about three months. In that time it has made loans aggregating nearly 150 million dollars to several hundred solvent banks whose assets, however, were not liquid and which were being pressed by depositors' withdrawals. It now is estimated that its loans will be around 160 million dollars when it is superseded by the new government agency.

No New Calls.

As originally planned, the National Credit corporation was to have a capital of about 500 million dollars subscribed by banks throughout the country. These banks have been called on for three payments totaling 30 per cent of their subscriptions, which also is equivalent to approximately 30 per cent of their own capital stock. It is not planned to call for further payments on subscriptions, or, at most, only a small pro rata contribution, as the corporation will cease making loans when the government corporation begins to operate.

There are several reasons why the National Credit corporation will cease making loans. The chief reason is that the banks will be called on to buy a liberal amount of obligation which the United States treasury is issuing in order to raise funds for its own 500 million dollar subscription to the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Furthermore, the banks also expect to be called on to buy a share of the securities which the government corporation itself will issue. These debentures may run as high as 1½ billion dollars. Unlike treasury and government obligations, these debentures will not be eligible for rediscount at the federal reserve banks. In other words, the banks cannot borrow on them.

Will Have Broader Powers.

Another reason for ceasing operations of the bank pool is that the government corporation will have broader powers. The National Credit corporation was formed to extend aid

Buy at Home Program May Prove Costly

BY SCRUTATOR.

The Wisconsin housewife who buys a pound of oleomargarine or butterine from a dealer outside the state and fails to fill out a printed form supplied by the state department of agriculture and pay a tax of 6 cents will be guilty of a misdemeanor and will be subject to a fine or imprisonment or both, if a bill already passed by the Wisconsin senate is made into law. She must, furthermore, pay an occupational tax of $1.00 per year.

The Wisconsin legislature, seeking to protect the state's butter producers, last month enacted a law putting a prohibitive tax on the sale of butter substitutes. Little effort was made to conceal the fact that this was not a revenue measure.

Begin Buying Direct.

The law was so effective that most retailers stopped selling butter substitutes. Housewives who wanted oleomargarine began buying it direct from manufacturers outside the state in interstate commerce. The proposed new law seeks to remedy this shortcoming of the original statute. Its proponents have not made clear just how violations will be detected.

This action in Wisconsin is only another manifestation of the widespread tendency to advance the buy at home movement from the status of an "educational" campaign and to embody it in statutes. Rampant localism in many states threatens to build tariff walls along state lines.

What the militant buy at homers do not realize is that success in programs of this kind can lead only to partial disintegration of interstate commerce, because each state's protectionist schemes stir up reprisals in the form of similar action in other states.

In 1824 Chief Justice John Marshall of the United States Supreme court handed down his decision in the famous case of Gibbons versus Ogden establishing the authority of the federal government over commerce among the states and recognizing what the framers of the constitution recognized—that business which is national should be under national rather than state control.

Back Fence Trade Wars.

Now, a century later, there appears to be a widespread tendency to depart from this theory of national trade as an economic entity. Various states are waging a series of back fence trade wars. Each seeks by indirect but nevertheless effective means to prevent the sale within its borders of products from other states which compete with its home produced goods.

Florida depends on the rest of the nation to provide markets for its citrus fruits, tobacco, lumber, and turpentine, as well as for its big tourist and resort business, and yet its business leaders have undertaken a campaign of propaganda to get Floridans to spurn the products of other states.

The Florida state chamber of commerce urges local chambers of commerce to tie in with its buy at home drive. Literature is to be distributed through local organizations, and special programs are outlined for use in schools and churches.

Commenting on an article which appeared in this column recently, one correspondent calls attention to some contradictory phases of state protectionism.

Bring Pressure to Bear.

"Last year," he says, "downstate pressure was brought to bear at Springfield to force the state to use only Illinois cement on state roads.

"Then some one discovered that the Illinois cement plants were all in the northern part of the state and that they did not use southern Illinois coal.

"It was further discovered that cement for downstate highways normally was supplied by plants near Illinois in Missouri and Indiana and that these plants were large consumers of southern Illinois coal.

"The coal miners and operators called attention to the absurdity of trying to help Illinois industries and labor by building a trade wall along the state line, and the proposition was forgotten.

In most cases cause and effect are not so readily connected and the folly is not so quickly discerned.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Quebec, Jan. 25.—Canada's fourth government bond issue within a few months will be offered to the people of the dominion tomorrow. The federal government, the province of New Brunswick, and the City of Montreal have successfully floated loans, raising roughly $250,000,000.

Tomorrow the province of Ontario will float a bond issue of $25,000,000 in 3 and 15 year maturities in the Canadian market. The offering will be handled by a syndicate of Canadian banks and investmen. banking houses.

The major portion of the issue, $20,000,000, will be offered in the form of 15 year bonds and will carry a coupon rate of 5½ per cent. The price to the public for the 15 year bonds, it is understood, will be 96 and accrued interest, to yield 5.90 per cent. The balance of the issue, or $5,000,000, will mature in three years and will pay interest at an annual rate of 6 per cent. The short term issue will be offered around par and accrued interest to yield 6 per cent.

The bonds are payable, both as to interest and principal, in Canadian funds only.

TRUST COMPANY RECEIVER FOR DURANT MOTORS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Central Trust company of Lansing, Mich., today was appointed receiver of Durant Motors, Inc., in a suit brought by the City Auto Stamping company of Toledo, O.

The appointment was made in federal court by Judge Edward J. Moinet, who fixed the receiver's bond at $20,000.

Prevention of liquidation of Durant Motors and insurance of its operation for the benefit of the creditors was the avowed purpose of the suit brought by the Toledo company, which claims to be a creditor in the sum of $41,161.96, representing a judgment secured in the Common Pleas court of Lucas county, Ohio.

The plaintiff company set forth in its argument for an equity receiver that $162,000 in taxes is owed by Durant Motors to the state of Michigan and the city of Lansing.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The remainder of the huge credit of the $250,000,000 which the Bank of England arranged in the United States and France and spent in a futile attempt to save the pound last August is to be repaid by Feb. 1 without the intention of renewal or depletion of the bank's gold reserves, it was announced tonight. The official statement reads:

"The Bank of England will complete repayment on maturity Feb. 1 of credits of fifteen million pounds each granted by the Federal Reserve bank and the Bank of France, when the credits will be terminated. This repayment will not involve any reduction in the Bank of England's gold reserves."

Expect Favorable Influence.

The credits, which took the form not of an advance but of rediscount credits, were for a period of three months and on Oct. 31 ten million pounds of each credit was repaid while the remainder of thirty million pounds was renewed for a further period of three months. The bank sold fifteen million pounds in gold in repaying the 20,000,000 pounds.

The fact that no gold shipment is required to repay the present sum shows the bank must have taken steps some time ago to acquire the requisite amount of franc and dollar exchange to redeem its indebtedness. This is expected to exert a favorable influence on markets, both at home and abroad.

It is probably the case, it is pointed out, that large sales of gold by India have indirectly proved a helpful factor in repaying the credit. Nobody foresaw that the suspension of gold payments would lead Indian hoarders of gold, who in the last thirty years absorbed about £365,000,000, to begin to dispose of it. Already about £30,000,000 has been shipped from India since Sept. 21 and the melting of the hoards continues.

Move Gold Earmarked.

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Today's gold transactions resulted in a net decrease of $3,895,900 in the country's monetary stock, according to the New York Federal Reserve statement. The loss was almost wholly due to a $4,000,000 increase in gold under earmark for foreign account. Exports amounted to $20,000 to Switzerland and $124,100 was received by import from Mexico.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 25.—The stock market laid down on the job without so much as a how-do-you-do today. It simply quit. Business simmered down to a paltry 800,000 shares, making it the dullest session by actual tally since Sept. 1 of last year, when the turnover barely topped the half million mark to record a new minimum for some seven years.

The dribble of trading was almost entirely for the account of speculators, most of whom seemed out to take precious good care that they did not get their fingers burnt. The United States Steel corporation board of directors meets tomorrow for the most important dividend action of the year to date and there were reports that the long dragged out railway wage conference in Chicago can be counted on to come to an end tomorrow night or Wednesday morning.

Hold On to Bank Rolls.

There are dynamite possibilites to any of these two situations and pending some inkling to the prospects the boys who toss shares about on the big board prefer to merely go through the motions and keep the old bank roll pretty securely in pocket. A dollar in the hand is worth two in the bush by anybody's line of reasoning these perplexing days.

It was whispered about the corners

The Kansas Power and Light Company

First and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds

Series C 6%, Due February 1, 1947

Price 91½ and Interest, Yielding Over 6.90%

The Company agrees to pay interest without deduction for any normal Federal income tax up to 2% and to reimburse the holders of these bonds, upon application within 60 days after payment, for the California personal property taxes not exceeding 4 mills per $1.00 per annum. Exempt from personal property taxes in Kansas.

Issued pursuant to Certificate of the Public Service Commission of Kansas.

The Company will covenant to deposit sufficient cash with the Trustees each month, beginning March 1, 1932, for purchase or redemption of $42,000 principal amount of these bonds, and these deposits are calculated to retire the entire issue by maturity.

The following information is taken from official sources and is subject to the more complete statements contained in the circular, a copy of which may be obtained upon request:

The Company and its subsidiaries, upon completion of this financing, will own and operate properties which now provide electric power and light service in 210 communities in Kansas, including Topeka and Atchison. Natural gas service is supplied in 75 Kansas communities.

These bonds are to be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage on all the physical properties to be owned directly by the Company subject only to $1,293,000 of underlying bonds on a portion of the Company's properties. Properties owned by subsidiaries are subject to $11,572,800 of underlying bonds and stocks. Over 99½% of all common stock of present subsidiaries will be pledged under the mortgage and no additional funded debt of subsidiaries may be created or issued except for pledge with the Trustees under The Kansas Power and Light Company mortgage.

On the basis outlined in the circular, for the twelve months ended November 30, 1931, gross earnings were $9,938,086 and net earnings before depreciation were $4,566,662 or over 2.8 times annual interest of $1,618,398 on total mortgage bonds and underlying issues amounting to $28,965,800.

The above net earnings were over 2.1 times the combined annual charges and the bond retirement payments.

We recommend these bonds for investment

ERNEST RIDGEWAY

Reports on seven apartment projects were mailed last night by the bondholders' committee of Sheridan Trust & Savings bank first mortgage real estate bond issues, to owners of securities, according to Arthur M. Wirtz, chairman of the committee. The other members of the committee are: Ernest Ridgeway, receiver for the Sheridan Trust & Savings bank; August Torpe Jr., John P. Hooker, O. P. Curran Jr. and William Ray Prince.

The seven properties are the Christiana apartments, the Queen Ann building, the Garden Court building, St. Francis building, Montrose garage Sunny-View apartments, and the Hunt apartments.

Of the total $83,000 bonds of the Christiana apartments outstanding, $73,800 worth have been deposited with the committee. The foreclosure suit has not been proved up as the committee hopes a complete deposit of bonds will allow reorganization without this expense. The building is 74% rented. The building is at the northeast corner of Christiana and Ainslie. The attitude of the owner is one of close coöperation, the report states.

Is 72% Rented.

The Queen Ann building, at 4911 North Whipple street, is 72% rented, and $79,800 of the $92,000 bonds outstanding have been deposited, the report says. There was $1,606 cash on hand Dec. 1, 1931. Th eforeclosure suit has not been proved up.

Bondholders of $82,900 worth of securities in the Garden Court eighteen apartment building, at 4921-27 North Whipple street, have deposited with the committee. The total issue was $90,000. The property was only 52% rented and only $260 cash was on hand on Dec. 1, 1931.

The St. Francis building, at 4901 North Whipple street, contains twenty-five apartments, and was 60% rented on Dec. 1, 1931, according to the report. There was $2,225 cash on hand on that date. Bondholders have deposited $79,800 out of a total of $96,500 outstanding. The committee hopes to effect a reorganization without the expense of proving up the foreclosure suit.

The Montrose garage bond issue of $35,000 was reduced to $31,000 and of this total $24,900 have been deposited. The committee reports only $594 cash on hand on Dec. 1, 1931. The property is at 3007-17 Montrose avenue and comprises a garage and store and flat building. The Straus National bank is receiver.

Bond holders have deposited $43,600 worth of bonds in the Sunny-View apartments, 805-15 Sunnyside avenue, out of a total $58,000 outstanding. The property was 55% rented on Jan. 1, 1932. There are eighteen suites.

The Hunt apartments, at the northwest corner of Racine and Wellington avenues, have had the original bond issue of $65,000 reduced to $54,500. The property was 89% rented on the first of this year. There are eighteen suites.

Kelvinator Shipments Ahead of 1931 Figure

H. W. Burritt, vice president of the Kelvinator corporation, told company dealers at the annual meeting yesterday at the Stevens hotel that shipments so far this year are 50 per cent ahead of the comparable period in 1931. The company's merchandising plans for 1932 include the largest advertising campaign in its history, he said.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

THE TRIBUNE last Saturday printed bankruptcy filing in federal court number 49185 mentioning the Albany Park restaurant. Julius Hoch, proprietor of the Albany Park restaurant at 3534 Lawrence avenue, wishes it made known that his place is not the one referred to in the petition. The Albany Park Restaurant, Inc., 1007 and 1035 Lawrence avenue, is the company named in the involuntary petition brought by F. H. Swett & Co., creditors, according to Attorney H. A. Levin.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Keep Eyes on List.

Invariably, since the bear market got under way in the early fall of 1929, one of Wall street's oldest axioms, "never sell a dull market," has proven a mighty poor guidepost for the trader. The speculative fraternity, therefore, is disposed to watch the performance of the list quite anxiously on the present occasion. Every other time on the decline from the 1929 tops, when the market has hesitated, as it is doing now, with business slowing practically to a standstill, prices came out on the down side for a sharp extension of the decline. Dullness in such intervals evidently proved a signal for aggressive selling by the strong bearish aggregation then operating, the purpose of which was to dislodge further necessitous liquidation.

BUYING BRINGS RISE IN WHEAT MARKET PRICES

Russian Crop Fears Delay Grain Collections.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

July wheat developed independent strength yesterday as the result of a slight enlargement in the commission house demand and sold at the same figure as the May, compared with ⅝c discount at the close on Saturday.

There was nothing in the news to account for the buying, but of late there has been growing apprehension as to the outcome of the new crop owing to the abnormal weather conditions which have prevailed both in the United States and in Europe.

According to reports received from Russia, the winter has been abnormally mild, and part of the delay in collections of grain in the Ukraine and other leading winter wheat sections is said to be due to fears of peasant farmers that considerable damage will be disclosed later in the season.

Aggregate trade in wheat futures was not large, with a majority of leading operators adopting a "do nothing" policy, regarding the situation as too complex to take a decided stand on either side pending future developments. May wheat had a range of ⅞c and closed about the top. Net gains for the day were ⅛@¼c, with March, 56⅛c, and May and July 58¼c. There was some buying of May and selling of July at ⅛c difference.

Wheat Lacks Leadership.

Many of the traders were disposed to take a bearish view of general conditions early and sold moderately, but leadership was lacking and later short covering developed due to the relative strength in stocks. Liverpool closed ¾c per bu lower with the May at 54¾c, or only 3¼c under Chicago at the time. The firmness in Liverpool was in the face of world's shipments of 19,101,000 bu, compared with 13,316,000 bu last year, while supplies on ocean passage increased 6,784,000 bu and now aggregate 46,840,000 bu, or about 16,000,000 bu in excess of a year ago. The big increase in stocks afloat is regarded as a reflection of the unusually heavy Australian clearances.

Europe continues to intimate that there will be a demand for North America wheat in the near future, but the trade has been promised this for so long that there is a disposition to wait for it to materialize. No sales of consequence were reported yesterday, and Liverpool cables indicated that the demand for the time being was being largely supplied by Argentina and Australia. Winnipeg closed ¼@¾c higher, with May at 62⅜c in Canadian funds, which were around 13⅛ per cent discount. Buenos Aires eased late in the day and closed ⅜@½c lower, with March at 40⅞c.

A slight easing in the basis on hard winter wheat has occurred in the last few days as the result of a less aggressive milling demand, especially in the southwest. The domestic visible supply decreased 1,940,000 bu for the week and is 206,595,000 bu, compared with 190,730,000 bu last year.

Corn Shows Fair Strength.

Corn market continues to resist pressure around the 40c level for May, the same as it has for the last 60 days. There were no shipping sales reported by local handlers yesterday, making the second time this month such a condition has existed, but the country showed no disposition to sell freely, and only 13,000 bu were booked. Futures held within a range of ⅜@⅝c and at no time were more than ⅛c below the finish of the previous day, and closed ¼@½c higher, with May 40⅝c, July 42¼c, and September 43¼c at the last.

Scattered rains were reported in Argentina over the week-end, and will benefit the new crop. Futures there were ⅝c lower, with March 28½c. An increase of 318,000 bu in the domestic visible supply raised the total to 12,826,000 bu, against 16,636,000 bu last year.

Oats finished unchanged to ⅛c higher with trade almost entirely of a local character. May was 25¾c and July 25⅛c at the finish. Short crop theories in rye have failed to work out so far and the trade is still waiting for the expected foreign demand to develop. The market was dominated almost entirely by the action of wheat yesterday and closed ⅛@¼c higher, with March finishing at 44⅛c, May 46c, and July 46¾c.

HART-SCHAFFNER OMIT CAPITAL STOCK DIVIDEND

Directors of Hart, Schaffner & Marx yesterday failed to declare the usual quarterly dividend on the capital stock. Heretofore the stock was on a $4 annual dividend basis. Previously the company had reported a net loss of $2,994,580 for the fiscal year ended Nov. 28.

Directors of the Peabody Coal company yesterday voted to omit the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the preferred stock which is ordinarily paid at this time.

European Electric corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 7½ cents on the class A and B common stocks. Previously the rate was 15 cents quarterly.

General Refractories company deferred action on dividend due at this time. Three months ago a payment of 25 cents was made.

Confusion in the minds of Samson Tire corporation preferred stockholders as to the status of the guaranteed 5 per cent dividend on the stock has been removed by announcement that the United States Rubber company would assume the obligation of its subsidiary and pay the dividend to stock of record Dec. 31.

New River company omitted the dividend on the cumulative preferred stock. The company had been paying quarterly $1.50 a share on account of accumulations.

Russia Will Increase Spring Wheat Sowings

Russia is to increase its acreage to spring sown grain in 1932 to 102,000,000 hectares against 97,000,000 hectares sown in 1931, as indicated by the central executive committee of the U. S. S. R. An earlier report indicates that fall sowing of winter wheat in Ukraine was nearly 16 per cent larger than last year, where almost half of the winter wheat of Russia is raised.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 37,000; sheep, 18,000.

The influence of moderate receipts enabled hog salesmen to hold prices fully steady after some haggling in the market for medium and weighty butchers in mid-session. The latter arrived in larger numbers and the trend is decidedly toward a wider price range, with lightweights on top.

Numerous sales of 170@220 lb averages brought yesterday's $4.20 top, while the general average held at $3.90, both prices being steady with last Friday and Saturday. The selling side won another point when they maneuvered the market for 250@300 lb averages into a strong close against buying opposition. Earlier in the session weakness was in evidence in these weights.

All buyers swung into the market toward noon and the clearance proved better than the trade had expected. A more favorable wholesale market for fresh pork proved a boon to the trade when it threw smaller local houses into the bidding again. Larger packers were also aggressive near the close. Armour, Swift and Wilson houses handling a total of 33,000 head, including directs.

Offer February Hogs.

There were several offers of February hogs on the futures trade yesterday. Medium and heavy grades were offered for that month at $4.50, but $4.00 was the highest bid posted. March mediums were offered at $5.00 and bid $4.00, while the highest bids of the day, $4.50, were for May light and mediums.

Yesterday's light run of cattle made the market less susceptible to the influence of unfavorable reports and prices responded in a slight advance. Some improvement in the wholesale trade for dressed beef added zest to the buying in mid-session and brought on the semblance of a general recovery before the close, with all interests active in the bidding for top grades.

Only minor fluctuations were reported in plainer grades, but there was no sign of the weakness that prevailed all of last week. Wilson paid $9.50, the top for 53 yearlings averaging 1,012 lbs, and the same price for 16 averaging 1,264 lbs. Several loads of good to choice beef steers sold to packers and shoppers at $8.00@9.00, but quality was poor for Monday and much of the supply consisted of plain to good grades at $5.50@7.50. Many full loads of common steers ranged down to $5.00 and some smaller lots sold as low as $4.25@4.50. Butcher stock buyers were not so aggressive and price advances were forced. Only good to choice cows are eligible to $4.00@4.50, while most beef cows sold at $3.00@3.75. Yearling heifers sold at $5.00@6.00, one string of 100 head averaging 750 lbs. bringing $5.85.

Choice Lambs Scarce.

An acute scarcity of choice 80@95 lbs slaughter lambs sent buyers scurrying through the sheep house in search of anything exceeding 70 lbs in weight yesterday. Good to choice fleshy kinds sold under brisk competition at 25@50c advance and several large shipping orders were still unfilled when trading closed. The quality of lambs yesterday was poorest for Monday in many weeks. The large proportion of unfinished "fed" lambs and half fat stock weighing 60@70 lbs surprised the trade.

All interests were paying up to $6.50 @6.75 for 80@97 lb slaughter lambs at the close, but many of the medium grades were bought at $6.00. Little change was noted in the market for aged sheep, but yearlings were quoted 25c higher in sympathy with the advance in lambs.

AUTO DEALERS MORE CONFIDENT, ORDERS REVEAL

Evidence that automobile dealers in the middle west are more confident than a year ago is contained in the monthly review of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank. Wholesale distribution of automobiles in December showed expansion for the second successive month and were larger than a year ago. The increase over November was 14.3 per cent and also was 12.9 per cent over December, 1930. Wholesale sales for the year, however, were 25.9 per cent under 1930.

Retail sales last month were seasonally light, however, declining 3 per cent from November and 18.7 per cent from December, 1930. Sales of used cars were 10.3 per cent below November and 9 per cent below December, 1930. Stocks of new cars at the end of last month were 9.6 per cent larger than a month before but 27.2 per cent under Dec. 31, 1930.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part sooner. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1928 and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

FOR EXAMPLE:
The average monthly cost of a $200 loan repaid in 20 equal monthly payments is $2.63. This is the lowest cost in Chicago

Get the Cost in DOLLARS Before You Borrow.
